s for Ann Collins

Wife Nellie Louisa Gaylor/Gaylord was born May 16/17 1847/8 Albany Co. N.Y., birth year taken from 1850 and 1855 census when she resided with her parents Hiram Gaylor (Philip1) and his wife Sarah A. Weaver. This is the truest date I have found for her birth. She fudged her age at all of her three marriages.

Brooklyn death certificate #21274. Nellie Louise Caldwell born in the City of Albany, Albany Co. N.Y.; d/o Hiram Gaylor and wife Sarah Weaver, who were both born U.S. She died Brooklyn, Kings Co. N.Y., Nov. 2, 1904 at 11:30 P.M., 46 yr, 5 mo, 17 days (incorrect birth year, but probably born May 16 or 17). Cause of death was Uraemic Coma due to chronic nephritis. She was a married, housewife, residing in a private house. She resided N.Y.C. for 35 yrs. Dr. Wm H. Bates, 137 Clinton St. Bklyn, attended her from June 29 to Nov 2. The undertaker was H. C. Pouch, 305 Adams St. She was buried Nov. 5, 1904 in Evergreen Cemetery, Whispering Grove Section.
Louise purchased the cemetery plot in 1898, while married to her third husband Charles Caldwell. (Refs: Death certif.; Evergrren cem. rec.; family agreement at purchase of Evergreen Cem. plot).

Obituary of Nellie Louise Caldwell in Brooklyn Daily Eagle, Nov 4 1904, p. 3. After a long illness, Nellie L. the wife of Charles P. Caldwell and granddaughter of General Henry Weaver, who was killed in the Revolutionary War, died Wednesday evening at her late residence, 33 Prospect Place. She was born at Albany, N.Y. and resided for a short time in Buffalo, but of late years had made Brooklyn her residence. She had been, for a number of years, a member of the First Reformed Church on Seventh Ave. where she took an active interest in the Women's Missionary Society, serving on the Committee for City Mission work. Her kindly face and her generous efforts in good works will be affectionately remembered by a host of friends outside of her own family, who will sincerely mourn her loss. Her two daughters, Mrs. John C. Davidson and Mrs. Nellie L. Baker, widow of the late Charles H. Baker, survive her and will ever remember her as a kind and loving mother.

(Nellie Louisa Gaylor must have actually been a great grand daughter of Henry Weaver who died in the Rev. War because her mother Sarah Weaver was born ca 1807 according to census records. Otherwise, it would have to mean that Henry Weaver died in the War of 1812)?

> Nellie's father Hiram Gaylor, a grocer in 1850, was the son of Phillip and Margaret Gaylor who were in Stone Arabia, (now Palatine) Montgomery Co. area in 1802. Acc. to records of Trinity Lutheran Church of Stone Arabia, Hiram was baptized in 1805. Philip moved to Albany in 1830's, (Albany City Directory). I suspect this Gaylor family were 1709 Palatines, but not proven.
> The name was also spelled Gehler, Geler, Kehler, Keler in church records. (An Adam Kehler had a son Philip, Baptized in a N.Y.C. Lutheran Church about the right time for birth of our Philip Gaylor. It is not known if he was the same Philip).

Districts will march to Prospect Hall in force. The parade is to start from the Twelfth District Club house at Seventh avenue and Ninth street, and the line of march will be down Sixth avenue to the Logan and Eleventh Assembly District clubs.

Ex-Judge Samuel D. Morris, a Democrat, will make two speeches on "D. Cady Herrick as a Political Judge." Mr. Morris has come out for Higgins and will attack Herrick, whose career he claims to know well.

Tickets for all these meetings are in great demand, to-day, especially for the Rink, but they are to be open except for a comparatively few platform seats. There is a great desire to hear Odell, whose course in taking the platform to defend himself is admired by a good many Republicans. Last night in Manhattan he defined "Odellism" as he understands it.

Prominent speakers will talk at all the local meetings to-morrow night, beside Woodruff and Odell. The full schedule has not yet been made up. It has been found impossible, however, to get ex-Governor Black or Elihu Root.

Great interest is shown in the meetings held at the Navy Yard, that is to say, at the Sands and Cumberland streets gate. At noon, when the employes of the Navy Yard have their lunch, with other employes of the manufacturing concerns in the neighborhood, gather at either gate, and listen to comments made by Republican orators. At no time during the campaign has such enthusiasm been shown as at the Navy Yard noonday meetings.

To-night, at the Rink, Clermont avenue, near Myrtle, the Republican Italians will hold a meeting, which promises to be a greater demonstration of Italian sentiment than Kings County has ever seen. Thomas Casiola will preside, and will be assisted by the following vice presidents: Alfred Cassanese, Charles Bavetta, Anselmo Cardillo, Vincenzo Angelora, James C. Danello, Antonio Jeffery, Gaetano Parisi, Frank G. Belsito, Thomas S. Manease, Raphael Dencia, Cav. Joseph Monaco, Cav. Nicola Grilli, Emilio Spina, Nicola Yuzzolino, Angelo Campetiello, Herbert Baldarini, Nicola Molinari, Louis Prudenti, Thomas O. Conti, Nicholas Zanoni, Samuel Cicone, Carmino Iemma. These orators are: Conte G. L. De Geraci, Professor Ermino Fiore, Dr. Onofrio Abruzzi, Sig. Arturo Zagnoni, Sig. A. G. Gulino. Fire works, brass bands and general excitement will be seen at the Rink to-night.

At Republican headquarters to-day the greatest confidence was displayed. "I am more than surprised at the great enthusiasm shown at the twenty to twenty-five meetings in Kings County each night," said Colonel Lewis R. Stegeman, chairman of the speakers bureau. "Especially has the foreign element—that is to say, the Italian and German population, of Brooklyn—placed itself on record as being in sympathy with the Republican party. Particularly is this true in the old Twelfth and Sixth wards, where the Italian element is largely represented."

At the H. H. Garnet Club, 43 Rockwell place, President George E. Wibecan, Jr., can be found nightly. President Wibecan said to-day: "I have been in every Assembly district in Kings County in the past six weeks, and I never saw so many enthusiastic colored Republicans. I find that the words of ex-Congressman White, delivered at the Rink at one of the most largely attended colored Republican meetings in this country, voiced the sentiment of the colored Republican voters of Kings County when he said: 'Any man born of a colored woman who would vote the Democratic ticket is not only a coward, but a traitor.'"

To-night, in each Assembly district, each leader will make an especial effort to arouse popular sentiment. Cart-tail meetings will be a feature in the First Assembly District.

Other meetings this evening are as follows:

Twenty-first Assembly District, Metropolitan Saenger Hall, Hebrew Citizens, Pitkin avenue and Watkins street—E. Lauterbach, stereopticon views.

OBITUARY.

Benjamin Van Ness Carver.

Benjamin Van Ness Carver, who died at his home, 361 Bainbridge street, Tuesday, of pneumonia, after a few weeks illness, was born in Medford, Mass., in 1857, and had lived in Brooklyn for twenty years. He was employed by the Municipal Electric Light Company as a mechanical engineer, and had belonged to Clinton Lodge, F. & A. M., De Long Council, R. A., and to the Lee Avenue Congregational Church. He leaves a widow and four sons, a brother and a sister. The funeral services will be held at his late home to-night and the interment will be had in the Cypress Hills Cemetery to-morrow.

John Webb.

John Webb, who died Wednesday at his home, 90 Hinsdale street, East New York, was a former well known resident of the Thirteenth Ward of Brooklyn, where he had lived on South Fifth street. His death was due to heart trouble and he was ill only a few days. He was prominent in fraternal circles and belonged to Park Lodge 516, F. and A. M. for thirty-seven years. He also belonged to the Royal Society of Good Fellows, the Shepherd's Flock and the American Legion of Honor, before it disbanded. He was active in Republican political affairs in the Twenty-sixth Ward and was a member of the Twenty-first Assembly District Republican Club. He was born in London, England, February 1, sixty-seven years ago, and for thirty years had made his home in Brooklyn. One son, Frank Charles, his widow, and three daughters, Mrs. Charles Atkinson, Emily and Jane, survive him. The funeral services which are to be held at the late residence Sunday afternoon, at 2:30 o'clock, will be conducted by the Rev. Dr. Appleton, rector of St. Clement's P. E. Church, of which the deceased was a regular attendant. The burial will be in Cypress Hills Cemetery, according to the masonic ritual.

Charles C. Shelley.

Charles C. Shelley, for over twenty years prominent in Sunday school work in Brooklyn, and a member of the committee on hymns, and a director in the Sunday School Union, died of apoplexy yesterday at his home, 818 Carlton avenue, after an illness of a week. Mr. Shelley was born in Henry street, New York, in 1829, when that portion of Manhattan Island was in the suburbs of New York. He early entered the printing business and was foreman of the composing room of the New York Tribune under Horace Greeley. From there he went into business for himself at 68 Barclay street, retiring about three years ago. He was at that time the oldest employing printer in New York City. He was a charter member of the New York Typothetae. He was a member of the Veteran Association of the Second Company of the Seventh Regiment, N. G. N. Y., and served with them during the Civil War.

Mr. Shelley was best known for his work in connection with the Sunday school. He was a member of the Tabernacle Church on Schermerhorn street, when Dr. Talmage was its pastor, and was an elder in the church. For twenty years and until its dissolution, he was the superintendent of the Sunday school connected with the Centennial Chapel Mission of the First Reformed Church on Seventh avenue. He later united with the Clinton Avenue Congregational Church, of which he was an elder at the time of his death.

Mr. Shelley had been married for fifty-two years to Miss Mary E. Brown. She survives him with three daughters, Mrs. Albert Cromwell, Mary E. and Mattie, and a son, Charles C. For forty years Mr. Shelley had lived in Brooklyn; twenty years in the Third Ward and twenty years in the Twentieth Ward. The funeral services will be held at his late home to-morrow afternoon at 3 o'clock, the Rev. Dr. McLeod officiating.

Nellie L. Caldwell.

After a long illness, Nellie L., the wife of Charles P. Caldwell, and granddaughter of General Henry Weaver, who was killed in the Revolutionary War, died Wednesday evening at her late residence, 33 Prospect place. She was born in Albany, N. Y., and for a short time resided in Buffalo, but of late years had made Brooklyn her residence. She had been for a number of years a member of the First Reformed Church on Seventh avenue, where she took an active interest in the Woman's Missionary Society, serving on the committee for city mission work. Her kindly face and her generous efforts in good works will be affectionately remembered by a host of friends outside of her own family, who will sincerely mourn her loss. Her two daughters, Mrs. John C. Davidson and Mrs. Nellie L. Baker, widow of the late Charles H. Baker, survive her and will ever remember her as a kind and loving mother.

…federation would be proud to introduce."

This sentiment was applauded.

Mrs. Milton H. Northrup, of Syracuse, in behalf of the inspectors, asked for an amendment that would facilitate elections in the future, adding:

"Extending the time for voting yesterday from 5 until 10 P.M., necessitated the inspectors remaining on duty until after midnight. This is an infringement of the eight-hour law."

The trade school matter was disposed of on motion of Miss Rhodes, seconded by Mrs. Lyon, that the executive board appoint a committee to investigate all possible means of disposing of the funds now on hand resulting from the labors of the Industrial school committee and the result of the investigation is to be reported to the council of presidents during the year and announced at the convention of 1905.

The rest of the session was devoted to the presentation of amendments to the constitution, one of which gave the officers and section chairmen the privilege of making motions.

Mrs. Lyon was the first officer to take advantage of the privilege, and moved to adopt the report of the committee on resolutions presented by Miss Elizabeth Perry of Brooklyn.

The convention concluded with the installation of the incoming officers, Mrs. Dow making the presentations.

Mrs. Carpenter was accorded an ovation, which she graciously acknowledged, adding:

"If I can during my term prove one-half as loving, tactful and gracious as your retiring president, I will have done all that you could expect."

When Mrs. Carpenter had taken her place Mrs. Lyon asked to be allowed the privilege of making the first motion under the new regime, which was that a message of love and sympathy be sent to the honorary president, Mrs. William Tod Helmuth.

The convention adjourned with the singing of "Auld Lang Syne," Mrs. Lyon joining in as heartily as any of the victorious faction.

EXCITING VOTING SESSION.

Trade School Proposition Defeated by a Vote of 120 to 88—Mrs. Lyon's Disappointment.

(Special to the Eagle.)

Syracuse, November 4—"If I cross off Mrs. Carpenter's name does that mean that I am voting for Mrs. Lyon?"

"Can't we have some chairs? I'm tired of standing in line."

"Why did we ever try this new way of voting?"

These were but a few of the questions that were heard in the ballot room at the convention in this city of the New York State Federation of Women's Clubs during the voting for officers yesterday. Of all the exciting presidential contests that have occurred in the ten years existence of the federation this year's was in many respects the most engrossing, for the presidential contest and the trade school project were twin issues and both were fought to a finish.

"How in the world did we ever come to adopt such a system of voting?" asked a delegate who had been standing in line for an hour.

"The constitution was revised to correct the irregularities that prevailed at the election in Brooklyn two years ago," answered a Manhattanite.

"This may be more regular, but it's a heap more tedious," was the reply, "and as an object lesson in how not to do it it's a perfect success."

The convention as a whole indorsed the last sentiments later in the day. The new system required that voters should enter the ballot room one by one to deposit their votes and this caused such a delay that the time for closing the polls, originally set for 5 P.M., was extended to 10 P.M. in order that no delegate should be disfranchised.

Electioneering went on all day long, although the defeat of the trade school caused a little let-up in the energetic work of Mrs. Lyon's supporters.

A wave of sympathy, however, swept over the convention, and turned a few wavering votes in her direction when Mrs. Lyon during the count of the trade school vote, although she knew her pet project was defeated, went to the piano and sang "Ave Maria," accompanying herself. Previously she had played the accompaniment for the assemblage to sing "We Won't Go Home Until Morning," a rather apt selection, as it was then nearly 2 o'clock and the morning session was not yet concluded.

In her final plea for the support of the trade school project Mrs. Lyon said yesterday:

"I told Judge Herrick last evening at the hotel that I might go up to Albany this winter with a bill for him to sign, and he said he would willingly sign it anywhere if in his power. Of course we'll [illegible] put his power next week."

The vote of 120 to 88 against the trade school was a crushing blow to Mrs. Lyon, who has [illegible] her efforts [illegible] [illegible]

FIVE SPEECHES OF ODELL TO CLOSE CAMPAIGN HERE

Governor Will Talk at Four Places to the People and Then Tackle the Leaders.

HOT WORK TO-MORROW EVENING

Republicans All Over Town Are Hustling as They Never Hustled Before—More Rosy Reports.

Governor Odell is coming to Brooklyn to-morrow night at the invitation of former Lieutenant Governor Woodruff, "to make the swing about the circle," which will be the closing feature of the Republican campaign in this borough. Mr. Odell is to make five speeches, four of them in halls and one at the [illegible] dinner at a [illegible] of the Union League Club House, to be given by Mr. Woodruff. Never has more hard work been done apparently as in the last week by the Republicans. Mr. Woodruff is throwing his [illegible] into the campaign [illegible] and there is to be a [illegible] to swing [illegible] into line.

The loss of the state and [illegible] of the nation, [illegible] to the Republican organization of this county, has all along been [illegible]. Workers realize that the party is face to face with a crisis. The Eagle canvass showing the danger of what they regard [illegible] as danger has awakened the Republican managers to what would happen if the state is lost. There apparently is every reason for believing they will do their level best.

Mr. Woodruff is to preside as host at the Union League Club dinner. All of the district leaders will be on hand. The Governor's first set speech is to be made at the Clermont Avenue Rink, where ex-Mayor Charles A. Schieren will preside. Mr. Woodruff will then guide Odell to Prospect Hall, South Brooklyn, where a congressional district meeting will be held. Then they will go to the Invincible Club, on Herkimer street, where another gathering will be addressed, from there they will make their progress to Wright's Long Island Business College on South Eighth street.

Parades will be held in all parts of the borough. A great amount of red fire is to be burned. The Tenth, Eleventh and Twelfth Districts will march to Prospect Hall in force. The parade is to start from the Twelfth District Club house at Seventh avenue and Ninth street, and the line of march will be down Sixth avenue to the Logan and Eleventh Assembly District clubs.

Ex-Judge Samuel P. Morris, a Democrat, will make two speeches on "D. Cady Herrick as a Political Judge." Mr. Morris has come out for Higgins and will attack Herrick, whose career he claims to know well.

Tickets for all these meetings are in great demand, to-day, especially for the Rink, but they are to be open except for a comparatively few platform seats. There is a great desire to hear Odell, whose course in taking the platform to defend himself is admired by a good many Republicans. Last night in Manhattan he defined "Odellism" as he understands it.

Prominent speakers will talk at all the local meetings to-morrow night, beside Woodruff and Odell. The full schedule has not yet been made up. It has been found impossible, however, to get ex-Governor Black or Elihu Root.

Great interest is shown in the meetings held at the Navy Yard, that is to say, at the Sands and Cumberland streets gate. At noon, when the employes of the Navy Yard have their lunch, with other employes of the manufacturing concerns in the neighborhood, gather at either gate, and listen to comments made by Republican orators. At no time during the campaign has such enthusiasm been shown as at the Navy Yard noonday meetings.

To-night, at the Rink, Clermont avenue, near Myrtle, the Republican Italians will hold a meeting, which promises to be a greater demonstration of Italian sentiment than Kings County has ever seen. Thomas Caciola will preside, and will be assisted by the following vice presidents: Alfred Cassanese, Charles Bavetta, Anselmo Cardillo, Vincenzo Angelora, James C. Danzilo, Antonia Jeffery, Gaetano Parisi, Frank G. Belsito, Thomas S. Mancuse, Raphael Duncia, Rink—Italian mass meeting, Thomas Caciola presiding. Arturo Zagnoni, G. L. De Gerao, A. G. Guillano, Umberto Abruzzi and others.

A large and enthusiastic mass meeting was held at Golden Horn Casino, Fort Hamilton, last night. Several hundred voters were present, both Republicans and Democrats, and the utmost good feeling and [illegible] prevailed. Preceding the meeting a parade was arranged, starting from Fifty-third street and Third avenue and marching to the Casino, that aroused much enthusiasm through that portion of the Seventh Assembly District. Speeches were made by Edward H. Wake, George E. Waldo, George M. Parsall, Cromwell G. Macy, Jr., who confidently hopes to be the next Assemblyman, and George A. Hosier, of Buffalo, a converted Populist, who gave a very able argument, explaining his conversion to Republicanism. C. A. Harrow presided.

ALLOWED MASSACRES OF JEWS.

Russian Army Captain Admitted Permitting Peasants to Go Through Military Cordon.

Gomel, Russia, November 4—During the trial to-day of the persons charged with being responsible for the rioting in September, 1903, Captain Gorefkin, commander of one of the companies of troops, testified upon cross examination that he allowed Christian rioters to slip through the line of soldiers. He further declared that he had not received instructions from Police Chief Raevsky. The latter, who was present in court, jumped up and flatly denied the statement, saying:

"I told you to serve out ball cartridges. I shouted to you to check the progress of the rioters, but you formed a loose cordon, enabling them to pass through."

Dr. Alexanderoff testified to the intense race feeling in Gomel, no Jews being admitted to the town club.

Counsel for the Christians closely cross examined the Jewish witnesses regarding the Zionist congress.

DEMAND FOR SMALL BILLS GREATER THAN SUPPLY.

Famine in the Treasury of One and Two Dollar Certificates.

ONLY 893,000 SILVER DOLLARS.

Government Departments Are Doing Nothing and Clerks Idle Away Time for Which Country Pays.

Eagle Bureau,
608 Fourteenth Street.

Washington, November 4—The Treasury Department is having a difficult time in filling orders from national banks for one and two dollar bills. The volume of free currency of these denominations has been dwindling at a very rapid rate during the last four or five months and is now so small that it is necessary to limit the number that may be doled out to the banks.

The shortage of money is charged by Treasurer Roberts against the exhaustion of the silver bullion. As is generally known silver certificates of small denomination are issued against coined silver dollars, the latter being stored away in the Treasury vaults as guarantee for the paper money. When Congress stopped the purchase of silver bullion for this purpose, there remained in the possession of the government a tremendous amount of the uncoined metal. This has been gradually used from month to month since, but practically the last bit of it was coined in February of this year when the mints turned out 66,000 standard silver dollars. That was the last time any addition was made to the volume of circulating currency in the most popular form of money—the one and two dollar bills.

The daily Treasury statement has given a graphic account of the rapid eating up of the reserve stock of silver dollars against which Treasurer Roberts could draw for new circulation. In July of this year the Treasury had more than 19,000,000 silver dollars and there was then no difficulty in honoring the demands of banks for small notes. But with the movement of crops in August this sum began to shrink. It fell off in chunks and now is considerably less than 1,000,000. In fact, to be exact, the government to-day has only 893,298 free silver dollars, and consequently it is limited in increasing the circulaton of small notes to that figure.

At the begnning of every day's busness Treasurer Roberts examines the report of the number of free silver dollars on hand. He then tells the cashier how many silver certificates may be shipped during the day, and this limit is rigidly adhered to. It frequently happens that national banks will have their applications for additional notes cut in half. Sometimes their demands are honored in full.

"The demand for small notes this year is greater than ever before," said Treasurer Roberts to-day. "We are prepared to issue as many as may be called for, the presses at the Bureau of Engraving and Printing being capable now of fulfilling the limit of expectation. But we are restricted by law from issuing silver certificates except upon free silver dollars in the Treasury, and since the coinage of these dollars was stopped it has had a very pronounced effect on the Treasury. I have recommended a measure which I believe will relieve the present situation. I propose the issuance of gold certificates for five and ten dollars. Under the present arrangement the smallest gold certificates that are issued are for twenty dollars. If we furnish a large stock of gold certificates of the denomination of five dollars it would relieve in a great measure the demand for smaller silver certificates."

The stock of 893,000 silver dollars referred to above represents not only the stock in the Treasury in Washington, but at all its sub-treasuries throughout the country. There are nine sub-treasuries, so it will be readily seen that $893,000 is a small sum to be divided up for supplying the entire business interests of the country with new one and two dollar bills. The only hope the Treasury has of getting a larger reserve stock is in the redemption of large quantities of silver certificates of small denomination and the issuance in their stead of ten and twenty dollar notes. At the present time the redemption of currency is very followed in other directions. Bureau chiefs are very generally holding back their annual reports for fear that a controversy may grow out of some unguarded official comment. In certain instances annual reports were prepared and made ready for publication, only to be recalled. This is particularly true with regard to reports in the War Department. By this time in past years most of the annual reports had been made public, but the number released this year may be counted on the fingers of two hands.

The scene in the room of Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Taylor to-day was typical of the amount of activity being displayed in the government offices. Mr. Taylor was tilted comfortably back in a deep leather chair, smoking a cigar, and his feet resting lightly on the top of his desk. Assistant Secretary Keep was seated near by in a little more dignified attitude and two or three division chiefs were reclining on easy chairs. The officials were discussing the chances of Roosevelt's election when a stranger remarked that they all seemed to be working rather hard. "What's the use of doing any work," observed one of the officials jocularly, "as long as the Democrats are so certain that Parker is going to be elected, when of course we will all be turned out."

Unveiling of German Emperor's Statue.

The unveiling of the statue of Frederick the Great, which was recently presented to the United States by the Emperor of Germany, will take place on November 19. It will be a notable incident, for it is intended to take advantage of the occasion to order out all the troops stationed in the vicinity of Washington in an imposing military demonstration.

The statue, which is in bronze, was quietly placed in position on its pedestal on the esplanade of the Army War College building on Tuesday. Only a few persons were present at this ceremony.

The programme of exercises for the unveiling includes addresses by President Roosevelt, Acting Secretary of War Oliver, representing Secretary Taft, who will be in Panama at the time, and Baron Stern-

The youngster has black Italian hair, an Etruscan gold complexion, a viva Italia smile and Michael-Angelic eyes; and, although here is more of the pure, unadulterated Italy than the angel in his composition, it does not worry him.

Johnnie's school record is marred by long, dull seasons, resting periods and bad spells. Oftentimes he does not answer to the name he bears, popular though it be throughout Christendom. Whether he was subject periodically to spontaneous combustion, or had made a contract with the mammon of unrighteousness to export himself in carload lots, he kept the fact a secret. He never even hired a substitute to receive for him the broad, enduring principles of knowledge and the discipline provided for him by the municipality. In such defaults, only the unanswering atmosphere occupied the place where previously his dark trans-Atlantic beauty had participated in what the teacher had to say. His soft, primary-grade voice disturbed not the melody that knowledge makes falling on the ears of childhood; and his teacher would not know whether Johnnie was to be numbered among the casualties or only the missing.

If the facts must come out, Johnnie's home life is not surrounded by all modern improvements. One of the modern improvements it lacks is money. The ordinary wear and tear he causes in the food and furniture has been too much, much too much.

So his mother has asked the Children's Court to take him from her and put him in an institution—file him away, like a useless document, among the short-trousered malefactors that have been disposed of by the community as a danger or hindrance.

Dear Ms. Humphrey:

Thank you for your interesting letter of 25 January. Nice hearing from you again.

I've made a canvass of my churchbook collection of the Mohawk Valley which I have here in my library. I really found nothing earthshaking about your Gaylor family, except I can give you one suggestion as you pursue your own searches:

* Be sure and look for this surname under its more likely German spellings of Kehler and Keller (even Kohler could prove fruitful). As I note in my 1710 set, "C", "G", and "K" surnames can start with all three letters!

Good hunting!

Sincerely yours,

Hank Jones

PHILIP GAYLER/GAYLOR/GALER AND MARGARET

Gen. 1

1. Philip Gayler was born ca 1776-1784, (1810 and 1820 census, age 26/45). Born by ca 1780 since dau. Catherine was born 1800 (Fox Geny). He was probably born in this country, (no foreign born parents listed by son Hiram 1850 census). He probably died 1834/5 in the City of Albany, NY, when he disappeared from City Directories. Wife Margaret was listed there as a widow in City Directory in 1838, living at his same address, 53 N. Lansing St. Philip was buried in Albany and reinterred July 1865 in Greenwood Cem. Bklyn, Lot 15984, Section 164. His son Hiram was reinterred from Albany at the same time. Hiram's wf Sally d. July 1865 and is also buried there as were their daughters Catherine Gaylor Bow and Eurilla Gaylor Bow and her husband Wm H. Bow.

Philip probably married by 1800, based on circa 1800 birth of dau. Catharine.
1810 census, a young female listed in house of Philip [Gaylor.

Philip Gaylor married by 1800/1802 to Margaret ____, born 1782/3, died Albany Albany Co. N.Y. 26 Feb. 1856, aged 73 yrs, cited as widow of Philip (reck sp.) Gaylor in Annals of Albany, by Joel Munsell, Vol. 3, p. 331, under Annals of the year 1856. (digitized online copy). (indicates birth ca 1783).
She was born just after the end of the Rev. War.

(One Margaret Lasher was born 23 May1784, d/o George Lasher and grdau of Sebastian Lasher).

Previous attampts to pinpoint Margaret's age were from: 1765/1784 (26/45 yrs 1810 census), b. by 1780/83 (dau. b. 1800).
Margaret was born in this country, (1850 census, no foreign born parents for son Hiram). Margaret was alive 1838 in Abany.

Philip was a married man with a wife Margaret in Sept. 1802, when his son James was listed in the Birth and Christening records of Trinity Lutheran Church, at Stone Arabia, Montgomery Co. N.Y. The name of town of Stone Arabia was later changed to Palatine. In that church Philip's name was spelled various ways Keler, Kehler, Geler, Gehler, Caler. Other possible spellings are Kaler, Kieler, Koehler. Keller is also a possible variant according to professional Genealogists. Gaylerd or Gaylord is another possibility if census taker or other clerk wrote the name in this fashion as was done when grandson was listed as James Gaylord when he m. Stevenson in Schenectady.

Births/Bpt. of this church begin Dec. 1751 except for 1780-1788. The church was burned in Johnson's Raid in 1780.
There are no marriage records from 1751-1768 or from May 1772-Oct. 1774 or from 1780-1788 or from 1816-1826; a few from 1826-1833; none from 1830-1840.
There are no burial or death records from 1751-1768 or 1770-1810 or from 1814-1844.
Some affairs of this church are listed in Schoharie Lutheran church books, prob. by Pastor Berkenmeyer or Pastor Peter Nicholas Sommer.

1802-1814, Trinity Lutheran Church records Stone Arabia, Palatine, Montgomery Co. NY list births of James Keler, 18 Sept 1802 and John Kehler, 8 July 1808, born to Philip Keler/Kehler and wife Margaret. Also, the births of Hiram, 6 Dec 1805, and Elizabet, 10 Sept 1814, to Philip and Margaret Geler. Elizabet was chr. 23 Oct. 1814. There is no doubt this is our Philip Gaylor.

(A noted Palatine authority, Henry Z. Jones, states that variant spelling of the name Gaylor may include the earlier German spelling of Kehler, Keller or Kohler.

The Reformed Dutch churches of Stone Arabia and Fort Plain were interchangeable as to members and in the church cemetery).

The name of the wife of Philip, and those of his children James and Hiram, are consistent in the Stone Arabia Lutheran Church records 1802-1814, (LDS film #1204984, Vosburgh church transcriptions), Albany City Directories, and 1850 Albany census.

To further connect this family:
1850 Census lists son James Gaylor of Albany as born in Montgomery Co.
The death certificate of Hiram's daughter Nellie Louisa Gaylor, b. Albany, (then married to 3rd husband Chas. Caldwell), lists her parents as Hiram Gaylor and Sarah Weaver.
Hiram's children were baptized as Gaylor and Galer in the Stone Arabia Church 1828 and 1831. Wife Sarah Weaver was called Sally in the church record. Sponsors at the christening of Hiram's son, John WEBER Galor was WIDOW WEBER and HENRICH PIELER. Was wd Weber, mother or grmother of Sarah Weaver? (The name Pieler could also be Bieler in other records according to Henry K. Jones, author of Palatines 1710. Since dau. Catherine was listed on IGI at marr. as Kieler it raises the poss. that Henry Pieler could have been Henry KIELER).

Montgomery Co. was formed 1772. State census this county avail. 1835 State lib. at Albany. Too late. 1800 Philip not identified on census. It is possible that he was not head of household in 1800. There were Gaylors in 1800 in NYS census. Ck out Philip Cuyler in Albany Co 1800, `140:2 as a possibility.

In 1800, one Henry Lasher appeared in Mont. Co. census 7:4, along with many other Lasher families. This was perhaps Henry and Eliz. (Bauder) Lasher.

1810 census, p. 61.
Philip Gayler age 26-45, was listed at PALATINE, Montgomery Co. N.Y., with female age 26-45, for birth between 1765-84. Also, 3 males under 10 yrs, (1800-1809), and one female 10-16 (1794-1800) in his household.
The males are accounted for in christening records of Stone Arabia Luth. Ch. The female is accounted for when Catharine born 1800, joined the same ch. as a married woman in 1823.

Philip Gayler and HENRY LASHER appeared next to each other on this census between Christopher C. FOX and George Patter/Potter. Others nearby were John Eisinford, John Danolds, Malachi Potter, Andrew Gay, John and Henry Grames, Geo. Loucks. John C. FOX was listed 8 houses away. Also listed nearby was John Lasher, unidentified. Fox was obviously related to Philip's son-in-law Jacob. C. Fox, s/o Christopher Wm Fox and Mgt. Nellis. (Is the Gay name another variant of Gaylor)?

Other neighbors in 1810 were Shults, Waggoner, Powel. In 1810, Hiram Gaylor was 5 yrs old.

In 1830 census Christopher C. Fox was still in Palatine NY, and his neighbors were Jacob C. Fox, prob. the husb. of Catharine Gaylor, also Hiram Galen or Galer, both ch. of Philip Gaylor.

(One Christopher C. Fox b. 1774, was son of Chris W. Fox of Palatine and Eliz. Hess, daughter of John Hess. Chris C. Fox married Margaret Gramps/Crim by 1795. He had a brother John.
Another Chris C. Fox, born 1774 was son of Chris Philip Fox and second wife Catharine Hess. Widow Catharine Hess had a previous marriage to Jacob WEAVER. He also had a brother John. Note that Philip's great grand-child James H. Gaylor married Hannah Hess, d/o William and Katherine Wagner Hess many yrs later in Albany. However, that hess seems to have been a later immigrant. Also, note that Philip's son Hiram Gaylor married Sarah Weaver.

1810 census Palatine, Montgomery Co. N.Y. Henry LASHER, p. 61, (next door to Philip Gaylor). 2 males under 10, 1m 16-26, 1m over 45; 1 female under 10, 2f 10-16, 2f 16-26, 1f 26-45. If over 45 yrs, b. by 1765 or prior. This must be Henry b. 1765 who married Eliz. Bauder. Could be father of Mgt?
John Lasher also p. 61.321-2 1-11.
Conradt Lasher appears on p. 63, prob. bro. of Henry. In 1800 Henry Lasher was in Mont. Co. 7:4 and Conradt 22:4. Several other Conreadts in Columbia Co.
One Lasher Geny I read, by Powell, did not have a Mgt of age to marry Phillip Gaylor.

1810 Palatine.
P. 62 Jacob, Jeremiah and HENRY PEELER appear between Baily, Eaker, Brine and Nihoof. Also John Crous.
p. 63 Frederick WEAVER, Conradt Lasher, Henry Hart.
p. 64 John Weaver.
These Weavers may be a clue as to Sarah's family, since they resided so close to Gaylor family.

P. 72, Oppenheim, a nearby town, Christopher, Daniel and David Fox. Jacob and Daniel WEAVER were also listed on this page.

1820 census, Palatine, Montgomery Co. N.Y. Philip Galer, males 020010, females 10010. He had 2 males 10-16, one female under 10. Philip and Margaret were both under 45 yrs. The children fit the ages of the known James, Hiram and Elizabeth. Catharine was already married. Son John is missing. Did he die young? This was an alphabetical list, not helpful for neighbors.

1830 census Philip not found, but he was listed in 1832 in Albany City Directory.

1830 census Albany, Albany, NY. Ward 5. Image 24. Crayon 13 and 341.
Philip Kieler, Keeler or Kealer, (indexed as Wieler) but it is NOT a W. 2 males 50-60 yrs, one male 20-30, one female 40-50, one female 15-20 yrs. She fits Elizabet's age. Philip res. next to John Finigan and Dorcas Upham.
I did not find Philip Gaylor's business partner Dennick in 1830.

State census for Albany is available . 1825, 1835. Must do 1835 for Philip or Mgt which might tell what county in which they were born.

1832, 53 N. Lansing St. and son James appears at same address, also a wheelwright.
1833/1834, Philip and son James Gaylor.
1835, only James Gaylor appears. Philip poss. dead.
1837, 2 listings for James Gaylor, N. Lansing St, one a brewer, one a wheelwright (prob. same person).
1838 Margaret Gaylor appears as a widow at 53 N. Lansing St.

Son James Gaylor was listed at the same address with Philip in Albany City Directory. On the 1850 census, James was listed as born in Montgomery Co. NY.

My Father Homer Baker Sr. and his cousin Irene Davidson Howard, great grandchildren of Hiram, said the surname was Gaylord, yet the death certificate of Hiram's daughter, Nellie Louisa Gaylor (Collins) (Clark) (Caldwell), states the name as Gaylor. Gaylor, with it's variant spelling is consistent with other known records. James, s/o Philip Gaylor was listed as Gaylord when he married in Schenectady. Wm T. Collins deposition as to his wf Nellie lists her as nee Gaylord. The Greenwood cem. records list some of the Gaylor relatives buried in the same plot as Gaylor and also Gaylord.

My grandmother, Nellie Collins (Baker) (Fisher) claimed her lineage as Holland Dutch, as did her sister Edith (Collins) Davidson and some members of the Bow family cousins. I do not know whether this is in regard to the Gaylor or the Weaver lineage.

I did not find Philip Gaylor in Albany First Lutheran Ch. rec. Other Lutheran churches not searched.

I searched the Albany City Directories beginning 1828 for the name Gaylor, since Nellie Louisa Gaylor, dau. of Hiram, was born in Albany according to her death certificate and personal knowledge of family members. At the time I searched these directories, I did not know the variant spellings of the name, must redo. The name Gaylor appears first at Albany in 1831/2. Philip and James Gaylor at 53 N. Lansing St., Hiram Gaylor at 55 N. Lansing St., Wheelwright, and Gaylor and Dennick, Wheelwrights, business at 111 N. Market St. Since families tended to move with relatives, searching the name Dennick might prove fruitful. Philip Gaylor's name does not appear after 1834 and wf Mgt was listed as a wd in 1837. (Need to ck out Isaac Dennick line, cannot find, try DeNyck).

Some of the early Albany cemeteries have disappeared with the growth of the city. Some of the graves were relocated. I have made only a preliminary search under name Gaylor, but have not found Philip's original grave before being reinterred to B'klyn. Where was wf Mgt buried? Not listed in Greenwood Cem. Possibly she remarried? I have not checked Montgomery Co. graves. (Did not search variant sp. in Albany cemeteries, must do).
Since the family resided at the N. Lansing St. address for several years, they may have owned the property. A Deeds search might prove productive.

CATHARINE KALER/GALER/GAYLOR AND JACOB CHRISTOPHER FOX

2. Catharine Gaylor, daughter of Philip and Margaret Gaylor, was b. 1800, likely at Stone Arabia or Palatine, Montgomery Co. N.Y. Catharine d. 1 June 1883. The 1810 census for Philip Gaylor lists a female born between 1794-1800. Catherine died 1 June 1883. Her death date was taken from O. W. Bell's 1928 series on Fox family in the St. Johnsville Enterprise and News, read by Don Fox.

The Descendants of Christophel Fuchs of the Palatine by Donald P. Fox, p. 27, #137 lists Catharine Galard as wife of Jacob C. Fox. Fox lists two sons for the couple listing their birth dates, Alexander, and Hiram who married Hannah Fake.

Catharine was married 9 Jan. 1820 at Reformed Dutch Church at Minden Township, Fort Plain, Montgomery Co. N.Y. to Jacob C. Fox. The church record calls her Kaler; and she was listed as Kieler and Caler on IGI for the same marriage. Jacob Christopher5 Fox was born 7 March 1794, baptized 13 March 1794, Palatine, N.Y. at St. Johnsville Dutch Reformed Church, sponsors Jacob C. and Delia W. Fox.

Jacob Fox d. 24 April 1871 acc. to Pedigree resource file at Mormon website. Need proof. Mormon Pilot Program, citing NY Marriages 1686-1980, lists the same marr. date at Ft Plain, Minden, Montg. Co., listing her as Catharine Caler, no parents listed.

I cannot identify Jacob and Catharine Fox together on any census. Did Catharine remarry?

Jacob Fox was confirmed Oct. 10, 1819 at Stone Arabia Reformed Church.
He inherited his father's farm.

Need to search Minden/Ft. Plain records for further records of Catharine's father Philip Gaylor.

IGI lists Jacob Fox b. 13 March 1794 St. Johnsville, Montgomery Co. NY to Christopher W. and Margaret Fox, Batch 7112608 Serial Sheet 4.

Catherine Kaler, d/o Philip, was accepted into membership at Stone Arabia Reformed Church on Oct. 11, 1823, as wife of Jacob C. Fox. This is the same church that her brother James, s/o Philip Gaylor, joined three years earlier. (cite source)?

Note that sons Alexander and Hiram Fox resided together in 1850 in a double house. They both had property. Perhaps Jacob died before 1850 and Catharine remarried?

One Jacob E. Fox appears in Danube census records.

Jacob C. Fox was s/o Christopher William4 Fox, born 3 Aug. 1757, died 24 Jan. 1835 and Margaret Nellis, born Aug. 12, 1759, d/o Ludwig and Elizabeth (Kaiser) (Nellis. Ref: Early Families of Herkimer Co. NY by William V.H. Barker, p. 90, #3081). Mormon Pedigree file lists Ludwig Nellei 15 May 1729 Palatine NY-23 Feb 1809.

IGI lists Jacob Fox b. 19 May 1776, of Stone Arabia NY and wf Catharine , b. ca 1800, with the children Alexander, Hiram, Martin and Clark Fox, with the proper birthdates. However, the submitter listed the parents of Jacob, as Christopher Fox and Elizabeth Hess.

Virgil White's Rev. War Pension Abstracts lists Christopher W. Fox, W10682, N.Y. Line, b. 3 Aug. 1757, enlisted Palatine, N.Y. and applied there 19 Sept. 1832.

Genealogical Helper, Nov./Dec. 1988 p. 10, lists Christopher W. Fox b. Aug.3 1757, res. Palatine, Montgomery Co. NY in 1832. He enlisted from Palatine in 1775, was Pvt 2nd Reg't, Tryon Co. Militia, Col. Jacob Klock; 6 months under Capt. Samuel Gray, boating from Schenectady to Ft Stanwix; at Battle of Oriskany and Johnstown, Rev. Pension S10682.

The Fox family line from Barker's book lists Christopher William4 Fox as s/o William Jr.3, b. 17 Oct 1732 married Catharine Zimmerman. Made will 1795. William Sr.2, b. 1695/1700 Niederbeiber, Germany, married second Margaret Kast in NY (1707-1791), d/o George. Johan Philip Fuchs1 and Catharina Neitzert).

FHC reel 0017908 lists Catharine Fox admitted into full communion at German Reformed Church of Stone Arabia on public confession of faith, on 11 Oct. 1823, wife of Jacob and daughter of Philip Koeler. This is a typed page. John J. Wack, Pastor.

Catherine was listed on IGI as Catherine Kieler/Caler/Koeler.
See FHC #7112608 Batch Film Serial Sheet 29 and 0444900 Batch film for further info. regarding births of Alexander, Clark and Hiram Fox. For marriage of Catherine see FHC Batch M511171, Serial Sheet 0723.

4. Hiram Gaylor was the son of Philip and Margaret Gayler (census spelling). Variant spelling for Philip in Stone Arabia church records were Kehler, Keler, Kaler, Geler, Gehler. Hiram was born 6 Dec. 1805 in Montgomery Co. N.Y. His birth was recorded at Trinity Luth. Ch. Stone Arabia, N.Y. under name Geler.
Hiram died 7 Oct. 1856, 51 yrs. A short obituary was published Oct. 10, in Buffalo Morning Express. This states that his funeral was to be held Wednesday at his home 98 E. Seneca St.; requests Albany and New York papers to please copy. It is obvious that the paper knew he was from Albany, but why should N.Y.C. papers copy? Did he have relatives in N.Y.C.? Early Settlers N.Y.S. by Foley, p. 514, lists death as listed above from records of Buffalo Historical Society.

A Certified Transcript of Death, no number, was obtained by me in January 1994 from the City of Buffalo. This gives his address as 92 Seneca St., incorrectly listed on place of birth line; died of peritonitis; physician Dr. White; undertaker, Kraft and Gray. The letter to me omitted his date of death. This was unacceptable and inefficient. I returned the letter for a replacement copy. The replacement copy in modern handwriting, gives his death date but isn't certified.

On Feb. 14 1994, I received from the Buffalo City Clerk, a copy of the original Death Ledger of Buffalo, NY, which listed Registration 285, No. 1379, died Oct. 7 1856, Hiram Gaylor, 50 yrs, at 92 Seneca St., cause Peritonitis, Interred by Kraft and Gray, Informant Dr. White. This has other deaths on same page and is copy of original. His place of birth, occupation and names of parents are blank.

Hiram was buried in Albany N.Y., then exhumed and re-interred in July 1865 in Greenwood Cem. B'klyn, N.Y. (ph. 718 768 7300) about the time his wife died and was buried in Lot 15984, Section 164. This from what Greenwood Cem. sent to David Stenn many yrs ago.
His gravestone was still standing as of January 1998 and says HIRAM GAYLOR of Buffalo, died 7 Oct. 1856 aged 51 years ___; SALLIE GAYLOR HIS WIFE died July 18 1865 aged 57 years, then it looks like a 1 ___ rather than a 7 for the ?month, photo of grave stone not clear. His father was also reinterred there on the same date and listed as Gaylord. Hiram and Sally's daughters Catherine Gaylor Bow and Eurilla Gaylor Bow and her husband William H. Bow were also buried in this Lot. (Ref: David Stenn author of Clara Bow book. Need proof of Hiram's Albany burial).

Hiram was married by 1828, probably in Montgomery Co. N.Y. to Sarah/Sally Weaver who was born 10 Dec. 1807 as calculated from her death certificate. Her birth was in Montgomery Co. N.Y. according to 1850/1855 census records, which also agrees with her birth ca 1807/1808.

Sally Gaylor death certif. Brooklyn, Kings Co. N.Y. #4188 lists her death as 18 July 1865 Kings Co. N.Y., age 57 yrs, seven months and eight days. Born U.S. She was buried in Greenwood Cem. Her death certif. was written as Gaylord and the d at the end crossed out on the official certif. No undertaker or parents were listed.

Her father-in-law Philip Gaylor was also re-interred in Greenwood in 1865 acc. to David. Stenn and the Greenwood Cem. Her dau. Kate M. Gaylor Bow was also buried Greenwood with several other relatives. Greenwood Cem. is located at 25th St. and 5th Ave. Brooklyn, Zip 11232. Ph. 718 768 7300. In January 1998, David Stenn visited Greenwood plot and found that Eurilla and William H. Bow have a nice modern gravestone. Hiram and Sallie Gaylor's stone is an old one lying on the ground. In the photo, it is difficult to read the dates and the inscription. Other broken stones are lying on the ground in the plot. I cannot read the names.

The Obituary for Sally Gaylor was published July 19, 1865 in the Brooklyn Daily Eagle. She died Tuesday eve. July 18, aged 57, wife of the late Hiram Gaylor. Thursday from No. 2 Clinton Place, continuation of Clinton St., without further notice. The remains will be taken to Greenwood Cemetery for interment.

Sally's obituary is the proof that the child Jurille in Stone Arabia Church record was abstracted incorrectly and should read Eurilla. Eurilla married William H. Bow, who was believed to be a cousin of William A. Bow who married Eurilla's sister Catherine Gaylor.

Union St. was near the East River and near President and Carroll Streets. Cross Sts. were Van Brunt and Columbia Streets. There was also a Union Ave. in Bklyn.

HIRAM GAYLOR AND SARAH WEAVER

4. Hiram Gaylor was the son of Philip and Margaret Gayler (census spelling). Variant spelling for Philip in Stone Arabia church records was Kehler, Keler, Kaler, Geler, Gehler. Hiram was born 6 December 1805 in Montgomery County New York. Hiram's birth was recorded at Trinity Lutheran Church Stone Arabia, New York with the surname Geler.

Hiram Gaylor died 7 October 1856, at 51 years. A short death notice was published October 10, in the Buffalo Morning Express noting that his funeral was to be held Wednesday at his home 98 East Seneca Street, with request for Albany and New York papers to please copy. Hiram had long resided at Albany, but why should N.Y.C. papers copy? Did he have relatives in N.Y.C.? Early Settlers of New York State. by Foley, p. 514, lists Hiram's death as listed above from records of Buffalo Historical Society.

A Certified Transcript of Death, having no number, was obtained by this author January 1994 from the City of Buffalo. It lists Hiram's address as 92 Seneca St., incorrectly listed on place of birth line. Hiram died of Peritonitis, his physician D. White; undertaker was Kraft and Gray. This inefficient and unacceptable transcript omitted Hiram's date of death, and was returned for a replacement copy. The Replacement copy written in modern handwriting listed Hiram's death date but isn't certified. I still need a copy of the original microfilm or ledger.

Hiram was buried at Albany N.Y., then exhumed and reinterred in July 1865 in Greenwood Cemetery, Brooklyn, N.Y., about the time his wife died, and was buried there in Lot 15984, Section 164. His gravestone was still standing in January 1998, which reads HIRAM GAYLOR of Buffalo, died 7 October 1856 aged 51 years ___; SALLIE GAYLOR HIS WIFE died July 18 1865 aged 57 years, then it looks like a 1 ___ rather than a 7 for the ?month, picture of stone not clear. Also reinterred there was his father Philip, who listed as Gaylord. Hiram and Sally's daughters Catherine (Gaylor) Bow and Eurilla (Gaylor) Bow and husband William H. Bow were also buried in this lot. (Ref: David Stenn author book about the life of Clara Bow, who took photo of gravestone. Need proof of Hiram's Albany burial).

Hiram was married by 1828, probably in Montgomery County N.Y. to Sarah/Sally Weaver, who was born 10 December 1807, as calculated from her age at death on her death certificate. Sally was born at Montgomery County N.Y. according to 1850 and 1855 census records, which agrees with birth in 1807/1808.

One Salome, the daughter of Fredrich and Margaret Weaver, were members of Stone Arabia Lutheran Church. Could Salome be my Sally? 1804?

Brooklyn, Kings Co. N.Y. Death Certificate of Sally Gaylor, #4188 lists her death as 18 July 1865 in Kings County N.Y., age 57 yrs, seven months and eight days. Born U.S. She was buried in Greenwood Cem. Brooklyn. Last address was 122 Union St. in the sixth Ward. Death was caused by Ovarian Dropsy, attending Dr. was D. A. Dodge. Death certificate was written as Gaylord with the d at the end of the name crossed out on the official certificate. No undertaker or parents were listed.

Sally's father-in-law Philip Gaylor was also reinterred in the same Greenwood plot in 1865 according to David Stenn. Sally's daughter Kate M. (Gaylor) Bow was also buried in the Greenwood plot with several other relatives. Greenwood Cemetery is located at 25th St. and 5th Ave. Brooklyn, N.Y. 11232. Ph. 718 768 7300. January 1980's David Stenn visited the Greenwood plot and found that Eurilla and William H. Bow has a nice modern gravestone. Hiram and Sallie Gaylor's stone is an old one lying on the ground, Photo of the stone is difficult to read dates and inscription. Other broken stones were lying on the ground in the plot, names unreadable.

A letter from Greenwood informed me that the original cemetery plot was purchased by Eurilla Bow and the Plot has reverted back to ownership of the cemetery I was not allowed to replace the grave-stone of Hiram and Sallie.

1865, July 19, Brooklyn Daily Eagle, death notice of Sally Gaylor who died Tuesday evening July 18, aged 57, wife of the late Hiram Gaylor. The relatives and friends of the family and of the sons-in-law W.H. Bow and W.A. Bow are respectfully invited to attend the funeral at 4 P.M. Thursday from No. 2 Clinton Place, continuation of Clinton St., without further notice. The remains will be taken to Greenwood Cemetery for interment.

Sally's death notice and burial in the plot purchased by Eurilla Bow, who was also buried in that plot with her husband and the other immediate relatives proves that Sally's child Jurille as written in the Stone Arabia Church record Montgomery Co. N.Y. was abstracted incorrectly and should read Eurilla. Eurilla married William H. Bow, a cousin of William A. Bow who married Eurilla's sister Kate.

Sally's last address, Union St. was near the East River and near President and Carroll Streets. The cross Streets were Van Brunt and Columbia Streets. There was also a Union Ave. in Bklyn.

Sally Where 1857-1860?

Sally's father or grandfather was Henry Weaver according to the obituary of daughter Nellie Louise (Gaylor), (Collins), (Clark), Caldwell. It would seem that one of Nellie's two daughters, Nellie Jr. or Edith, listed the Weaver information for her obituary.
Sally Gaylor does not appear in 1860 census in Buffalo. Why did she move to Brooklyn? Perhaps a dau preceded her Widow Weber was sponsor at birth of Sally's child, so Weber as well as Weaver must be searched for her parentage. Who was this widow Weber? Did she sponsor any other children in that church? (Must do). Henry Pieler was another sponsor. Did he sponsor other children in the same Church?

Two of the Gaylor children were baptized at Trinity Lutheran Church, Stone Arabia, one in 1828, the other in 1831. By this date, they were recorded with the Gaylor and Galer spelling.

The marriage certificate and death certificate of their daughter Nellie Louisa Gaylor, (Collins), (Clark), (Caldwell) gives the names of her parents.

Hiram Gaylor was in Montgomery Co. N.Y. in 1828 and 1831 according to birth of children there, then moved to Albany as a married man in 1831/2. He probably moved with with his father and brother James. Hiram was listed in Albany City Directory until 1851, and again in 1854. On census record of 1855, he stated he had been in Erie Co. N.Y. one year.

The obituary of Sally's daughter, Nellie Louisa (Gaylor) (Collins) (Clark) Caldwell, in The Brooklyn Daily Eagle November 4 or 5, 1904, states that her grandfather was General Henry Weaver who was killed in the Revolutionary War. This could not be accurate because Sally Weaver was born 1805 or 1807/8 (census and age at death), some 25 years after the end of the war, but was perhaps the great grand daughter of a man who served in the Revolution. It would seem that a man named Henry Weaver was either father or grandfather of Sally. The obituary was probably prepared by daughter Nellie or Edith. A man serving in the Revolution would likely have been born by 1760's or earlier. The rank of the ancestor who served in the Revolution, perhaps named Henry, remains to be proved.

Descendant Mora Bow de Ybarrando indicated there was a Weaver ancestor that was a General in the War of 1812, no first name given. The Weaver Genealogy, by Clement Weaver, lists a Weaver known as General, but does not follow his line. (Was General a nickname)?

Nellie (Gaylor) Caldwell's obituary also stated that she resided in Buffalo for a short time. She was listed with her parents in Buffalo in 1855 census, 6 or 7 years of age. Confirming this, was the marriage of Nellie Gaylor's sister, Catharine Gaylor to William A. Bow in Buffalo in 1855, at St. Paul's Episcopal Church. Helen (Bow) Segasti told Jackie (Baker) Humphrey that Helen's ancestor Catharine (Gaylor) Bow was raised in Buffalo N.Y. Nellie (Gaylor) Collins visited Buffalo, abt 1890, chaperoning her two daughters Nellie and Edith Collins, who were performing in vaudeville there.

Sarah/Sally Weaver was very likely to have been from one of the Palatine families of 1710, since three of those Weaver/Weber families settled in the Mohawk Valley area, Niclaus, Jacob Weber, and Widow Ottila Weberin. These three families were listed together in Holland on Capt. Jno. Untank's ship in the 5th party. In the Stone Arabia churchbook, Johann Geog Nicolaus Weber and and Johann Nicel. H. Weber were listed, (Ref: Jones). It would be necessary to search 3 or 4 intervening generations before the proper family connection could be found. Jones mentions that it is difficult to separate the many Weaver/Weber Palatine families.

The Gaylor or Weaver family were probably related to Henry Pieler and to Widow Weber, who may have had husband John Weber, since she was sponsor at the christening of John Weber Gaylor in 1831. (Ref: Stone Arabia Lutheran Church record). (Be alert for Bieler and Kieler variant sp.).

A search of the name Henry Weaver, in a book on N.Y.S. in the Revolutionary War, was not productive in finding a Henry Weaver of high military rank.
A search of DAR lineage books found only a Henry Weaver of Pennsylvania, who might fit one of the name killed in the War.

One Hendrick Weaver was listed in the Muster Roll of the N.Y. Provincial Troops in 1758. He was of Capt. John Peter Smith's Co. under command of Col. DeLancey, Esq. He was 23 yrs old, for birth ca 1723, was a farmer, enlisted by Capt. Jno P. Smith, 29 March 1758. Need to track this man, just in case the family confused the name of the ancestor Henry, who served in the Rev.

1853 no Hiram, but Sarah A. Gaylor listed 44 Lydius St.
1854 Hiram reappears at 23 Ferry St. This is the last time his name appears, which agrees with 1855 census when Hiram states he was in Erie Co. only one year.
1855-56 no Hiram or Sarah listed in Albany.

Hiram may have served in jail or prison for Post Office burglary from 1852 to 1853. Sarah A. was almost certainly his wife in the 1852 and 1853 city directory listings.

Since Hiram moved frequently, one could assume that he rented his abode. No property was listed for him on the 1850 census. Arbor Hill in Albany is still scenic in 1989. Many cemeteries have been removed to make room for growth of city.

Note: Was Sarah A. Gaylor at 56 Union St. in 1852 our lady? In 1834, one Stephen Weaver had a father who resided at 51 Union St. His one yr old child was buried from father's house.

CENSUS

1810 Frederick Weaver, Palatine, p. 63, listed 2 pp from Philip Gaylor.
5 males under 10, 1 male over 45, (b. bef. 1765); 2 females under 10, 1 female 26-45 (b. bet. 1764/1784). One of these females under 10 could be Sarah.

1830 census Palatine, Montgomery Co. N.Y. Hiram Galen as indexed, looks like Galer or Galler, 20-30 yrs, another male same age, one female under 5, one female 20-30 yrs. Hiram's brother perhaps with him. Ages all fit.
Same page, Jacob C. Fox, perhaps his brother-in-law and sister Catharine. Ages fit).

(1830 One Ahiram Gaylor appeared in Perry, Cattaraugus Co. p. 220, but our Hiram had children baptized in 1828 and 1831 at Stone Arabia. Ahiram was NOT likely to be the Hiram we seek).

1840 Census, Albany, Albany Co. NY, Ward 5, p. 390, Reel 85, Enum. John Shartz.

1851, Feb. Hiram Gaylor of Albany, and George H. Bramhall and Rufus B. Pemberton robbed the Albany Post Office, and were convicted. Gaylor and Bramhall were each sentenced to eight yrs at Auburn State Prison. Pemberton pled guilty and turned State's evidence; he was sentenced to 2 yrs. I am not aware of any other Hiram in Albany in 1851, thus I assume he was my ancestor.

Note that George Bramhall was the same man who witnessed with Hiram in 1849, in the case of a man accused of stealing a horse.

1851, May 9, Hiram's wife Sally Gaylor was plaintiff, in suing James Best because he did not repay her for loan of $800 or $300, with obligation to repay in 10 days. She won her case by jury for $300 and interest. The defendant appealed. Her lawyer was James G. Wheaton. Best's lawyer was N. Hill Jr., who objected to the case being in Sally's name since her husband was still alive.

This would be in keeping with Hiram not being in Albany, or too embarassed to bring a lawsuit, if he was the robber of the post office. Hiram was 46 yrs old in 1851, and was responsible for the support of a family of girls. He was old enaough to know the consequences.
This must have been a difficult time for Sally, since she had several children to support.
In 1852, 1853, Hiram does not appear in Albany City Directory. I make assumption that Hiram was in Auburn State prison during these years.

How did Hiram get out of prison by abt 1854?

1855 census, 15 June, Erie Co. Buffalo, 2nd Ward, 2nd District, Geo. Kidder, Marshall.

Descendant Helen (Bow) Segasti stated that the Gaylor daughters were raised in Buffalo/Yonkers. Catherine Gaylor married William A. Bow, 2 July 1855 in Buffalo at St. Paul's Episcopal Church, (Ref: author Foley, IGI and another ref, prob. church rec.). I did not find any other Gaylor known to be from this family on 1992 IGI. It was surprising to find that Katherine was married in an Episcopal church.

1856, Hiram Gaylor died in Buffalo, N.Y.
1856/7, daughter Kate (Gaylor) Bow's first child, Edward Herold Bow was born at Bufflo according to Edward's marriage or death certif.

No Gaylord listed. This location is only about 3 blocks from __ St. Marks Ave. and 33 Prospect Place where Sarah's dau. Nellie Louisa (Gaylor) (Collins) (Clark) Caldwell resided many years later. Need to check neighbors. All those addresses are west of Flatbush Ave.
In 1882 E. Warren near Nevins was in Ward 10, but may have been in another ward in 1860.

1861/2, ending May, Brooklyn City Dir. p. 156, Sarah Gaylor, widow, home 73 Fourth Place.

1862/3 Bklyn City Dir. Sarah Gaylord, widow, home 272 Pacific, no Sarah Gaylor. Wm H. Gaylor carpenter, 73 3rd, home 85 S. Fourth, and more.

1863/4 Bklyn City Dir. No Sarah Gaylor. One James Gayler, clerk, home 74 Clinton.

1865, July, Sarah (Weaver) Gaylor died in B'klyn at 122 Union St. Were all her daughters married at this time?

Note that Oliver and Eliza Bow (who were buried in the same cem. lot in Greenwood Cem. with our related Gaylor and Bow families) lived in Albany in 1850. This indicates that the Bow family knew the Gaylor family before daughter Kate married William Bow. Oliver was likely the father of William H. Bow who married Eurilla Gaylor.

My father, Homer Baker, stated there was a family relationship to the Krauss family in Syracuse and were well known there. He did not state to which family the connection descends. Since the Baker, Hinsdale, Larkin, McCracken, Peck and Marsh families of Onondaga Co. have been well researched without finding a Krauss connection, I suspect that the connection comes through the Gaylor or Weaver families. (Ck Crouse names).

Notes:
It is interesting to note that several Gibsons had marriages in the same church in Buffalo where Hiram's daughter Catherine was married. See Hiram's father Philip Gaylor's narrative for possible Gibson surname of his wife Margaret. One Hiram Fox married Elizabeth Stebbins October 1852 in the same church. Philip's daughter Catherine Fox had a son Hiram. These possible relatives might indicate that Hiram Gaylor followed relatives to Buffalo.

Gen. 3: Ch. of Hiram and Sarah Weaver Gaylor.

alive 1880 Albany NY.

One of the Gaylor daus. married Mr. Hubbard and had dau. Eurilla, a spinster. Eurilla Hubbard had a sister Libby acc. to cousin Irene (Davidson) Howard.

Civil War Frederick Charles Hubbard served.

1870 census Albany NY, Ward 3, Urila 4 yrs old b. NY, with par. F. Hubter (Hubbard) 29, b. Eng, Carpenter, and Martha 23 yrs b. NY, and sister Laura 2 yrs b. NY.
Frederick's sister Laura Patton and husb. William Patton were listed with only one house between them, which helps to identify Hubter as Hubbard.

1880 June 1 census, Albany NY, Dist. 7, 108 Madison Ave.
Frederick Hubbard 34 yrs b. Eng x3, Carpenter, wf Martha 31 yrs, b. NY x3, daus. Eurilla 14, Laura 12, both b. NY, f. b. Eng, m. b. NY. They lived next to his mother and step father.
107. Hnery O. Arnold, 64 yrs, Carpenter, had rheumatism, wf Hannah 64, both b. Eng. x3.

In 1900 Hannah Arnold was an 88 yr widow b. Eng x3, living alone in Albany NY, owns house at 107 Madison Ave., bore 4 ch, one alive.

This family has been confusing because there seems to have been two children of Hiram Gaylor named Martha, the other one was listed in her obit. as Martha Isabella Shields. Obit. named her Gaylor parents, but in census she was found consistently as Isabella.

Martha's daughter Eurilla Hubbard of Paterson N.J. was listed on page 403 of the book, "One Thousand Years of Hubbard History" by Edward Warren Day.
Heading of page 403 lists Imported Hubbards.
A short paragraph lists Frederick Charles Hubbard, his mother, and sister Laura, now Mrs. William J. Patton of Albany N.Y., came from Newmarket, Suffolk, England, to U.S. Frederick was a soldier in Civil War, and left a daughter Eurilla E. Hubbard of Paterson, N.J.

We know that our spinster cousin Eurilla worked in the courthouse and also resided in Paterson N.J., so there is no doubt of the identification.

Frederick Hubbard is found in 1860-1880 census in Albany, N.Y. with his sister and mother and step father Henry Arnold. Also in Albany, were Fred Hubbard with wf Martha and ch. Eurilla and Laura.

Fred's mother Hannah Arnold was alive Albany NY in 1900, at 88 yrs. She claimed that she bore 4 ch, one alive. Her dau. Laura was alive in 1900, so Frederick must have died prior to 1900.

A PALATINE FAMILY

THE PETRIES IN AMERICA

INTRODUCTION

The Petries, together with many others, were driven from the Palatinate by religious persecution.

The Protestant religion had taken firm root in Germany and France during the latter half of the 16th and 17th centuries in spite of wars to exterminate it. When Louis XIV of France, whose fundamental principle was, "I am the state," revoked the Edict of Nantes in 1685 many Huguenots fled to the Rhine Valley. Here in 1693 they together with the Palatines, suffered the vengeance of the French king. His forces ravaged the countryside destroying over 2000 cities and villages. Vast numbers of the people perished in caves and the forests, from hunger, cold and nakedness. Many refugees finally reached England where Queen Anne provided for them. Two German ministers, perhaps more, accompanied them, but we find special mention of Rev. Joshua Kocherthal a Lutheran and Rev. Frederick Haege of the Reformed church.

In 1708 the first Palatine immigrants came to this country and settled at the present Newburg. In 1710 the second expedition sailed, leaving England in early January. The last vessel reached New York harbor in June. Of 4000 embarking, 1700 died in passage, or soon after landing. They were detailed at Nutten's, now Governor's Island, in the harbor, until fall on account of sickness among them, then were transferred to camps on both sides of the Hudson river above Newburg. Orphans and sick remained in New York City.

Johan Jost[1] Petry and his family sailed with this expedition. He was born in Strassburg, Alsace, thence removed to Herddberg (probably Heidleberg) where he lived when his son, Johan Jost[2], Jr. in 1706, married Cordelia, daughter of Jacob De Muth. Later they lived in the lower Palatinate. Tradition says the elder Johan Jost was drown died from some other cause, while crossing the Atlantic. His w Anna Gertruyd Von Ringh, was also born in Alsace and was said of a noble family

In "Palatine Heads of Families" from Gov. Hunter's F Lists, also "Colonial Series," Vol. 1, page 443, we find Anna Ge Petri, Johan Jost Petri and a statement that he was a soldier in Nicholsons expedition against Canada in 1711. He was in East C Others were Just Petri of New Annesberg, with wife Anna Cath three children; Philip Petri who married Anna Elisabeth Muel West Camp, Jan. 3, 1712. Some correspondents are inclined to that these with John Conrad, 12 years old in 1710, were all child Johan Jost Petri (1). No proof. John Conrad Petri was evidently a those children whom the governor ordered to be apprenticed to expense to the government. He was apprenticed to Robert Livings 1710. He took the oath of naturalization Nov. 22, 1715 and enrolled in a military company on Nov. 30, 1715. (Col. Series I, The members of the first immigration from England were required naturalized as British citizens before they embarked. It is possibl all those of mature years in this second expedition were also natura before leaving England. In old Linlithgo Church, Columbia coun recorded the death of Johann Conrad Petri, Jan., 1770, aged 7

He evidently remained in the Hudson Valley after his apprer ship was finished.

The mother of Gen. Nicholas Herkimer is said to have Catherine Petrie. She may have been one of Anna Gertruyds chil but nothing definite is known of this.

Other Petries are listed in these early records, but nothing mor been found regarding them. (Kocherthal Rec.)

The Palatine German Migration, 1710

Continual European wars throughout the hundred years ending in 1714 brought devastation to the German Rhineland. The German principality known as the Palatinate was repeatedly invaded, pillaged, and burned. Early in the eighteenth century the people finally felt driven to seek ways of escape from their ruined villages and homeland.

Coincidentally, agents of the American colonial proprietors began to recruit settlers among the desolated Palatines. William Penn twice toured the Rhineland to encourage emigration to his Pennsylvania. Other agents described in glowing terms the vast opportunities in the new world across the sea. A German Lutheran pastor, Rev. Joshua Kocherthal, went to England in 1706 to gather facts about America, and published an account of his findings. The poverty-stricken people were slow to find means to make the long journey. In 1708 forty delegates accompanied their pastor to England to petition Queen Anne for assistance. A small group of pioneers managed to reach America with their pastor and settled near Newburgh, New York. When the Rev. Kocherthal returned to England he was amazed to find that thousands of Germans had managed to reach England with their meager belongings and were camped in huts and tents in parks and fields. The refugees, spurred on by the mounting war of the Spanish Succession which was devastating Europe, continued to throng to England. The English government had encouraged their exodus, but was unprepared to cope with the overflowing response. The London Board of Trade suggested that a settlement be made in New York where naval stores might be produced and where people were needed to defend the colony against Indian aggression. In 1709 at the peak of this mass migration, over thirteen thousand Germans crowded the fields and cities of England. Plans were hastily drawn to settle the refugees in Ireland, Scotland, the American colonies and the West Indies.

An ill-advised scheme to produce tar from the pine trees in the Hudson River Valley was seized upon, and in New York a newly appointed governor, Robert Hunter, agreed to settle a few thousand Germans in that area. A contract was signed and ships were found for the journey overseas. A hugh convoy of ten ships carrying 3,000 Palatines finally sailed. Many died on the crowded ships; sickness took its toll. One ship, the Herbert, was wrecked on Block Island and inspired Whittier to write his poem, "The Palatine." The other ships reached New York, then a city of 6,000, and were forced to disembark the stricken Palatines on Nutten Island, now Governor's Island, in a state of quarantine lest their sicknesses engulf the city in a plague. Many Palatines died on Nutten Island after arrival. Orphans were quartered among New York families while the movement up the river got under way toward the forests of the Hudson River Valley. The hardships and misery became endurable only because the "Promised Land" was now at hand.

The Palatine German Migration, 1710 (cont'd.)

Colonies were set up on both sides of the Hudson, called the East Camp and the West Camp, and the rough work of hewing trees to build cabins began before the winter closed in. The great enterprise of making tar from pine trees was started - and failed. The trees yielded poorly. Colonists and governor each blamed the other. Robert Hunter spent large sums of his own money in the attempt to sustain the effort; the work and toil of the immigrants was profitless. The planners had been misled by reports of hugh naval store production in the Carolinas and their own ignorance of the geography and climate of the colonial empire. In 1711 many Palatines joined the military expedition to Canada to fight for the new homeland, and on their return decided to abandon the tar-making enterprise. Some migrated to Pennsylvania; other accepted the invitation of Indian chiefs to make their home in the Schoharie Valley. Others scattered throughout the Mohawk Valley seeking the elusive Promised Land.

Unaccustomed to the colonial laws governing land grants, most of the German settlers failed to protect their rights, settling on land already patented by others. Strife and hardship ensued again, before the problems of finding permanent homes were resolved.

In the Mohawk Valley settlements were made at Stone Arabia and German Flatts. In time, the entire Mohawk Valley and land to the south became inhabited by small colonies of Palatines. These people settled down to farm their land, content to wrest a peaceful existence from the soil.

Less than half a century later, their descendants were embroiled in the struggle of the colonies to secure independence from domination by the French in Canada, and shortly afterward found themselves fighting again in the war of the American Revolution. Washington's army depended upon the Mohawk Valley to supply food, but could ill afford to spare troops to defend the Valley. The Palatines built forts and harvested their wheat under arms.

When the vast British military campaign to divide the colonies in half began with a drive through New York State from Canada, an army of Palatine farmers under General Nicholas Herkimer fought the invading forces of British, Indians, and Hessians to a stand-still at Oriskany. This battle on 6 August 1777 was the bloodiest encounter of the Revolution in proportion to the forces engaged. A heavy toll was taken; many of the fallen in this encounter are still unnamed and their graves remain unmarked. Herkimer died of his wounds following amputation of his leg. His army dragged itself home believing it had been defeated. The British, alarmed by Indian treachery and the strategem of an American General, abandoned their siege of Fort Stanwix and fled back through the forest pursued by their erstwhile savage allies.

NEW YORK RESEARCH NOTES

George Tillapaugh, President of our New York Chapter, has sent us a copy of The Palatines of New York State, published by The Palatine Society of the United Evangelical Lutheran Church of New York and New England, Inc., in 1953. (A largely historical account, with an appendix containing a list of Palatine Heads of Families from Governor Hunter's Ration Lists, 1710-1714. Softbound, 6" x 9", 104 pp.) He also sends a list of 290 genealogies at Fonda and adds that there are many more at Herkimer. His own family genealogy (3 books) covers not just a single line, but eight generations with both male and female lines. New York Chapter has many volunteers answering genealogical questions; Mr. Tillapaugh himself handles four or five per week. For help on your New York lines, send your inquiry and a SASE to George Tillapaugh, 28 Pioneer Street, Cooperstown, NY 13326.

Coming in June or July is Hank Jones' new book, The Palatine Families of New York, a two-volume, fully documented study of all 847 "Palatine" families who arrived in colonial New York from Germany in 1710. The book was 15 years in preparation. To include:

Detailed data on German ancestries of over 500 of the 847 families, obtained in village-to-village searches- many families go back to 1600.

Documented information on the first few generations of the families in America, taking many groups from 1710 to 1776.

Newly-found materials from unpublished manuscripts found in archives in Germany, Holland and America.

Historical background of the emigration utilizing many hither-to unknown sources.

Clothbound, 1350 pages, including name and place index, illustrations, map, and appendices. $85 + $4.50 postage, handling (CA residents add tax). Orders or SASE for details to Henry Z. (Hank) Jones, Jr., P.O. Box 8341, Universal City, CA 91608.

father: 1690 zu Herbst Zeiten Theobald Paul Zinckgraff, Herren Engelbert Zinckgraff Sohn. (Theobald Paul Zinckgraff, son to Herr Engelbert Zinckgraff.) The use of the word Herr (Mr.) indicates the father had some status, possibly as member of the town council.

The records of this church begin in 1678. Theobald Paul's father is not named in his marriage record, and his age is not given at his death in 1734: this confirmation record gives the only available information about his birth and his father's name.

The first two examples above are from the records of the Reformed church in Gimmeldingen, the third from Haardt, both villages in the Palatinate.

By the mid-1800s, printed forms were available for all the various church records. I have seen in Beindersheim, another Palatine village, confirmations which include the date of confirmation, child's name, town where he was confirmed, town of his birth, name of both parents including the mother's maiden name, date of birth, age at confirmation, and a note indicating how well the child learned his catechism: gut, sehr gut, nicht sehr gut, schlecht (good, very good, not very good, bad). All in columns on printed pages.

In early Pennsylvania, church records in German do not always include confirmation lists either. When they do, the age is sometimes given, sometimes the name of the father (e.g., at Host Church), and rarely some comment on the child's learning. Due to a shortage of pastors, there simply is no average age for the confirmands.

In the records of Pastor Johannes Braun in the Shenandoah Valley of Virginia (tr. Klaus Wust, see Summer 1978 Immigrant), confirmation lists are given 1799-1813. The names are sometimes followed by the age and indication that this is a married person, but no further information is given. Ages vary from 15 to the 40's.

These early church records in German -- both in Germany and in the USA -- are Protestant church records. Catholic church records were written in Latin.

PALATINE, NEW YORK

Palatine Bridge, Montgomery County, New York, is a small village (population 601 in 1970) in an area that has been settled by "Palatines" since 1723.

The certificate for a Patent, dated Sept. 23, 1723, was issued to "John Christian Garlock, John Lawyer, Andries Feink, in behalf of themselves and others of the Distressed Palatines brought over into this Province in the year 1710...." This was the Stone Arabia Patent, containing 12,700 acres about two or three miles from the Mohawk River. About 60 families, led by Garlock, came north from the Schoharie Valley and Livingston Manor to settle in the area. This settlement developed into Palatine Bridge and the town of Palatine. (It should perhaps be explained that what is meant here by "town" is in some states a "township.") In 1775, the original name Stone Arabia was changed to Palatine.

At its inception, the Stone Arabia Congregation embraced a large territory, and a number of other Lutheran churches came into being through the labors of the pastors stationed at Stone Arabia. Among these was the Palatine Stone Church in the town of Palatine.

"The settlement at the river" was mentioned in the journal of the Rev. Peter Nicholas Sommer (pastor at Stone Arabia 1743-51) and again in the later records of the Rev. Peter Wilhelm Domeier. The church there, the Palatine Stone Church, is the oldest Lutheran church standing in the Mohawk Valley, and is built of roughly hewn limestone. Near the top of a side wall, over the place where the original entrance was situated, is a marble slab with this inscription: "Erbauet im Jahre Christo 1770, Den 18ten Aug." (Erected in the year of Christ 1770, on the 18th of August.) Below it, a bronze tablet has been placed on the wall, with this inscription: "Palatine Church. Erected 1770. This tablet placed here by St. Johnsville Chapter Daughters of the American Revolution. August 18, 1910."

Earlier Stone Arabia churches were burned during the Revolutionary War; this one, built of stone, escaped destruction. The mark of at least one cannon ball is still visible in the walls.

Palatine Periodical [illegible]

The Lutheran Church in Stone Arabia was organized probably in 1733, although a contract for the sale of a lot was made in 1729, "the lot to be held in trust for religious purposes." In 1744, the lot was divided between the Lutherans and the German Reformed. This deed is still in existence.

A list of the burials still legible in the Stone Arabia burying ground can be found in MacWethy's Book of Names;[1] all date from the 1800s and include Reas, Strayer, Van Slyke, Bauder, Klock, Pangburn, Lasher, Sarfass, Wick, Groz, Hartman, England, Empie, Lipe.

With the exception of a few years, the Palatine Stone Church was always in union with and a part of the Stone Arabia Congregation. All records of this church, so far as it is known, are included in the Stone Arabia records. Pastors of the church 1733-1830: Wilhelm Christoph Berkenmayer, Peter Nicholas Sommer, Johann Friederich Ries, Theophilus Engeland, Carl Friederich Salomo Friderici, Philipp Jacob Grotz, Peter Wilhelm Domeier, John Depeyster Lawyer.

The Dutch had settled in this area earlier than the Palatines. The Reformed Dutch Church of Stone Arabia, town of Palatine, was erected in 1788 to replace an earlier log structure, destroyed in the raid of 1780 as was the Lutheran Church at Stone Arabia.

The "Protocol von den Glidmaasen" (list of members) for the Dutch Reformed Church shows a mixture of Dutch and German names and spellings. The earliest surviving list is dated Jan. 13, 1739. In the following lists, the capitalization, spellings, and word divisions are given exactly as in the original.

1739, Jan. 13: Görg Cober Noll, Sartge Brauer, Robert gettert, Lisabet gerter, Joseb Stetter, Christina Erkart, Catharina Lisabet Schnell, Maria Elisabet Schnell, Catharina Stensell, Margaretha Wies,

Two houses should perhaps be mentioned. Fort Frey is a long story-and-a-half gable house, erected in 1739 on the site of the log cabin built in 1689 by Hendrick Frey, one of the first settlers of the middle Mohawk Valley. The Frey House, just northwest of Fort Frey, was built in 1808 by Major John Frey (1740-1833), veteran of Oriskany and author of Annals of Tryon County (1831), first history of the Mohawk Valley.

OTHER CELEBRATIONS

The 140th anniversary was held in 1910 at which time the D. A. R. unveiled a bronze tablet. Mrs. Leah A. Devendorf, then regent gave a talk on the history of the D. A. R. and the part the women of the Palatine church played in the Revolution. Attorney Joseph Nellis of Watertown, himself a descendant of the Palatines was the speaker of the day. Rev. J. Haher of Hartwick Seminary also delivered an address at this time.

VARIOUS CHANGES

Of the various changes in the church the most drastic was the removal of the interior arrangements taking away the high pulpit with its sounding board, the balcony and the old fashioned pews. This was opposed by the late Peter F. Nellis, who with prophetic vision foresaw the time when these things would come to have an increased value in the eyes of succeeding generations. The various changes have come about gradually and under the need of the times until the present day. That the sacredness of the edifice has come to have a greater hold on each generation is apparent and it is undoubtedly true that in the future there will be a tendency to preserve the edifice in its ancient form rather than to strive for modern effect. The building is in a good state of preservation as it stands today and to all intents and purposes is is as good as when built.

PASTORS OF PALATINE CHURCH

The history of Palatine Church is closely associated with that of Trinity Church of Stone Arabia inasmuch as both are of the Lutheran denomination and were served by the same pastor. Stone Arabia was settled by Dutch Reformed and German Lutheran settlers in 1720-3. Inasmuch as both charges were served by the same pastor we append a list of pastors which is kindly prepared for this booklet from the church records of Trinity Church at Stone Arabia. The list antedates Palatine but its historic interest is obvious and the entire list is printed. Palatine Church being built in 1770 would begin with the pastorate of the sixth Stone Arabia pastor, Theophilus England, 1766-1773. From 1773 to December, 1777, both churches were unsupplied but a glance at contemporary history and the ravages incident to the Revolutionary war will account for that. Then came Carl Frederich Friderici, 1777-1780. The same year Philip Jacob Grotz assumed charge and remained until the close of the century. These three men labored during the Revolutionary period and it is a matter of regret that their lives and works are not recorded more fully. On August 19, 1780 Stone Arabia was destroyed and the fate of Palatine Church hung on a bow string. The restraining hand of a British soldier stayed the flaming arrow affixed to the long bow of an Indian savage. This incident saved to us the splendid relic which 150 years after is the pride of the entire countryside.

GOV. SEYMOUR AT 100th ANNIVERSARY

At the Centennial Anniversary, August 18, 1870 Horatio Seymour, then governor of the State of New York closed his speech at Palatine Church with these words, as pertinent today as on the day they were delivered: "If the religious requirements of this community should ever demand a larger place of worship build anew, and on some other spot. For the sake of your forefathers whose memories and deeds we cherish, for the sake of yourselves and your posterity, I beg of you not to tear down that old landmark. Let it stand for a monument to the life of God and the religious liberty of its builders. When God in His own time sees fit to put it back to the dust from whence it sprang, He will do so. But don't, let me beseech of you, tear it down."

Foreword

THE writing of the life of Lutheran Trinity congregation has been in the mind of the author for many years. The intention focused in accomplishment, when at the 200th anniversary of the Church in June, 1929, he was asked to present an account of the congregation's history. Out of that paper has come this publication.

The sponsors of the effort are Rev. Stanley Haverly, the present pastor, the Ladies' Aid Society of the Church, and the following named people of the congregation:

John P. A. Failing
John Kahn
Albert F. Kilts
Judson S. Nellis
Charles Pultz
Myron H. Saltsman
Mr. and Mrs. William Walrath

It is our mutual hope that this history may not only be a matter of fact and record, but also be a continuous inspiration to the generations yet to be so that the congregation may continue into the future until human affairs shall be no more. To the glory of God and the spread of His Kingdom of peace among men and in the name of our Lord and Savior.

The Founders

"THE POOR PALATINES"

THIS is a phrase used in British and early New York documents to distinguish a certain group of Protestants who came to America through England in 1708, 1710 and the following years. And these "Poor Palatines" were the founders of Stone Arabia. It is a long story, the story of another Pilgrim Band, other Mayflowers, other tyrants, greater sacrifice, sublime courage, deeper faith, a more steadfast purpose—the story of a God-fearing folk seeking liberty and freedom to worship God. They came from the Upper and Lower Palatinates of the Rhine Valley, sections of Germany of varying areas on the ever changing map of Europe of the 15th, 16th and 17th centuries. The two Palatinates derived their names from the official titles of their rulers. The rulers were called Palatines.

Protestantism had taken firm root in Germany, where it eventually divided into two groups the Lutheran and Reformed Churches. In France, too, the seed of evangelical freedom had been sown, sprouted and grown. But, unlike Germany, the new church did not have the continued support of the civil powers. Hence when persecution assailed French Protestants, many found more tolerable conditions in Germany. They suffered, with the native people of the Rhine, the vengeance of the French King Louis XIV.

Lest any one think that the Palatines came to America solely for hope of financial betterment as did some who settled in other

Buildings and Improvements

NO one knows anything definite about the first church building erected for the joint use of both congregations. It was probably built of logs in 1729. Pastor Berkenmeyer says he preached in a building in 1734 that was built jointly by the Lutherans and Reformeds. The story runs (for which no one can vouch though it is quite likely true) that in 1733 the two parties started the erection of a better church on the northern half of the glebe where the Reformed Church now stands; and, that after the foundation was laid there was difficulty in deciding on a name for the church and the Lutherans withdrew to the old building where the Lutheran Church now stands, the original site of the first building, and continued to worship in the log church. The picture on back cover, an engraving on an old powder horn made in 1753 is probably a drawing of Lutheran Trinity Church, since the artist was a Lutheran. It was burned by Sir John Johnson and his Tories and Indians October 19, 1780.

From 1780 until 1788, Trinity Congregation was without a pastor. The devastation of the raid must have disheartened church work. No attempt seems to have been made to erect a new building until after peace was declared. From 1780 to 1792 they had no church building. They probably worshipped at the river (Palatine Stone Church) or in houses in the vicinity. Pastor Grosz came in 1788 and probably soon after they began to think of a new buildiing. It was in 1792 and on Sunday, July 1 of that year solemnly dedicated in the name of the Triune God. There was a great assemblage present. It was to remain forever in union with the Evangelical Lutheran Ministerium of the State of New York. Two texts were used by Pastor Grosz; the first from Neh. 8:10, "For this day is holy unto our Lord; neither be ye sorry; for the joy of the Lord is your strength." And the second was found in I Kings 8:28-29, "Yet have thou respect unto the prayer of thy servant, and unto his supplication, O Lord my God, to hearken unto the cry and to the prayer which thy servant prayeth before thee today. That thine eyes may be open toward this house night and day, even toward the place of which Thou hast said, My name shall be there." Pastor Grosz declared, "The sermon treated of the dignity and excellence of our house sanctified to public divine service." His dedicatory prayer was:

> "O Jesus Christ, Thou Son of the living God, Head of Christendom and Savior of all mankind, praised be Thy compassion, that we now again, the former house of worship having been laid in ashes in the fearful war, have a newly erected, beautiful and comfortable house, in which Thy name shall live.
> "Give grace, that I and all future laborers of Thy Word, shall preach Thy holy Gospel in this house, with manifestation of Thy Spirit and Thy power, and dispense with deep veneration Thy Sacraments, before Thy countenance. Give grace that the Word of the Lord may bring forth fruit, for eternal life in all who hear it. Thy Kingdom O King of Glory, come. Awaken all sinners to repentance, comfort all sorrowful, strengthen the weak, and support through Thy Word and Spirit the obedience to the faith. Graciously hear, according to Thy promise, our mutual supplication, prayer, entreaties and thanksgiving. Let teacher and congregation be prepared in the kingdom of mercy, for a glorious Jerusalem, of which the Apostle John says, 'And I saw no temple therein; for the Lord God Almighty and the Lamb are the temple of it.'
> "O my Lord and my God, so I entreat Thee in deepest humility."

This building dedicated in 1792 is practically the same as now in use, having been the place of worship for our fathers and grandfathers for 140 years. Several changes have been made and repairs and alterations made as necessity demanded.

In 1829, the church was painted white inside and out—just a century after the organization of the congregation.

In 1846, it was thoroughly renovated and rededicated. In 1860, the steeple was deemed dangerous. So the following company gathered June 11th to take it down:

THE RECORDS

THE first records in the possession of the Church were begun in 1751 by Rev. Johan Fried Ries, the first pastor of the Church to settle within the bounds of the congregation. He began his work December 1, 1751. The first entry in the record of his official ministerial acts is the birth of Johann Peter Wagener, son of Joh. Peter Wagener and Barbara Elizabetha. This boy was the grandson of the immigrant, Peter Wagner, and was born 6 November 1750, and probably baptized more than a year after at which time the birth date was set down.

However, Pastor Ries, did record the marriages and birth date of two individual families, which we find set down on the very first pages of the first volume of records.

The first family so noted was the family of Henrich Tillenbach and wife Anna Margretha Wagner. We can see why he should take special care of this family for he married the oldest daughter of Henrich, who was 16 years old when he became pastor. About three years later he married her.

For family reasons, he also recorded the family record of the family of his mother-in-law, the Wagner family.

When he baptized he recorded only the date of birth. Hence many such dates ante-date his coming to Stone Arabia, from which some have foolishly reasoned that the congregation was organized as early as the earliest birth date set down in his records of baptisms.

There are frequent breaks in the birth and baptism, the marriage and the burial records of the Church. If the pastors kept them privately they have never been found. This is regrettable. Birth and baptisms are recorded from 1751 down to the present time with one large gap extending from 1780 to 1788. This was the year, (October 1780) of Johnson's Raid and the burning of the Church. Pastor Friderici had left in May. No pastor was procurable until 1788. We have often wondered how the records escaped the fire and destruction of that terrible day.

There are no marriage records from 1751 to 1768; none from May, 1772 to October, 1774; none from 1780 to 1788; none from 1816 to 1826; a few from 1826 to 1833; none from 1830 to 1840.

There are no burial or death records from 1751 to 1768; none from 1770 to 1780; none from 1780 to 1810; none from 1814 to 1844.

Besides the records now in possession of the Church, there are many entries in the Schoharie Lutheran Church Book concerning Stone Arabia Lutheran affairs. (See Chapter on Pastors). No one knows just how often Pastor Berkenmeyer visited the congregation and how much his chronicle contains.

Get Schoharie

The first record of the congregation that we now have is contained in the Schoharie Lutheran Church Books where the Rev. Peter Nicholas Sommer who was the first Lutheran resident pastor of that Church inserted in the Schoharie record the names of the members of the congregation at Stone Arabia and Caniscohare. These names are apparently set down as families wherever there was husband and wife with children in the home. The record is old and the writing in places is illegible and in other places margins have become frayed and torn. The blank brackets and starred line indicate either blank lines in the original or names that are now indecipherable.

Get Congrega

Bear in mind that Pastor Sommer arrived in America in 1743. He reached Schoharie 25th May 1743. At once, the Schoharie congregation consented to his desire to minister to the Lutherans in Stone Arabia and Cani-scohare. He preached his first sermon in Stone Arabia on the 10th day of July, 1743. So it is probable that he made the following list of the Stone Arabia and Caniscohare members in the summer of 1743. However, we must not conclude that every name in the list was set down in that year. A close study of the family groups would show that names were added later. For example, Christian Dillenbach appears in the family list and likewise as a family head. Where he appears as a married man with Anna Maria as his wife, the entry is made in lead pencil thus showing a later entry than 1743. All the en-

Note. Entry No. 3. By pencil marks and arrow lines similar to those on page 131, it is indicated that the parents of the child were Johannes Schulz and Anna Schulz. As no authority is given for the change, and as it was in all likelihood not made by Dominie Groz, the record has been transcribed as written by the recorder. Witnesses as indicated, Han J. Waggoner and Catarina.

Dear Mrs. Humphrey,

I assist Mrs. Rathburn with the searches from Montgomery County. I have been having quite a difficult time trying to find anything on your family.

In the Trinity Lutheran Church in Stone Arabia, Montgomery County, I did find the following:

1810 Palatine NY Philip Gayler + family.

Hiram Gaylor	Jirolle aka Eurilla	#4404
Sally (AKA SARAH)	bo. 3.20.1828
	bp. 5.28.1828
		sponsors-
Hiram Galor	John Weber	Henrich Pieler
Sally	bo. 8.9.1831	Widow Weber
(I missed this one)	bp. 9.25.1831

I found no Philip Gaylor in the 1820 census, ~~however there is a Philey Gaylor in town of Bloomfield, Ontario County.~~

1820 Palatine NY clearly: Philip Galer + ages of all in family match exactly

Neither of our two Montgomery County histories gives us a clue on this family.

Married--In this city, on Saturday evening last, by the Rev. Mr. Proal, Mr. James Gaylord, to Miss Nancy Stevenson, both of Albany.

Is it possible that Sally Weaver could be Sally Weber? Just a thought since she named her son John Weber and a widow Weber was a sponsor. Same people as Weber in church are Weaver on census (Trinity Church used the Weber names ignoring weaver)

weber + weaver names interchanged

I also work at the State Library in Albany and have checked several records there including the Weaver and Stephenson names. I have found nothing on the Dennick name. All the D.A.R. records we have have been checked on the Gaylor/Galord name. Also, I've been checking Albany cemeteries but so far have found nothing.

~~There appears to be some Gaylord's in the Mayfield area. Eleazor Gaylord of Mayfield had a will dated January 8, 1803 and probated February 15, 1803. This mentions his wife; sons Eleazor P. and Gilbert; daughters. Executors: wife, Joseph Newton. Witnesses: Ashben Cornwell and Alexander Murray.~~

~~Also, Eleazor Gaylord of Mayfield, had a will dated April 12, 1805 and probated January 22, 1807. This mentions wife Eunice; dau. Molly, dead, 1st wife of Ebenezer Warner and their children; dau. Hannah, wife of Samuel Denison, Margaret, wife of Daniel Dwight, Millicent, wife of John Brown; grand daughter Fanny Cale.
Executors: Samuel Denison, Rosal Churchill, Hezekiah Warner.~~

I'll continue to do a little more research on this in hopes of finding something else for you.

Sincerely,
Joan

IT MUST BE NOTED THAT THE COMPUTER (PARISH) PRINT-OUT IS AN ALPHABETICAL LISTING OF INDIVIDUALS BY THE SURNAME ASSIGNED BY THE TRANSCRIBER. SHOULD YOU BE SEEKING THE RECORD OF ANE HANSEN AND HER FATHER'S NAME WAS HANS SVENDSEN BAGER YOU WILL NEED TO CHECK UNDER THREE POSSIBILITIES, THAT IS, UNDER HANSEN, SVENDSEN, AND BAGER.

WALES AND ENGLAND: IN WALES AND IN PARISHES IN ENGLAND CLOSE TO THE WELSH BORDER, THE PATRONYMICAL SYSTEM IS PRACTICALLY CONFINED TO THE USING OF GIVEN NAMES AS PATRILINEAL SURNAMES WITHOUT ANY ADDITION OF "SON". CHRISTENING (BIRTH) ENTRIES ARE OFTEN RECORDED BY SHOWING A LIST OF NAMES FOR THE FATHER INDICATING THE LINEAGE, WITHOUT PRECISELY DEFINING ANY SURNAMES.

THE NAMING CUSTOM IN WALES AND IN ENGLAND ON THE BORDERS OF WALES WAS NOT DROPPED AT ANY PARTICULAR TIME, BUT THE INTRODUCTION OF THE ENGLISH TYPE OF PARISH REGISTER OF BLANK FORMS IN 1813, FORCED THE PARISH MINISTERS TO RECORD A "SURNAME" WHETHER ONE EXISTED OR NOT. IT IS KNOWN, HOWEVER, FROM FAMILY RECORDS, CENSUS RECORDS, POST-1837 MARRIAGE RECORDS, ETC., THAT MANY PERSONS LIVING LATER THAN THE 1850S WERE STILL USING THEIR FATHER'S FIRST GIVEN NAME, OR A MODIFIED FORM OF IT, AS THEIR PATRONYMICAL SURNAME. (SEE GENEALOGICAL DEPT. RESEARCH PAPER, SERIES A, NO. 6 WELSH PATRONYMICS AND PLACE NAME PROBLEMS IN WALES AND MONMOUTHSHIRE.) ASSIGNING A PATRILINEAL SURNAME DOES NOT CHANGE THE PARISH REGISTER ENTRY NOR DOES IT AFFECT THE VALIDITY OF THE RECORD EVEN THOUGH SOME FAMILIES WERE NOT FOLLOWING THE GENERAL CUSTOM.

WHEN THE CHRISTENING (BIRTH) RECORDS CONTAINING PATRONYMICAL SITUATIONS WERE ENTERED INTO THE COMPUTER, THE DATA WAS ENTERED AS FOLLOWS:

GIVEN NAME OF THE CHILD: ALL ARE ENTERED AS SHOWN IN THE REGISTER.

SURNAME OF THE CHILD: THIS IS DERIVED FROM THE FIRST GIVEN NAME OF THE FATHER WHEN HIS NAME IS SHOWN. IF ONLY THE MOTHER'S NAME IS SHOWN, HER PATRILINEAL SURNAME IS USED.

EXAMPLES OF ENTRIES IN PARISH REGISTERS: THESE WILL APPEAR IN THE COMPUTER (PARISH) PRINT-OUT AS FOLLOWS:

	SURNAME	GIVEN	REL	PARENTS AND OTHER DATA
	*PHILLIP
A. JOHN AP PHILIP AP THOMAS AP WILLIAM HENRY	PHILIP	JOHN	S	PHILIP THOMAS WILLIAM HENRY

IMPORTANT INSTRUCTIONS

PATRONS SHOULD NOT SUBMIT TO THE GENEALOGICAL DEPARTMENT ANY RECORDS COMPILED FROM THIS PRINT-OUT. BIRTHS AND CHRISTENINGS ONLY HAVE BEEN USED IN THIS TABULATION, THEREFORE THE APPEARANCE OF AN OCCASIONAL BURIAL OR DEATH DATE IN A CHRISTENING (BIRTH) RECORD DOES NOT INDICATE THAT ALL THE BURIALS HAVE BEEN CHECKED. EFFORTS HAVE BEEN MADE TO ACCURATELY TRANSCRIBE FROM THE RECORD SUFFICIENT INFORMATION TO IDENTIFY THE INDIVIDUAL. THE RECORD FROM WHICH THIS TABULATION WAS PREPARED MAY CONTAIN ADDITIONAL INFORMATION SUCH AS OCCUPATIONS, RESIDENCES, ETC., NOT TRANSCRIBED IN THIS PRINT-OUT. IN THIS PARISH THE BURIAL AND MARRIAGE REGISTERS AND ALL OTHER AVAILABLE AND OBTAINABLE SOURCES MUST BE SEARCHED TO COMPILE ACCURATE RECORDS OF COMPLETE FAMILIES. PATRONS SHOULD REFER TO THE RECORD FROM WHICH THIS PRINT-OUT WAS PREPARED TO VERIFY THE ACCURACY OF THE TABULATED DATA AND FOR POSSIBLE ADDITIONAL INFORMATION. GENEALOGICAL DEPARTMENT LIBRARY CALL NUMBERS OF THE RECORD USED FOR THIS TABULATION HAVE BEEN PROVIDED ABOVE FOR THIS PURPOSE.

EXPLANATIONS:
ENTRIES HAVING MISSING OR ILLEGIBLE SURNAMES ARE PRINTED AT THE BEGINNING OF THIS PRINT-OUT.

LATIN GIVEN NAMES, SURNAMES, AND SEX DESIGNATIONS HAVE, IN SOME CASES, BEEN TRANSLATED.

VARIATIONS OF THE SAME SURNAME HAVE BEEN COMBINED AS NEAR AS POSSIBLE UNDER A STANDARD SPELLING. THE SURNAME INDEX AT THE FRONT OF THIS PRINT-OUT MUST BE USED TO DETERMINE THE STANDARD SPELLING UNDER WHICH THE VARIATIONS MAY BE GROUPED. EXAMPLE: BROUEN, BROWNE, BROWEN, ETC., ALL VARIATIONS OF BROWN, ARE GROUPED UNDER THE STANDARD SPELLING, BROWN. USERS ARE ADVISED TO CHECK THIS SURNAME INDEX FOR UNUSUAL VARIATIONS OF A SURNAME, PERHAPS SUCH AS YEVANS WHICH IS NOT NECESSARILY COMBINED UNDER EVANS.

THE ABBREVIATION "E" APPEARING ADJACENT TO ENTRIES INDICATES THAT THEY HAVE BEEN EVALUATED FOR ACCURACY OR CLARIFICATION.

ABBREVIATIONS USED ARE LISTED AT THE BEGINNING OF THIS PRINT-OUT.

NOTE: USERS OF THESE PRINT-OUTS ARE ADVISED TO OBTAIN AND STUDY THE MORE DETAILED PRINTED INSTRUCTIONS FOUND IN THE PAMPHLET: THE GENEALOGICAL DEPARTMENT'S NAME EXTRACTION PROGRAMS, SERIES F, NO. 3.

Dear Jacqueline Humphrey

Keler

Thank you for your patience in awaiting a reply to your Research Request of March 14th concerning the ancestry of Philip GAYLOR/ KELLER. I was able to locate a few items for you that you likely didn't have before, I was not able to solve the mystery as to who Philip was the son of. In assembling the Philip KELLER family, we find: Lutheran Trinity Church, Stone Arabia, NY. (Palatine NY) (Montgomery Co.)

could be that the births were entered later for the 3 sons, and bpt elsewhere

Since sponsors at a baptism are such important clues in dealing with NYS research, it is unfortunate that we are advised of only one set of the sponsors in the above four baptisms. With this information, we might suspect that Henry and/or Elizabeth are related to the parents. I found that Henry Lasher had a sister, Anna Margaret, who was b 6.1.1773 and would be of the correct age to have been the Margaret who married your Philip KELLER. You might file this as a possibility.

Lasher from father?

b by abt 10 yrs mot Gaylor Philip 1794 1856 Cole [illegible] birth 1783

A bit of conflicting information that I located (in regard to the above possibility) was the following item: Reformed Dutch Church of Caughnawaga, Montgomery Co NY – Church later became Fonda Reformed in Fonda NY

Fred ~~KELLER~~ KALER and Margaret STILLENNER

Fonda Fond Ref 2536 Margaret, b 12.23.1799 spon Philip ~~Keller~~ KEALOR & Margaret Gibson maybe!

If this sponsor, Philip, is your Philip then we might suspect that the Margaret who is sponsoring with him is his wife but the minister who recorded the information sheds no light on that possibility. Still, we might keep Gibson in mind as a possible maiden name.

Perhaps it is the above Catherine who is the "probable daughter born between 1794-1800" that you mention in your family history outline.

Note that Hiram's first known child Eurilla was born 20 March 1828, so he was likely married at least a year before this deed. Philip's eldest known son James was not yet married. It would seem that Philip was getting ready to move to Albany in 1829. It is unknown if Philip owned any additional real estate. Philip was a tradesman and likely did not need the same acreage as that of a farmer.
Note that Stonerabia as written is known as Stone Arabia.

Seemingly 2 deeds $400 for land on the south side of the highway + $50 for land on the north side of the highway.

David Sager, Commissioner.
Recorded the 14th day of March 1831, A.J. Comnic of Comrie, Clerk.

This seems to be the same land that Hiram's father Philip, sold him in 1829, and sold for almost the same price. This seemingly, was the time that Hiram was moving to Albany.
Spize 1835, Grantee Index, Hiram Gaylord (sic), was Grantee; Canal Appraisement, was the Grantor, I think FHC Index Reel A-G, 506485. I ordered Deeds Reel 506512 in error, because I read the deed as in Bk 38, p. 341, but the deed did not appear there. I think it should have been Bk 36, p. 341, not ordered. I should order Reel 506511, for Bks 36, 37.

☞ Worth Knowing.—Prof. Wood, whose advertisement will be found in another column, has discovered a remedy for the gray and bald, which is at once natural and cheap. It requires no dyeing, no wig, [illegible]. There can be no doubt whatever [illegible]. We have seen testimonials almost innumerable [illegible] from men of great intelligence, high standing [illegible]. Persons who have been bald for years are now wearing their own hair, [illegible] years younger than they [illegible]. As in most cases gray hairs and baldness are both premature and unnatural, it is a duty [illegible] to the natural and undoubted means which Prof. Wood has invented, and now kindly offers to the afflicted. Try this wonderful remedy, and give the Professor a new testimonial.—Memphis Whig.

Dear Mr. May,

I recently sent a money order for $10 to obtain a copy of the ORIGINAL DEATH CERTIFICATE of my great great grandfather Hiram Gaylor who died 7 Oct. 1856 in the City of Buffalo. I am returning what you sent me which is an unacceptable letter with incomplete information. Note that there is NO DEATH DATE LISTED, NO CERTIFICATE NUMBER and no date when you issued the letter to me. Also, the place of birth is incorrect. He RESIDED on E. Seneca St. when he died. I suspect that is where the typist got that address, perhaps from a cardfile. Gaylor was born in Montgomery Co. NY. It does not appear that the typist consulted the original death certificate.

I presume the original DEATH CERTIFICATE is on microfilm. I am returning the unacceptable letter with incomplete information. I am requesting replacement with a photocopy of the ORIGINAL DEATH CERTIFICATE which would have ALL the information. I was hoping to find the names of his parents listed. If you cannot supply an acceptable certificate, please refund my money.

I was employed in Buffalo for many years. I surely expected a more efficient response. I was quite disappointed.

SASE enclosed

Sincerely,

Jacqueline Humphrey

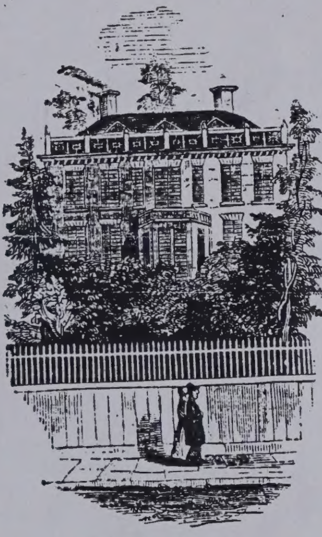
having been imported from Holland expressly for the purpose.

The Van Rensselaer Mansion in Greenbush stands nearly opposite the blast furnace, and is supposed to have been built by Johannes Van Rensselaer as early as 1663. It is of brick brought from Holland. An addition was built in 1740. The original building was used as a fort, and some of the port-holes are visible in the stone walls. In the addition are forty or fifty curious tiles, representing Scripture scenes.



Schuyler Mansion.

Schuyler Mansion, head of Schuyler street, a little west of South Pearl, is of brick, with a closed octagonal porch in front. It was built by Mrs. Schuyler while her husband, General Philip Schuyler, was in England, in 1760–61. The old family mansion, large and highly ornamented in the Dutch style, stood nearly upon the site of the present City Hall, and was taken down in 1800. In this latter mansion General Schuyler and his family dispensed a princely hospitality for almost forty years. When General Burgoyne surrendered at Saratoga in 1777, he and other prisoners were sent forward to Albany, General Schuyler writing to his wife to give the English General the very best reception in her power.

"The British commander was well received," writes the Marquis de Chastellux, "and lodged in the best apartment in the house. An excellent supper was served him, the honors of which were done with so much grace that he was affected even to tears, and said with a deep sigh: 'Indeed this is doing too much for a man who has ravaged their lands and burnt their dwellings.'"

In 1781 a plan was laid to capture General Schuyler and take him to Canada. A party of Tories, Canadians and Indians surrounded the house for several days, and at length forced an entrance. The family collected in an upper room, forgetting to take with them an infant child sleeping in the nursery. The mother was flying back to the rescue when the General prevented her, but the third daughter, afterwards the wife of the last of the Patroons, rushed downstairs, snatched her sister from the cradle and bore her off in safety. As she sprang up the stairs, an Indian hurled a tomahawk at her, which cut her dress a few inches from the infant's head, and struck the stair-rail at the lower turn, where the mark is still pointed out.

The assailants were frightened from their purpose and fled to Canada, carrying with them much of the General's plate, but not the General. In this house Lafayette, Count de Rochambeau, Baron Steuben, Aaron Burr, Benjamin Franklin, Charles Carroll, of Carrollton, and many other notable personages were entertained. December 14, 1780, Alexander Hamilton and Elizabeth Schuyler were married in this house, and another notable wedding that took place here was that of Mrs. McIntosh, who owned the property, to ex-President Fillmore.

Robert Yates' House.

Robert Yates was one of the leading jurists and statesmen of his time. The above cut is a view of his residence on State street.

CHURCHYARDS AND CEMETERIES.

In the earliest days of our city the dead were buried near the places where they cast off their mortal coil, and turned to dust without any monumental mark of any kind. When lands began to be occupied at a later date by families, some spot was selected on the homestead and inclosed for burial of their dead. Sometimes a tomb was erected for this purpose.

Around the churches a home for the dead, "God's acre," was always reserved, called the churchyard. The first churchyard was set apart close by the first church erected, on what is now Church street, near old Fort Orange, in 1643. Thirteen years after, in 1656, another edifice was erected at the junction of State street and Broadway, around which the dead were buried for many years, until the third edifice was built, some forty years later, on Beaver street. Here a church stood for about a century and three quarters, long known as the Middle Dutch Church. Many changes were made in the structure to adapt it to growing demands, until recently it was taken down and the ground occupied by a building called the City Market. A new and admirable structure succeeds it at corner of Madison avenue and Swan street. Here about the Beaver street Church the city dead were laid away for over a century, numbering thousands. From 1722 to 1759, the records give a list of 1,759 burials. Many were removed from the State street grounds, and yet human bones have recently been excavated there of some neglected ones.

When the churchyard became completely covered with tombs, a layer of earth was superimposed, and new graves were made, so that three tiers of coffins, closely compacted side by side, lay one above another. About 1780 the place had been abandoned, and a city burial lot was established south of the old Capitol Park. A new church structure was erected on the old lot in 1805, but it no longer had a city churchyard. The new lot south of the Capitol, and appropriated for a common burial ground in 1789, was bounded by Eagle on the east, State on the north, and Lancaster on the south. Lots were set apart for the different churches.

LODGE AT RURAL CEMETERY.

The Lutherans had a burial ground in connection with the Evangelical Lutheran Ebenezer Church, founded in 1680, on the site of the present Music Hall and City Building. For over a century this 1780 church buried their dead here. When the old Centre Market, which occupied this ground many years, was demolished in 1868, the remains were removed to the Rural Cemetery.

The First Presbyterian Church, established in 1763, had a burial lot until about 1760, in constant use, in the square bounded by Hudson avenue, Grand, Beaver, and William streets.

The next public cemetery, established far outside the settled part of the city, in State street, near Knox, began to be occupied in 1806. It was surrounded by a fence ten feet high, and divided among the different religious congregations. It was thus used about sixty years, when, in 1868, the bodies were removed to the Rural Cemetery, and the ground was made a part of Washington Park. The reinterment was made at the expense of the city, under arrangements with the various religious congregations which occupied burial lots on these grounds. The Common Council appointed a committee, consisting of Peter M. Carmichael, William S. Paddock, William H. Taylor, Edmund L. Judson, and Thomas Mulhall, to act in its behalf.

The Albany Rural Cemetery had its origin in a sermon preached by the Rev. B. T. Welch, D.D., in the Pearl street Baptist Church, December, 1840. April 2, 1841, an Association was incorporated, consisting of Rev. Dr. B. T. Welch, first President of the Association; Anthony M. Strong, first Secretary and Treasurer; Stephen Van Rensselaer, John A. Dix, John Q. Wilson, James Homer, Peter Gansevoort, Thomas W. Olcott, Ezra P. Prentice, John Wendell, Ellis Baker, Ira Harris, Archibald McIntyre. The Committee to locate and improve the grounds were B. T. Welch and Thomas W. Olcott, who selected the site April 20, 1844. The cemetery originally contained 100 acres, a part of which formerly belonged to Thomas Hillhouse. This portion was consecrated October 7, 1844, with impressive and imposing ceremonies.* The first interment was made in May, 1845. Additions by purchase have been made, and the Association now owns 281½ acres.

This beautiful and diversified cemetery is situated in the township of Watervliet, about three miles

* At the consecration, Daniel D. Brainard was the orator; Alfred B. Street, the poet. Revs. Dr. W. B. Sprague and H. Potter were the clergy; and active on that day and in the whole work as long as they lived, besides the Trustees, were Gideon Hawley, Amos Dean, Otis Allen, Lewis Benedict, Matthew Patten, and many others. General Rufus King was the Marshal. In natural and artistic beauty, this cemetery has been spoken of by good critics as excelled only by that of Cincinnati.

north of the City of Albany, and is easy of access by private conveyance on the Troy Turnpike road, by the West Troy Horse-Cars, and by the Delaware and Hudson Canal Company's Railroad. This road has a station near the entrance to the cemetery.

The cemetery grounds possess in a remarkable degree the natural conditions desired in physical structure and adaptability. Its undulating contour and diversified variety; its picturesque expanse of hill and dale, ravine and dell, stream and cascade, sparkling rivulets, bubbling fountains, placid ponds, rocky cliffs, sylvan nooks, and miniature forests—attractions rare and unique—combine to place this cemetery among the finest in the country.

The whole grounds are planned and platted with the taste and skill of artistic engineering, and the sculptor's work is seen from every point, as the eye wanders over the many monuments and other mementoes of the departed.

Broad avenues and drives lined with shade trees, intricate labyrinths of walks and paths, serve to perplex the visitor in his rambles here, in this silent city of the dead.

A natural feature is the division of this area into three ridges, designated South, Middle and North, running east and west, through which pass two never failing streams of water, which are used to advantage in ornamentation and giving wide diversity of scenic effect.

Jeffrey P. Thomas, succeeding his father, is the Superintendent and Surveyor. He is a man of excellent taste and judgment.

St. Agnes' Cemetery adjoins the Rural Cemetery on the south, and is approached by a beautiful tree-lined avenue, nearly half a mile long, by the same public conveyances that serve for the Rural. This cemetery contains 50 acres, and is on the same ridge with the Rural, and handsomely and tastefully arranged. The Association was incorporated May 9, 1867, with the following officers: Right Rev. John J. Conroy, Rev. Edgar P. Wadhams, Peter Cagger, Presidents; William S. Preston, Secretary and Treasurer; John Tracey, James Hall, William Cassidy, Thomas Mattimore, John Stuart, Joseph Clinton, Robert Higgins, John McCardle, John Mullen, Henry Lucke, Directors. Thomas Kearney is Superintendent. The cemetery grounds were consecrated on the 19th of May, 1867, by the Right Rev. Bishop Conroy, assisted by the clergy of the city, in the presence of a large assembly, who witnessed the solemn and impressive ceremony.

Anshe Emeth Cemetery adjoins the Rural Cemetery on the northeast, and contains four acres. It was first appropriated as a place of interment for the Members of the Jewish Congregation, Anshe Emeth. In 1862 it was surveyed into lots; and in 1875 it was incorporated as a Cemetery Association. The grounds are arranged in excellent taste, and general simplicity is observed in the order of design, which adds much to the whole appearance. The natural features in some respects resemble those of the Rural, yet lack in the great diversity and changeable character of surface.

This cemetery is reached by the Loudonville plank road, also by the way leading to the Rural. The officers are Joseph Sporberg, J. Laventall, Isaac Waldman, S. Bonday. C. Tasler is Superintendent.

Other cemeteries are those of the Catholic Congregations of St. Mary and St. Joseph, within the bounds of the city on Washington avenue.

St. John's Catholic Church has a cemetery on Delaware avenue, which has been used since August 28, 1841, and another near Bethelehem centre.

St. Patrick's Catholic Church has its cemetery on the Albany and Schenectady Turnpike. St. John's Evangelical Lutheran Society has one on the Sandhill road, consecrated in 1846 and abandoned about ten years later. The cemetery at the Almshouse is devoted to the burial of those who die while in the institution or in the Penitentiary, and the unclaimed dead of the streets and river.

St. Peter's Church occupies ground once devoted to the burial of the early settlers. Lands near Hudson and Grand, and on the corner near Howard and South Pearl, were also used. Some years after this a portion of Washington Park was used.

The people of the old town of Colonie had lands given them by the Patroon for burial purposes on Arbor Hill between Second and Third streets, above Ten Broeck, where St. Joseph's Church now stands. It was used about twenty years.

On the southwest corner of Hamilton and South Pearl streets was the family burial ground of the Halenbecks. The property was sold for taxes, a portion of the proceeds being used for the purchase of a lot and monument in the Rural Cemetery, to which their remains were removed in 1860.

MOHAWK AND HUDSON RIVER RAILROAD.

The cut on next page represents the style of the first passenger train propelled by steam in America. It was used on the Mohawk and Hudson Railroad between Albany and Schenectady, the first successful railroad in this country for carrying passengers.

The charter for the building of this road was granted by the Legislature March 27, 1826. Stephen Van Rensselaer, the Old Patroon, was the leading capitalist in what was then considered a visionary scheme. Work upon its construction began July 29, 1830, and may be said to have been completed September 24, 1831. An excursion over the road was then given by the Directors, to which were invited State and city officials and eminent citizens.

The cut used in connection with this article is said to be a faithful representation of the train used upon this occasion. The cars were simply stage-coach bodies made by James Goold, the famous coach-builder, and placed upon trucks for temporary use, affording seats for twelve or eighteen passengers each. A speed at the rate of thirty miles an hour was reached.

This road, as at first constructed, extended from the junction of the Western Turnpike and Lydius

Betty and Homer, would you please send me a copy of your birth certificates and marriage certificates, please. I am updating my proofs of lineage in books I keep for that purpose. Please send this email on to David and Chris and James. You might want to keep a copy, because once I am gone, you won't get this anywhere else. Steve please show this to Marlis.

I have been organizing my proofs of lineage with copies to submit to the Mayflower society on Governor William Bradford which goes up to our Collins line.
If my proofs are accepted, then all of you and your children would find it easy to prove your own for joining Mayflower Soc'y. They also have a Junior membership for children.

Mayflower Soc'y is considered a prestigious society. Also, it looks good on applications for jobs.

So, I have been revisiting my family papers and thought I would give you a bit of history.

The Gaylor family resided in the Hudson/MO hawk area of NYS as early as 1800. They lived where the poor German Palatine families who immigrated in 1710 settled. The NY thruway runs along the town of Palatine, in Montgomery County, east of Syracuse. There is a lot of history during the Revolutionary War in that area. There is also much history on the Palatines who came in 1710, were promised land by Livingston, who reneged on his promises. Very interesting reading. I can give you references if you are interested.
Remember the movie, Drums Along the Mohawk.

I cannot find the parents of Sally (Weaver) Gaylor, but I think she descended from the poor German Palatine families that came to America in 1710.
Three main unrelated Weaver families came over at the same time. Some of them called themselves Weber, which is interchangeable name.

Philip Gaylor is our earliest ancestor who lived in the town of Palatine by 1800. At that time it was called Stone Arabia. My proofs are in the baptisms of his children there, including our Hiram Gaylor who married Sally Weaver.
Philip and his children moved to Albany by 1834. Philip then died abt 1837 when he disappeared from the city directories, but his wife Margaret still appeared. He had his own business with a partner. I think it was a brewery or barrel maker, not looking it up just now.

Lutheran Church

Philip's son Hiram Gaylor, our great great grfather, left Albany abt 1853 to move to Buffalo, after our Nellie Louisa Gaylor was born in Albany about 1847, as found on census in both Albany and in Bflo. Hiram Gaylor died in Bflo in 1856. Nellie was usually called Louise.

I Don't know where they were in 1860, because I cannot find Sally on census. However, our great great grandmother, Sally Weaver Gaylor died in Brooklyn in 1865 and the daughters were all in Bklyn with her except one who stayed in Albany and married Hubbard.

Sally was buried in Greenwood cemetery. With her death, Philip and Hiram were exhumed from Albany, and moved to Greenwood. I had always known that dau. Catherine married Wm Bow, but Sally's obit. in Bklyn Daily Eagle listed that TWO of her sons in law were named Wm Bow, who were cousins to each other. The Bow family had also lived in Albany. They had known each other long before the move to Bklyn. In Brooklyn, some of the Gaylor girls were known as Gaylord.

In Greenwood cemetery, both names were listed, one of the girls never married and was known Gaylord.

Our great grandsmother, Nellie Louisa Gaylor also must have been known as Gaylord, according to records that I found. Both Homer and Irene Davidson Howard also said the name was Gaylord. Well, dear Louise, or Louisa, married three times and with each marriage she became younger. Her daughters also had to become younger to support this fiction. I suspect that women had to be inventive to catch a husband to support them, in the days when women didn't have occupations. I will call her Louise, so as not to confuse you about her daughter, our grandmother, also called Nellie Louise Collins.

gr. grparents

Civil War Vet

Louise Gaylor married first to Wm T. Collins Jr. in 1865 in Bklyn. They were divorced in 1878 acc. to his Civil War pension papers, but I found them living together in 1880 census in Bklyn. They had 2 children Nellie Louise and Edith Collins. Edith, our great Aunt, was the first known family member who went blind from Retinitis Pigmentosis. I remember her. Louise then married Edward Augustus Clark who died abt 3 1/2 yrs after the marriage. No ch. by this marr. Louise them married Chas. Caldwell, who survived her. No ch. by this marr. In 1900, they all lived together, Louise + Caldwell husb, Edith + Davidson husb, Nellie + Baker husb. + the ch. Homer Baker + Clyde Davidson desc. of Wm Bradford of Mayflower.

So, the blindness has to come down the Gaylor/Weaver family line or the Collins/Von Vultee line. I have researched the Collins/Von Vultee line thoroughly, and found no blindness on census. I tend to think it must have come down the Gaylor/Weaver line.

`--------`

Our grandmother Nellie Louise Collins, the Vaudeville actress, married Charles Henry Baker who died young from Diabetes before Insulin was discovered. Chas. was a business manager in Bflo and was Treasurer of the Grand Opera House in Bklyn. He did well financially. Nellie then married Jack/John Fisher, whom I remember. Nellie ran a boarding house to support herself in her widowhood and married one of her boarders. The family said she married him for a meal ticket. He was a butcher. Nellie also became younger with each marriage. They purch. a house 449 E 25th Bklyn by 1928.

→ Chas b. in Camillus Onon Co. NY

Both Nellie Louisa Jr. and Nellie Louisa Sr. married men younger than themselves.

So, the Sally/Hiram Gaylor family arrived in Bklyn between 1856 and 1865. William Collins Sr. arrived in Manhattan before 1841 when he married Jeannette (Von Vultee) Mayo there. The Von Vultee family immigrated about 1804 to Pennsylvania and were in Manhattan as early as 1817 in Lutheran church records there. Bklyn was a separate city, not part of NYC until 1898. Of course, there were ferries across the river and many people lived in Bklyn and worked in Manhattan, just as in the present time.

`-------------`

Our father, Homer Baker was employed in Panama as Athletic Director for the Federal Gov't, I think, just after WWI. He moved to San Antonio as Athletic Director by 1923 or 24, where he met our mother Georgia who was his nurse when he had his appendix out.

Georgia's mother Jennie Brelsford had two marriages, both were her cousins. Her first husb. was Dr. David M. Dodds, whom she married in TX, who was killed in a hunting accident in TX. Her 2nd husb. was David A. Black, whom she married in TX. All three families Brelsford, Dodds and Black were from Caldwell Co. KY.

The Brelsford family moved to TX in 1870. The Black family moved to TX in 1878. This was after the Civil War that ended in 1865. The Black fam. had slaves in KY. One of the Dodds men married into the Brelsford family and moved to TX with the Brelsfords. That is how the Dodds brother, Dr. Dodds, happened to go to TX after his divorce. There he married Jennie Brelsford.

David A. Black didn't stay in TX with his father David L. Black. He returned to KY, perhaps to manage family land there. He married in KY Ellen O'Brien, whose father came from Ireland. She died within a year of the marriage. No issue.

So, David A. Black and Jennie Brelsford Dodds were without spouses. Jennie had no children by Dodds. Black came to TX, married Jennie and promptly took her back to Fredonia, Caldwell Co. KY in 1898. They ahd 3 ch., bang, bang, bang - 1899 to 1901. Black contracted Tuberculosis by 1902 and was hemorrhaging. His parents were dead and so were hers. Jennie took them all back to Leesville Texas, where her siblings resided. Black died there in 1903. Gonzales Co

David had no ch by O'Brien

Jennie (Brelsford) (Dodds) Black died in 1910 in San Antonio. Mom said she died from Ptomaine poisoning from home canned food, but the death certif. gives a different diagnosis. The three orphan childen were taken in by their Uncle Charlie Black in 1910. Charlie had no children. He was kicked by a horse and died the same year. Charlie's wife Sarah Haynes was not a blood relative, but her brother had married a Brelsford also, sister of Charlie Brelsford.

Ch prob in Gonzales or Bexar Co in 1910 census

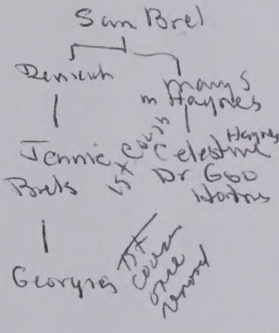
The family story is that Sarah (Haynes) Brelsford, et all, didn't want the children to be separated and have to live with relatives, and perhaps work in the cotton fields. They decided to send them to an orphan's home in Dallas, which was some distance from San Antonio and Leesville. So, Mom was raised from age 10 in Orphan's home, until she returned to San Antonio area to be educated as a nurse in her ~~Uncle's~~ cousin's hospital. He was Dr. Geo Holmes who had married a ~~Brelsford~~ Haynes. I don't know why Mom's brother Charlie and her sister Kate Black were not offered an education. Perhaps they didn't show as much promise. I do know that Kate had been kicked by a horse when a child and had some continuing problems from that injury.

celestine Haynes d/o Mary S Brelsford d/o Sam B Brelsford

Mom, Georgia Black, met Homer Baker when he had his appendix out. TX He wooed her relentlessly, until they married in 1924. They took out a marriage license 31 May 1924 and were married July 15 1924. They were on a Baptist church watermelon picnic and were married abnout midnight after the party. Apparently, the preacher didn't register the marriage, according to Bexar County records. m. San Antonio TX.

Georgia's brother Charlie Black also to Bklyn

Homer Baker soon took Georgia back to his mother's home in Bklyn before Dec. 26 1925 where I was born. Mom said I was almost born in Maryland, so they had been there for awhile before Bklyn.



Mom didn't like living with her mother in law Nellie L. Collins Baker Fisher. When I was two yrs old, she left Homer and went back to TX. She was there quite a while, at least a year. She lived with relatives in TX. I don't know who supported her during that time, Homer or the relatives. Perhaps the Great Depression of 1929 was a factor, in her returning to Bklyn

372 Rugby Rd

When she returned to Bklyn, they took an apt. for awhile and then moved to a rented house on Rugby Rd near Cortelyou abt 1930, prob. because Mom was pregnant. I started Kindergarten there in Feb. 1931. Betty was born in Jan.

Homer was doing well in real estate and was a broker who hired other realtors. He sold a lot of commercial property.

His eyesight was deteriorating. I remember him driving while we lived at Rugby Rd. By 1932 or 1933 Homer couldn't pay his bills. They put the furniture in storage and lost it for non payment. They had nice furniture. Mom, Betty and I spent the summer boarding at a farm upstate. 1933 Then I lived with grma Nellie and Betty and Mom boarded on Ave. H. Dad rode the rails trying to get to Clara Bow for help. Nellie had taken in Clara's family when they needed help, so that must be why Homer thought Clara would help him. He was hit on the head and was in hosp. in Nebraska, unconscious. He never made it to Calif. When he awoke, he had amnesia for a time.

Nellie died July 1933 and I don't remember Homer being around at that time, so that must be when he was in Neb. I was living c̄ gr ma Nellie FRIEND WEED—It must be gratifying to the Whigs, not only of our own State but also of the Union, to see the unanimous expression of the Whig Press in favor of the State Whig Ticket.

In this county I hear but one expression on the subject, and that is of decided approbation. It should, as I think it will, receive the united support of the Whigs of this county.

The resolutions of the State Convention are but a renewed expression of the principles for which the Whig party have long and faithfully contended, and for which they will continue their united efforts until they result in another triumph throughout the State.

ANNEXATION OF CANADA.—The Montreal Herald had a long and very able article in favor of Annexation. Now that the seat of government is about to be removed to Upper Canada, the Reformers of the Lower Province will be found uniting with their tory opponents in any measure calculated to break the bonds which bind them to the mother country. So long as the project of Annexation was confined to the in-bred royalists, we had no hope of any effectual movement; but if the reformers, who have no real sympathy with monarchy, move in conjunction with their old tory enemies, something may be accomplished.

YATES COUNTY.—The Whigs have nominated, for Sheriff, JOHN UNDERWOOD; Clerk, MARTIN HOLMES; Assembly, JAMES L. SEELEY; Justice, SAMUEL G. GAGE; Superintendent, WM. BASSETT; Coroners, WM. S. PURDY and JONAH WHITE.

Dear Johnny and Peepsie,

I am sending you a page from New England Historic and Genealogical Register, April 1855. There are many more articles in other issues of this periodical, if your son and family have any wish to pursue the Collins line to Gov. Bradford. There is much more info. online now, which makes genealogical searching much easier than when I did my researching.

There are many preachers that grad from Harvard in the line. In the early days preachers were considered learned men and had much more influence than they enjoy today.

This article mentions Rev. Nathaniel Collins , who was a Jr, son of Rev. Nath'l Sr. You can look at the pedigree chart I mailed to you several yrs ago, to connect the dots.

However, the reason I am writing is that I did find a reference to Nellie Gaylor's divorce from her husb. Wm T. Collins Jr. She was the plaintiff and the cause was adultery according. to an article in B'klyn paper, 1 June 1878. This William didn't do anything spectacular in his life, except that he served in Civil War. His father Wm Sr. who was robbed and murdered in his jewelry store, was well liked.

I also found the death record in Albany, of Nellie Gaylor's grandmother Margaret ___, wd of Philip Gaylor. She died 26 Feb. 1856 at age 73. I don't know where she was buried. Her husband Philip, who died in the 1830's, was reinterred in 1865 Green Wood Cem. in Bklyn, but no record for Margaret is listed there. I did find Margaret in 1850 census, living with her dau. Elizabeth (Gaylor) Wright, in Albany.

Philip Gaylor had a son Hiram, our great great grandfather, father of Nellie (Gaylor) (Collins) (Clark) Caldwell. (3 husbands).

Many yrs ago when I researched Hiram, I found him in the City Directory in Albany in 1850/51; only his wife Sally/Sarah was listed in 1852 and 1853. Hiram reappeared in 1854. In 1855, they were all in Buffalo NY., where Hiram died in Oct. 1856, 7 months after his mother died. I could not find widow Sally Gaylor in 1860 census anywhere, but she died in 1865 in B'klyn and was buried in Greenwood Cem. in Bow plot in B'klyn. Two of her daughters married 2 different William Bows, prob. cousins to each other. By the time the widow Sally and her daughters were in B'klyn, some of them were known as Gaylord. Our Nellie went by Gaylord at her marriage and was so listed in her husband's Civil War Pension papers.

Hiram was also reinterred to Greenwood Cem. in B'klyn in 1865, when his wife Sally died in B'klyn.

Now, I have found the rest of the story !!

In 1851, 3 men robbed the post-office in Albany. Hiram Gaylor was one of them. The ringleader was Pemberton, who turned State’s evidence, pled guilty and in Feb. received a 2 yr sentence. Hiram and the other man were sentenced to 8 yrs in Auburn State prison.

A few months later, his wife Sally Gaylor was plaintiff in a suit against a man who borrowed $30 0from her for 10 days and didn’t repay it. The defendant’s lawyer objected to her bringing suit, when her husband was still alive. (Expecting the husb. to bring the suit). Sally Gaylor won the suit and was awarded the $300.

It would appear that Hiram served about 2 yrs of the 8 of his sentence, or else he lived elsewhere for abt 2 yrs. I suspect they moved to Buffalo because of the embarassment in Albany..

He was the only Hiram in Albany that I found there at that time, and our Louise (Nellie Louise), was with him in 1850 census as well as 1855 census, so I know it is the correct family on census. It seems that our great grandma was usually called Louise, but her dau. Nellie Louise (Collins) Baker, was usually called Nellie.

This was quite a shocker to me and will be to you, I suspect. My father didn’t mention this to me, although he lived with his grma Nellie “ Louise” and her Caldwell husb. in 1900, when he was 7 yrs old, as did Irene and her Davidson parents. Irene didn’t mention it to me, either. I think my father would have told me when I was asking about the family, if he knew. It must have been a family secret.

Hiram is the first scoundrel I found in the family in 25 yrs of research. We can laugh about it now, but it must have been difficult for the family.

I still don’t know what took the widow Sally Gaylor and her daus. to B’klyn. Dau. Catharine married Wm Bow in B’flo and they also moved to B’klyn..

I also checked some early Albany newspapers and found that the Gaylor family male relatives were active in local politics. One was editor of the Albany Evening Journal for many yrs. Thus, they seemed to be a good family.

Fondly,

portion of the way under the ice, struck his head against a limb of a tree under water, came up, looked about him and finally crawled out. The individual then suddenly surprised him and by an ingenious address succeeded in prevailing upon the miserable man to return to town. But, laboring under that mysterious infatuation which urged him on to self-destruction, though sane on some matters, he embraced the first opportunity to steal away and put his purpose into execution.

According to his story, he left behind him in the old world, a wife and five children, with whom his domestic relations, it is said, were very unhappy. Brooding over these troubles he would at times become melancholy, and seek to drown his sorrow in the intoxicating cup.

The verdict of the jury is in accordance with the main facts as stated above.—Norwich Telegraph.

Singular Robbery.—On Sunday a young actress, living in the Rue Geoffroy-Marie, Paris, ordered her hair-dresser to send in the evening one of his assistants to dress her hair for a ball. At eight o'clock a well-dressed young man presented himself on, he said, the part of the hair-dresser, and proceeded to dress the actress's hair. Whilst examining a wreath of flowers which she was to wear, he unfortunately placed it near the candle and set it on fire. The actress sent her servant to buy a new one; and no sooner did the man hear the outer door close on her than he thrust a naphin into the mouth of the actress, and drawing a pistol from his Sessions and sentenced to the State Prison for two years and four months. Another of this gang, Sanford Dudley, will be tried before our Court this week. There is a prospect of relieving our citizens of their nocturnal services.—Norwich Telegraph.

Fires.—We announced yesterday morning that the tavern stand in Carthage owned and occupied by Mr. Green, was burned on Saturday night. About the same, time, the dwelling of Mr. Pettingill, in the town of Ogden, about twelve miles from this city, on the Lyell road, was destroyed by fire. The light of this fire was distinctly seen here. Mr P.'s house was insured for $1500 in the Monroe Mutual. His loss will be something more than that.—Roch. Dem.

New Hampshire.—The Democratic State Committee met at Concord on the 6th, and resolved to call together the same State Convention delegates who nominated Mr. Atwood for Governor, for the purpose of rescinding his nomination, and making a nomination worthy the support of the democracy. The delegates are to meet on the 19th of February.—Argus.

distance. The purse was given to Hays, under a great deal of hard swearing on the part of the owners of the horses.

A general row ensued, but the fun of the thing put the crowd all on the side of the bull. The horsemen contended that they were swindled out of their purse, and that if it had not been for Hays' horn and ox hide, which he ought not to have been permitted to bring upon the ground, the thing would not have turned out as it did.—Upon this Hays told them that his bull could beat any of their horses, any how, and if they would put up a hundred dollars against the purse he had won, he would take off his ox hide, and leave his tin horn, and run a fair race with them. His offer was accepted and the money staked.

They again took their places at the stating post and the signal was given. Hays gave the bull another touch with his spur, and the bull gave a tremendous bellow. The horses remembered the dreadful sound, and thought all the rest was coming as before. Away they went again, in spite of all the exertions of their riders, while Hays galloped his bull around the track again, and won the money.

According to a work recently published in London, there were in operation at the commencement of 1849, in different parts of the globe, a total length of 18,656 miles of railway, on which a capital of $1,800,000 had been actually expended. Besides this, it is estimated that there were, at the same epoch, in progress of construction, a further extent of 7,820 miles, the cost of which, when completed, would be $700,000. Thus, when these latter lines shall have been put into operation, the population of Europe and the United States, (for it is there only that railroads have made any progress) will have completed, within the period of less than a quarter of a century, 26,485 miles of railway, that is to say, a greater length than would completely surround the globe, at a cost of above $2,400,000,000. To accomplish this stupendous work, human industry must have appropriated out of its annual savings, $95,000,000 for 25 successive years.

profit under the Administration. The fact, in the philosophy of politics, is a singular one.

☞ Sumner having fallen off six votes on his last trial, it would seem that the chance of his election by the coalition in the Massachusetts Legislature, was quite hopeless. The nearest he has come to an election, was when he wanted but two votes. The bad faith of the Loco Focos in this matter, will very probably have the effect to disolve the coalition. The Free Soil Whigs, having tested their punic faith, will doubtless return to their duty in the whig ranks.

The Prospect.

The Journal of Commerce, of N. Y. city, a paper that supported Seymour against Hunt, at the last election, for Governor, and which by the way, does not pretend to be a Whig paper, has the following:

"Our citizens look to Senator Beekman, to see that no Senator is elected at this session, unless he be National in his politics, and distinctly in favor of the Compromise. From a speech of his in the Senate, we are glad to see that he stands to his fodder like a man and a patriot, &c."

☞ The Schenectady and Albany Railroad do not cooperate with the other companies, in their reduction of the Fare to 2 cents per mile. The length of that road is 17 miles, and the fare at two cents would be 34 cents. Passengers procuring their tickets in Buffalo are charged 40 cents, but all others the old fare of 50 cents. We should think the Troy folks would do better than this.

The trial of the Albany Post Office robbers terminated on Friday. The sentences were:—Rufus B. Pemberton, (who plead guilty and turned State's evidence,) two years in Auburn State Prison; George G. Bramhall and Hiram Gaylor, eight years each.

A pressure equal to 120 lbs. had been safely tried upon her on two previous occasions, and Mr. Rogers says she was equal to 160 lbs.

An inquest was held upon the bodies before John Vail, the coroner, when Mr. Rogers gave it as his opinion that the explosion was occasioned by the neglect of the workmen in not keeping the boiler full. The water was probably reduced below the crown of the furnace, as the crown sheet indicates having been heated, which would not have been the case had a good supply of water been kept up. Another witness, David Stoddard, a mechanic, swore to seeing the engine four minutes before the explosion, in company with two Engineers of the Erie Railroad, and they all observed that the safety valve lifted unusually, and he left through fear. The inquest was adjourned till Friday, to procure further evidence. A man named John Cook, foreman of the shop, was somewhat injured, and it is hoped he will then be able to undergo an examination.

The bodies of the deceased will be buried this day. It is due to the firm to state that medical attendance was instantly sent for from New York and the sufferers are well cared for. MAY 8—4 P. M.

After the report was made up yesterday, the Court took up and heard No. 21, Houghtaling vs. Kelderhouse, et al. This was an action tried at the Albany Circuit, by and before Justice Wright, and was to recover $400, the amount due upon a note. Dear Jackie, Sorry to have been so slow to answer your e-mail on the King Family.
I have checked all of my King sources (various King Fam. line), but did not find a Danl King Jr or Sr. In my research on my King line, I have picked up many King Family possibles lines. There were the Dutch King/Koning/Conengh aka Capper/de Konninck however, I always thought it was the German Koenik I was looking for & not the English
King. I am inclined to think that your Kings, comming from NE might be the English
King. I have not researched that far back to NE. I am still trying to find the NJ connection of which there are many!! Here are a few of my various references:

Also write to Geo. King Nichols, 62 Sand Creek Dr., Decatur, IL 62521 (he is trying to tell me my John King is of the NY early Konic Family, I need the connecting part!
I don't know if this has helped you any, but let me know.

Dear Jacqueline Humphrey,

Thank you for your recent Research Request regarding the WEAVER/WEBER family of the Mohawk Valley. Since we only have circa dates, I have come up with three possible solutions to this problem as follows:

Age to census

I do like this Sarah even though she is 7 years older than your Hiram since she has a father, Henry, at an age to be old enough to have served in the Revolutionary War and to verify the Brooklyn Eagle account. However, he likely wasn't killed in the War if he did marry again and have your Sarah at a later date.

This is about all that I could discover on possible parents for Sarah. Which do you prefer?

Sincerely,

Dear Jackie: Jan. 12, 1993

Thanks for your letter and the contribution. As mentioned, it all helps! Our postage has gone up again, Jan. 1st, and just for your information it now costs $1.27 to buy an American dollar with Canadian funds. May hold back some of the snowbirds from visiting your way this year - a hotel bill would be a major increase with the premium on American dollars.

Yes, I have all kinds of correspondents myself - some always send SASE or money, others make demands and never offer to pay. My book has almost paid for itself, but if I ever tried to put in the price of my shipping and handling - and letters, I would be deep in the hole. I find it better not to work it out, and treat it as a hobby. However, it is nice to find the odd bill in an envelope that I can send on to someone unemployed but interested in the family.

I am sorry I forgot dear old Fred #582 WB. Fred P (on the drop sheet) is RN 1870, and is a composite of WB 582 and 31. More data came in after I wrote the book, and it seems that Fred is the son of Peter J. Weaver WB 9, and his wife Anna Margaretha Dygert. Remove No. 582 from WB, as this data belongs with WB 31. I do have some children for Peter F. RN 1902 and his wives, but they are not confirmed, just a handwritten tree sent by a family member. It only refers to the children of Peter J., and in later generations they lived in Wells, NY, and Lake Pleasant.

Oddly enough, not too many of the Weavers ended up in Erie Co., but if I find any that look interesting, I'll let you know.

Not significant

[illegible]

I am not trying to be mysterious about my friend from the Daniel Weaver line - she has been asked by many if she will correspond with others, and as she has only a passing interest in Weavers, and her main interest lies with the Dutch contingent, she has refused them all. She and I are good friends, but she will not take on any more correspondents. Sorry! That is part of the reason I act coy - I don't want people to hope for help I cannot give. I will ask for help - as I have before - on your branch, and she will give me all the help she can, but she won't answer direct.

Sorry I can't be of more help, but I will try to keep your Sarah in mind as I work on the tree. I have a lot of work to do, and who knows - Sarah may pop up.

Hope you have a lovely New Year, and this crazy weather settles down for all of us.

Arlene Nicolls

Ken, since I have not done any research on Weaver in a long time and you caught me flatfooted recently with your recent email, I am embarrassed that I sent you info without sources. So many experienced researchers have made assumptions taking births or baptisms and then linking later marriages and deaths to the wrong parents, especially in the Montgomery Co. area.

I am assuming that the info I gave you for Caty #662 in Aline's bk giving her VR and marr. to Crouse, prob. Came from you long ago. I think we corresponded as early as abt 1993 or so.
Note that in Kelly's letter Fred & Mgt Warmuth did not have a dau. Caty/Cath b. by 1813. So if they did have a dau. Caty, she would have been born 1814 or later.

The Caty Ann b. 21 Aug 1812 m. Benj. Crouse, (?yours) was not likely d/o Fred and Mgt Warmuth, based on list of their ch. in Kelly's letter.

I hired Kelly of Kinship long ago as you can see in this scanned letter. He gives births of ch. Fred Weaver & Mgt Warmuth incl. the sponsors at bpt.
Then Kelly links the Frederick and Mgt (-?-) of Johnstown, who made will 1826, as the same family.
I don't know if Fred & Mgt Warmuth Weaver's ch., who included dau. Salome b. 1804, were the same ch. as those of Fred (of 1826 will) and wife Margaret (-?-), who had daus. Sally and Catherine. Kelly links them together and the names of the ch. do seem to match.

This letter is where I obtained the births that I jotted into Aline's bk on p. 28. Aline doesn't give any dates of birth for ch. Of Fred of the will 1826, p. 28.

Note that Kelly's letter lists a Sally who m. James Cromwell 7 April 1832, but doesn't actually link her to Fred who made will 1826.

It is Aline who claimed that Sally, who m. James Cornwell, (Aline's surname error), was d/o Fred of the 1826 will, prob. based on witnesses Peter & Mathias, possibly her brothers. As you know Aline claims the marr. was on the same day and month April 7, but 10 yrs earlier in 1822, prob. Error of year.

1850 census Palatine NY. (They were indexed as Cromall incorrectly at anc.com on census). James Cromwell b. ca 1810 NY & wife Sally b. ca 1812 NY, was obviously the same couple that both Kelly and Aline listed. Their eldest child was b. ca 1834, which makes 1832 marr. likely. The Henry Wearn as indexed, hard to read name, may have been Weaver or Wever b. ca 1818 and a poss. Bro. of Sally Cromwell. This Sally was too young to marry in 1822. Aline must have made an error for marr. yr.

It still begs the question as to whether Sally Cromwell b. ca 1812 was actually the dau. of Fred who made his will 1826.
If Fred who made will in 1826, did have dau. Salome/Sally b. 1804, then Aline made an error in linking Sally b. ca 1812 who m. James Cromwell to Fred who made will 1826.

My conclusion is that Salome/Sally Weaver b. 1804, d/o Fred & Mgt Warmuth could NOT have been Sally Weaver Cromwell b. ca 1812.

Sally Cromwell could still have been the dau. of Fred & Mgt (-?-), who made will 1826 or another Sally entirely.

Stone Arabia

A short drive up Route 10 from Palatine Bridge, Stone Arabia has some of the richest farmland in the country. Settled by Swiss and German farmers who emigrated here from the Hudson and Schoharie valleys, it was the breadbasket for Washington's troops in New York during the Revolutionary War. Colonel John Brown was killed by Butler's Rangers during the Battle of Stone Arabia and is buried behind the historic limestone Dutch Reformed Church <HABS3.htm>

EARLY STONE ARABIA

By Andrew L. Dillenbeck — Rev — of Trinity Luth Ch.

Paper read before the New York State Historical Association at Canajoharie on the historical tour of September 24, 1931.

SOURCE: Source: Proceedings of the New York State Historical Association, Vol. XIII, 1932

The name itself, variously spelled and pronounced, has long been a matter of curiosity, conjecture and myth - and may always remain so.

In the Old Testament and later times, Arabia carried the idea of blessedness, happiness and security. This connotation has passed down the centuries in many lands and languages. The name Stone Arabia, in its Dutch spelling, is found in Dutch writings long before its use in America.

Thus it may be that Steen Rabi was the land of promise to various groups settling in America in the 17th and 18th centuries. At least we find the name applied to a region on the west side of the Hudson near Kingston, to the site of the present North Troy, and later to our Stone Arabia in the Mohawk Valley.

One story of the derivation of the name still current locally is the name "Steen Raby" came to be the name of the section when certain travelers passing through the territory saw a Dutch girl aiding in clearing the land from stone, and seeking to have sport with her, said, "What are you doing my pretty maid?" and received the reply, "Steen Raby, you fools," which being translated was "Picking stones." The words do not fit themselves very well into the Dutch dialect, and the story can hardly be harmonized with considerations already mentioned. Moreover, Stone Arabia is not particularly stony in the part first settled. The fact that the name is in use elsewhere 50 years before the Stone Arabia Patent is granted renders the old story highly improbable.

But perhaps we have a clue that comes from the Hudson Valley. Under patent dated 19 October 1668, Robert Sanders and Harmen Vedder bought of the Mahican Indians land called by the Indians "Taescameasich" lying on the east side of the North River and stretching along the River from the second to the third spring which runs over to the west side of the river straight into the woods up to the high hills. On 21 August 1670 Harmen Vedder conveyed his interest to Robert Sanders. Reference to this land is made in a lease given by Robert Sanders to Hendrick Meussen Vrooman, 3 May 1670, wherein it is described as "lying over against the long island" and named Steen Raby. In 1680 Robert Sanders sold his farm on the east side of the Hudson's river, obliquely over against the farm of Anthony van Shayk, commonly called Steen Arabia. Captain John Schuyler in his report of his journey to Canada in 1698, says, "we went from Albany and came to Stony Arabia 8 miles up the river, where we lodged that night". All these references are to Stony Arabia on the site of modern Lansingburg or North Troy. This is also the Stein Raby at which an outpost of 10 men was stationed as early as 1710.

an Schaik

It is possible that the name was transferred to the Mohawk Valley location through Robert Sanders, an Albany merchant who was interested in the Lansingburg Stone Arabia and acted as Indian interpreter for the governor, and who may have assisted the Stone Arabia patentees in their purchase from the Indians.

The name is still applied to the central and southeastern portion of the original patent. For a few years just before the Revolution, Stone Arabia was given as a name to that section later to be called the Palatine District extending from the Nose to the Falls and northward to Canada, but on March 8, 1773, it lost this wider application and from that time was confined to the patent.

It is probable that a number of families from the Hudson Valley Palatine Camps never settled in Schoharie at all but went directly to Stone Arabia in 1712-15. Some families drop out of the Kocherthal-Berkenmeyer Records of the Camp and Schoharie for about nine years appearing later in Stone Arabia. Research made in Switzerland recently by one of the Palatine families reveals relationship by marriage with the Frey family several generations before 1710. If Hendrick Frey was in this immediate section before 1712-13 it is fair to assume that the relationship established in Europe before coming to America would still hold and he probably was the cause of several families coming directly to Stone Arabia from the Hudson. Indeed Simms says some of the party had relatives or friends there [Stone Arabia] who located at the time the Schoharie settlements were begun, which induced them to remove thither. Frothingham says they were on the ground before 1723.

The original pateentees were, with one or two exceptions, of German ancestry coming from the Rhine Valley in Switzerland and Germany.

When in 1720, the colonial governor lent an open ear to the desire of about 60 Schoharie families in the Schoharie settlement to join the others who had gone to Stone Arabia without leave, a new era dawned for the distressed Palatines. They were now to find a more tolerant and kindly attitude even though that attitude was inspired by hope of protecting the Mohawk frontier by settling these sturdy and stubborn folk along the upper reaches of the river. So the Stone Arabia and the Burnetsfield settlements were given official countenance. The grants were permitted and bestowed "for their loyalty to government" - a belated return for their help in the Colonel Nicholson expedition of 1711.

The Indian deed for the Stone Arabia land cost 300 pounds in Indian goods and bears date of 12 February 1723 and approved 9 March 1723. The warrant to grant was issued 14 September and the patent dated 19 October 1723. On the first division, most of the patentees took 100 acres, two lots of 50 acres each; in 1733 another division was made. The survey was made by Nicholas Schuyler. A third division is said to have been made but we have never seen any record of it. In 1793 the lines about the patent were re-run because of variation of compass in former surveys and disputes which had arisen with neighbors in other patents. The field books of both surveyor Schuyler of 1733 and of surveyor Beekman of 1793 are extant and were studied. The first is in the possession of Mr. Wyman of Fonda and the later and last survey is in the possession of Joseph H. Reaney of St. Johnsville.

The survey of 1793 recites the boundaries of the original patent and, coming 70 years after, indicates the outlines of the patent more clearly than any description of boundaries made earlier. We quote from Beekman's notes:

Beginning at a certain Black Oak tree standing in the South East corner of a Tract of Land granted to John Schuyler and in the line of the Lands granted to Col. Abraham De Peyster and Harmanus Van Slyck, which tree is 125 chains East from the Mohawk River, and runs from the said tree along the line of the aforesaid Lands granted to John Schuyler, north 19° 30' west 193 chains to the Tract granted to Francis Harrison, Esq. thence along his line North 16° West 65 Chains to a certain Bruck called by the Indians Garoga, then up the stream of the said Bruck to another Bruck which falls into it and is called by the Indians Cajadutta, thence up the stream of said Bruck called Cajadutta 96 Chains measured on a straight line, thence south 63° East 250 chains to a bruck called the Canada Kill, thence down the stream of said Bruck 80 chains measured on a straight line, then south 61° West 355 Chains, then south 6 chains to the above mentioned land of Abm De Peyster and Harrison [?] Van Slyck, then along their line 153 chains to the place where it begun containing 12 thousand 700 acres with allowance for Highways.

Beekman adds a note more definitely located the starting point of the original deed:

Black Oak Tree, which Tree being the North East corner of De Peyster's and Van Slyck's Patent, and the letters D P and its cyphers 1716 cut in the Bark of said tree, and appears that it had been done at the time of the first survey of the said De Peysters and Van Slycks Patent was made which said line runs to the place of beginning of said De Peysters and Van Slycks Patent opposite three small Islands in the Mohawk River.

This quite definitely fixes the "beginning point" of the patent, for one can be east of the Mohawk River only in the vicinity of Nelliston and the three small islands are there.

The 27 names which appeared in the patent were: Johan Christian Garlack, John Lawyer, Andries Feink, Hendrick Frey, Warnar Digart, Bartholomew Picart, Johannes Schnell, Johannes Cremse, Johannes Emigen, William Vocks, Mardan Dellinback, Adam Emigen, Teobald Garlack, Suffereinas Deigert, William Copernall, Hans Deterick Cassalman, John Joost Schnell, Christian Feink, Simon Erchart, Mardan Seibart, Elias Garlack, Johannes Ingolt, William Nellese, Andries Peiper, Lodowick Cassalman and Gerhart Scheffer. Of the patentees, the last two took no share in the first division; on the other hand such a share was granted to Bartholomew Picard, Jr.

Sons Taylor/Keller
no Weber/weaver

In the second allotment, made in 1733, we find that 14 who took land in the first division took none in the second. Ten years had witnessed the death or removal of these or they were convinced they had enough land. 26 different titles were given in the 2nd allotment; 4 were titles in partnership. The 30 men who thus shared were as follows: Martynis Tillebagh, Johannis Lawyer, Andris Finck, Nicholas Pickard, Lodewyck Casselmann, Andreas Finck, Jr., Symon Erhart, Jacob Snell, Johannis Snell, Adam Emge, Wilhelmis Casselman, Dierik Loucks, Sutferynes Teyger, Johannis Myderse, William Brower, Johannis Crams, Hanes Erhart, Barhanadus Van Diere, War(ner) Teygor, Johannis Miller, Jacob Sible, Jurigh Houck, Piter Soots, Johannis Schulthuys, Johannis Wies, Van Schullne, Hendrick Six, William Nellis, Nicolas Stensoll, and Robert Garther. Deeds were given to all who shared in this allotment, a few of which are still in existence. Most of the new grantees were sons of the patentees, in several instances were men from Schoharie, and in some cases Dutchmen.

The first allotment had given title to 2550 acres, the second to 9169 acres, a total of 11719 acres. There was but little left. Another survey and allotment was made in 1793. Variations and errors in lines previously run called for corrections. By order of court in 1792 Jacob Eacker, Abraham Coopman and Jacob G. Klock were appointed commissioners; Cornelius Beekman was employed as surveyor. As a result six different narrow wedgeshaped parcels of land were added to the patent and divided. These pieces contained over 1000 acres making the total acreage of the patent nearly 13,000 acres.
Peace prevailed in the Valley until 1757. Sir William's influence with both whites and Indians made for peace and harmony. How busy he was in keeping order, in restraining certain settlers, in pacifying the red men when their pride and sense of justice were violated, is a matter set down in his correspondence.
People were land-mad apparently. Sir William declared in 1769 that all land worth patenting had been taken. Stone Arabians were over-zealous in possessing land. King Hendrick and three other Indians appeared before the council in New York City June 12, 1753, declaring their intentions of driving out of the country a certain Barclay and a Mrs. Pickard because of their selling liquor to the Indians and taking more land than they were given. They "intend to take a little Rod and whip" to Arent Stevens and Conradt Gunterman for taking more land than was sold to them. A like complaint was lodged against "Peter Wagenaer over against Canajohary Castle north side of the River" and Hannes Clock.
Within this period there was a large increase in the population of the section and throughout the Valley; the first generation born here came to maturity, married, made homes for themselves, and the second generation of native-born arrived. New immigrants of many nationalities came. A French spy reports in 1737 that there was not a fort between Ft. Johnson and the Falls. He says there were 500 houses on the north side road east of the Falls, most of them stone and some a half-league back from the river.

There was probably a more rapid growth in the period following the close of the French and Indian War, and the opening of the Revolution found the Stone Arabia section well occupied. Churches, schools, stores, mills, blacksmith shops, lime kilns, taverns and boatyards were plentiful along the Mohawk. Each farm had an orchard, which was generally the family burial-ground. Wheat, flax, potatoes, corn, fruit, hemp, hay, peas, and oats were grown, with wheat the leading crop. The wheat flour of the Valley was worth more in New York City than any other. The first houses were log; the next frame or stone. Dwight observed in 1799 that the houses were of the Dutch style with few windows, and many doors with windowless sheds over the doors. Lean-tos and other awkward additions often joined the main building which was generally a one and a half story structure and "frequently looked like a collection of kitchens."
Those of the first generation that came could write their names, but of the first and second generation born here few could. The language became a sad mixture of German, Dutch, English and Indian - the Mohawk Dutch.

Still no [illegible]
a wife, then !

A few years previous to his death, Sir William brought the remnant of the Oswegatchie tribe from northern New York where they had been ravaged by a plague and located them about the headwaters of the Knaderock on the southeastern edge of the Stone Arabia Patent. Although they soon returned to their northern home, this section named McKinley has since been called Oswegatchie or Swegatchie.
The Stone Arabia settlers were found, with the settlers in the other districts, in the Valley militia of the colony which in pre-Revolutionary days met regularly for training and was subject to call to arms when emergencies arose. One familiar with the Stone Arabia family names may readily see the part they took in the military preparations in the Valley, by perusing the roster of the company commanded by Capt. Soffrinus Deychert from 1757-1762. This was the Stone Arabia company in the 2d battalion of Palatine militia. Still living in the Valley are found many of the descendants of these Stone Arabia colonial soldiers, e.g., Keyser, Louck, Markell, Swits, Coppernoll, Finck, Cook, Roller, Dillenbeck, Brower, Roof, Kilts, Becker, Snell, Getman, Empie, Nestell, Lasher, Nellis, Dygert, Davy, Walrath, Saltsman, Shults, Baum, Frank, Christman, Wick, Duesler, Fox, Dockstader, Edick, Wert, and others.
And then came the struggle for independence. The Stone Arabia settlers were signally American on their stand. Nearly two years before the Philadelphia Liberty bell rang out independence, the Stone Arabia farmers had drafted their declaration of American Principles. This took place 27 Aug. 1774 in the tavern of Adam Loucks, known as the White Tavern and identified by some as the upper tavern, which for generations has now been called the Red Tavern, while the White Tavern or Corners is a few rods above the churches.
These resolves read in part as follows:
III [in part]. That We think it is our undeniable Privilege to be taxed only with our own Consent given by ourselves (or by our Representative). That Taxes otherwise laid and exacted are unjust and unconstitutional....
IV. That the Act for blocking up the Port of Boston is oppressive and arbitrary, injurious in its principles and particularly oppressive to the Inhabitants of Boston, who we consider as Brethren suffering in the Common Cause.

V (in part). ...that we will join and unite with our Brethren of the Rest of this Colony in anything tending to support and defend our Rights and Liberties.
As indicative of the attitude of mind of Loucks, the tavern keeper, to current conditions, which of course reflected the mind of the Stone Arabia settlers, there was to be found on the walls of the tavern the portraits of Martin Luther, Frederick the Great, George III, and Louis XIV, visible tokens of a loyalty to religion, to the old home land and the new home in America and of a lasting and intense hatred to the one who drove them from their Palatinate homes on the Rhine, for the picture of the French King was inserted in its frame upside down and under it- these lines-
This is the man we all should hate, Who drove us from our home, Who burned the old Palatinate And sent us forth to roam.
Major Zielly and Andrew Dillenback (later killed at Oriskany) were early appointed on a committee to secure material for war. The people of Stone Arabia were alert and informed. The fertile Mohawk Valley and the fields, particularly of Stone Arabia, were sources of supply for the Continental Army throughout the long struggle. Especially in 1780 did Washington look to the wheat and oats of Stone Arabia. Hence the Raid of 1780, with its intensive destruction, was a telling blow to the cause. It should be noted that there was more unanimity among the Palatine farmers in opposition to the British policy than in some other districts in the Valley. There was scarcely a family, however, that was not divided between loyalty to the crown and loyalty to the cause. Canadian records reveal the extent to which the Valley population contributed to the British interest.
Two forts, Keiser and Paris, were reared on Stone Arabia soil. Twice the enemies ravaged Stone Arabia, in the Ephratah-Dillenburgh raid in 1778 and the direful raid of 1780. Oriskany took its sanguinary toll. And yet showing the spirit of the Stone Arabia settlers, we find Governor Clinton saying of them in 1781, "Most of Tryon and Schoharie have been destroyed. They are not however abandoned; the inhabitants having recovered themselves, continue to improve their farms and assist in the general defense." Truly Stone Arabia played a telling and significant part in the early life of New York and America.
Of great interest in Stone Arabia's development and showing the opposing desires of the inhabitants is the history of the "Union Academy of palatine," incorporated March 31, 1795. The Reformed Dutch church of Stone Arabia gave land to the institution and also permission to use the school house of the church (apparently a part of the parsonage) for one year. John Nifher was probably the first principal. The two-story frame academy building was erected by subscription and completed in 1799 opposite the Reformed church. It was burned in 1806 or 1807 and not rebuilt. To the above data from Beers' History of Montgomery County, Dr. W. N. P. Dailey adds, in his History of Montgomery Classis, that the principal mover in the project was Major Andrew Finck and that his neighbors objected on the ground that "too much learning made bad farmers." The title to the land was questioned, the administration was sued and Finck was forced to yield.

The early history of this co. is full of incident and interest. At the time of the first advent of the whites it was the principal seat of the Mohawks, one of the most powerful tribes of the Five Nations. The policy adopted by the early Dutch settlers of the colony, and continued by their English successors, strongly attached a majority of these savages to their interests; and the unprovoked attack of Champlain, in 1609, made them hate the French in Canada with intense bitterness. In the wars that ensued, the Five Nations proved faithful allies to the English, and on many occasions shielded them from hostile attacks. In 1665–66 a French expedition, consisting of 600 men, under De Courcelles and De Tracy, was sent against the Indians, and proceeded as far as Schenectady; but, after much suffering and the loss of many men, the army returned to Canada without affecting any thing. Within the next few years several French expeditions were sent against the western tribes of the Five Nations, and in return the Indians made a descent upon Montreal in 1689, laid waste whole plantations, and destroyed many lives.[1] In retaliation, Count Frontenac sent several expeditions against the Indians and English, one of which destroyed Schenectady in 1690.[2] In the winter of 1692–93 the French again invaded the Mohawk country, surprised and destroyed two of their three castles,[3] and took about 300 prisoners. In the engagement at the third castle they lost 30 of their number; and in their retreat they were pursued by Maj. Peter Schuyler at the head of 200 regulars and militia, who succeeded in killing 33 and wounding 26 of their number and in rescuing 50 prisoners. Favored by the severe cold, the remainder escaped and fled to Canada through the great northern wilderness. Their sufferings on this journey were intense. As early as 1642–43, a French Jesuit visited the Mohawk settlements; and between that date and 1678, 10 missionaries of this order labored to bring over the Indians of this region to the French interests and the Catholic religion. Though attended with great hardships, and in one or two instances with death, these labors were in some measure successful, and in 1671 a large number of Indians removed from Caughnawaga to Canada.[4]

A military post, known as Fort Hunter, was established near the mouth of Schoharie Creek in 1711. About the same time a large number of German Palatinates, sent over by Queen Anne, settled upon the Hudson, and shortly after removed to Schoharie and the Mohawk Valley and settled upon lands given them by Government. At about the same period a considerable number of Holland Dutch, from Schenectady and vicinity, found their way into the co. and extended their improvements up the valley. In 1730 the first mill N. of the Mohawk was built on the site of "Cranes" Village by two or three brothers named Groat; and this for a time served the settlements at German Flats, 50 mi. beyond.[5]

The land grants in this co. were made in comparatively small tracts. The first were issued as early as 1703. On the 19th of Oct. 1723, a patent of 12,700 acres, called "Stone Arabia," N. of the Mohawk, was granted to John Christian Garlock and others for the benefit of the Palatinates. The principal grants were made between 1730 and 1740; and in 1762 there remained little, if any, unpatented land in the co.

About the year 1735, the British Admiral, Sir Peter Warren, acquired the title to a large tract of land known as "Warrensbush," mostly in the present town of Florida, and sent out his nephew, Wm. Johnson, then but 21 years of age, as his agent. Johnson first located at the mouth of Schoharie Creek: afterward he removed to 3 mi. above Amsterdam, and finally to Johnstown. Through the influence of his uncle he received the appointment of Agent of Indian Affairs, which gave him great facilities for intercourse and traffic with the natives. Applying himself industriously to the study of the character and language of the Indians, and adopting their habits and dress whenever it suited his convenience, he gained an ascendency and influence over them never before enjoyed by any white person. His easy and obliging manners made him equally a favorite with the white settlers; and until his death, which took place on the 24th of June, 1774, the events of his life are intimately interwoven with the history of the co.[1] His title and estates descended to his son, Sir John Johnson; but his commanding personal influence could not be inherited. Guy Johnson, son-in-law of Sir William,[2] Col. Daniel Claus, and Col. John Butler, were attached to the interests of the Johnson family, possessed large estates, and lived in what were then considered sumptuous residences in the Mohawk Valley. They had considerable influence with both whites and Indians. In the controversy between the colonists and the mother country which resulted in the Revolution, the Johnsons and their adherents strongly espoused the cause of the King, from whom they had received so many favors.

As a class, the German Palatinates sided with the colonies, and a majority of the other settlers entertained similar sentiments; but for a long time they were overawed, and their efforts at organization were thwarted by the zeal and activity of the tory leaders. In the spring of 1775, while the court was in session at Johnstown, through the influence of the tories the signatures of most of the grand jurors and magistrates were procured to a document opposing the measures of the Continental Congress.[3] This proceeding, coupled with others of a more aggressive and personal character, tended greatly to organize the opposition forces, to separate the friends and enemies of freedom, and to kindle feelings of bitter and vindictive hatred, which naturally led to all the horrors of civil war. "Tryon co" was divided into 6 districts;[4] and, for the purpose of a more thorough organization, delegates were appointed in each by the Patriots to form a committee of public safety. Upon a meeting of these delegates a significant remonstrance was addressed to Col. Guy Johnson, Indian Agent, for his aggressive and partisan acts; he withdrew in June, 1775, to Cosbys Manor, above German Flats, under pretense of holding a council with the Indians in the W. part of the co.; and in a short time he fled to Montreal, by the way of Oswego, accompanied by a large number of dependents and followers. He continued to act as Indian Agent during the war, and by liberal rewards and still more liberal promises he greatly stimulated the natural ferocity of the Indians, and incited them to more active hostility. He was joined in Canada by Joseph Brant, a distinguished and educated Mohawk chief, and John and Walter N. Butler, 2 tories who afterward gained an infamous notoriety. At the head of marauding parties of tories and Indians, they afterward returned and committed the most inhuman atrocities upon their old friends and neighbors. Sir John Johnson remained at "Johnson Hall," but continued active in his intrigues, and kept up a correspondence with Col. Guy Johnson in Canada. His preparations to fortify "Johnson Hall" excited alarm; and in Jan. 1776, a committee, consisting of Gen. Philip Schuyler, Gen. Ten Broeck, and Col. Varick, was despatched from Albany to consult with the local committee of safety and satisfactorily arrange matters. Gen. Herkimer called out the militia; and the affair was finally settled by the surrender of Sir John as prisoner, and an agreement that his Scotch tenants should be disarmed. He was sent to Fishkill, but, being released on parole, he soon returned to Johnstown and resumed his intrigues. In May, Col. Dayton was sent with a regiment to again arrest him; but, being warned of their approach, Sir John and his followers fled to the woods, and finally reached Canada by the way of Sacandaga and Racket Rivers, after 19 days of fasting and suffering.[5] Sir John received a commission as colonel in the British service, raised a regiment of tories known

The first 5 of these districts were formed March 24, 1772. On the 8th of March, 1773, the original name—"Stone Arabia"—was changed to "Palatine," "German Flats" to "Kingsland," and "Kingsland" to "German Flats." Old England Dist. was formed April 3, 1775.

as "Johnson's Greens," and was active and bitter in his hostility throughout the war.[1] Through the influence of the Johnsons, all of the Five Nations, with the exception of a portion of the Oneidas and Tuscaroras,[2] were attached to the British interests, and were liberally aided by arms and provisions in their frequent incursions into the frontier settlements under the Butlers and Brant.[3]

In the summer and fall of 1777, this co., in common with the whole northern and western frontier, was the scene of great alarm and of stirring military events, produced by the expedition of Burgoyne. Gen. St. Leger, at the head of a large body of tories and Indians, was dispatched by the way of Oswego to reduce the rebel posts and settlements on the Mohawk and join the main army at Albany. On the 3d of Aug. they laid siege to Fort Schuyler, upon the site of the present village of Rome. The militia of Montgomery co. were called out, and, under Gen. Herkimer, marched to the relief of the fort. On the way the bloody battle of Oriskany was fought, in which 200 of the brave patriots of the co. were killed and as many more carried into Indian captivity.[4] In the latter part of the same month, Genls. Arnold and Learned, at the head of 900 troops, marched up the river, and St. Leger hastily abandoned the siege and fled.[5] The destruction of the valley was thus averted, and for several months the inhabitants were allowed to remain undisturbed, save by small scalping parties, that hung round the unprotected frontiers and cut off the defenseless inhabitants.

In the spring of 1778, Gen. La Fayette, accompanied by Gen. Schuyler and Col. Duane, went to Johnstown and held a conference with a body of Indians, which resulted in a treaty of considerable subsequent benefit to the settlers. In the following summer the horrible butcheries at Wyoming, Harpersfield, German Flats, and Cherry Valley were perpetrated; and in the summer of 1779 the army of Gen. Clinton marched from this co. to join Gen. Sullivan's expedition against the chief villages and farming grounds of the Onondagas, Cayugas, and Senecas. On the 21st of May, 1780, Sir John Johnson, at the head of 500 Indians and tories, suddenly made his appearance at Johnson Hall. He arrived about sunset on Sunday, and, dividing his force into two parties, at daylight the next morning he made a simultaneous attack upon Tribes Hill and Caughnawaga. Several persons were killed and others taken prisoners, and every building upon the route, except those belonging to tories, was burned. The militia began to collect in considerable numbers, and toward night Sir John hastily retreated, and safely reached Canada by the way of the wilderness w. of the Adirondack Mts.[6] Near the last of the July succeeding, the militia of the co. were employed to convey a provision train sent to the relief of Fort Schuyler; and on the 2d of Aug., while they were absent, Brant, at the head of 500 Indians and tories, made an attack upon the settlements in the neighborhood of Fort Plain. Fifty-three dwellings were burned, 16 persons slain, and 60 women and children carried into captivity. Upon the approach of the militia from Johnstown and Schenectady, the party retreated. On the 15th of the following Oct. a large party of tories, Indians, and Canadians, under Sir John Johnson, Brant, and Cornplanter, made their appearance in the Mohawk Valley, at the mouth of Schoharie Creek, after having laid waste the Schoharie settlements above. From this point they marched up the valley, burning the houses, destroying the property, and murdering or taking prisoners all that they met. The militia under Gen. Robert Van Rensselaer hastily came together and marched to attack the invaders. On the 18th of Oct., Col. Brown, who commanded a small stockade fort at Stone Arabia, acting under the order of Van Rensselaer, marched out with 150 men to attack the enemy; but, receiving no support from the main army, the little detachment was soon routed, with the loss of the commander and 30 to 40 men killed. Sir John halted at Fox's Mills, about 8 mi. above Fort Hunter, in the town of St. Johnsville, and erected a temporary breastwork. At a late hour in the day he was attacked by a detachment under Col. Dubois, and the Indians under his command were defeated.[7] The Americans, under Van Rensselaer, fell back 3 mi. and encamped; and the next morning, upon marching forward to renew the attack, they found that the enemy had fled.[8] Sir John finally succeeded in making his escape, though his force was greatly reduced by hunger, fatigue, and the continual, harassing attacks of the militia, which hung upon their rear.

The prospects of the Mohawk Valley were now gloomy in the extreme. Nearly every settlement had been desolated, and nearly every family had lost some of its members.[1] In the spring of 1781, Col. Willett assumed the command of the American forces on the Mohawk, and, by his military skill, daring, and knowledge of Indian warfare, he not only successfully repelled all attacks made upon the Mohawk settlements, but carried the war into the enemy's own country.

On the 9th of July, 1781, 300 Indians, under a tory named Doxtader, made a sudden attack upon the settlement of Currytown, (in the town of Root.) After burning the buildings and collecting a large amount of booty, they retreated. Col. Willett, at the head of 150 militia, immediately pursued and overtook them at "Durlah," (Dorlach,) a few mi. over the line of Schoharie co. A severe skirmish ensued, when the Indians fled, leaving 40 of their number dead on the field.[2] The final incursion into the Mohawk Valley was made Oct. 24, 1781, by a party of 600 British and Indians, under Maj. Ross and Walter N. Butler, who made their first appearance in the neighborhood of Warrensbush. They marched to the vicinity of Johnson Hall and commenced the usual work of plunder and murder, but were arrested by a sudden attack by forces under Cols. Willett, Rowley, and Harper. A severe engagement ensued, resulting in the retreat of the enemy. Col. Willett pursued, and, coming up with the rear guard at West Canada Creek, another skirmish took place, in which the infamous Walter N. Butler was killed.[3] The shattered remnant of the British forces escaped by way of Oswego. This affair practically ended the war in Tryon co., and the remaining citizens, stripped of almost every thing except the soil, were allowed to resume in peace their accustomed employments.[4] In a few years the ravages of the war were completely obliterated, and the fertile regions of Central and Western N.Y., which had become known through the military expeditions that had traversed them, soon began to fill up with a New England population. The splendid domains of the Johnsons and other royalists were confiscated, and the feudal tenants of the colonial period were replaced by enterprising freeholders under the new government.[5]

AMSTERDAM[6]—was formed from "Caughnawaga,"[7] March 12, 1793. Perth (Fulton co.) was taken off in 1831. It lies on the N. bank of the Mohawk, in the N.E. corner of the co. Its surface consists of the intervale along the river, and a rolling upland gradually rising for the space of 2 mi. and attaining an elevation of 300 to 500 feet. The principal streams are the Kayaderosseras, 3 mi. w. of Amsterdam Village, Chuctenunda,[8] at the village, and Evas Kil,[9] near the E. border. The soil in the valley is a deep, rich alluvium, and upon the hills it is a fertile, gravelly loam. Near Tribes Hill are extensive stone quarries. A considerable amount of manufactures is carried on in town, consisting of mill machinery, agricultural implements, carriages, car springs, and carpets, at Amsterdam Village, and of woolen goods at Hagamans Mills. Amsterdam,[10] (p.v.,) incorp. [3] The Americans made several efforts to attach the Six Nations to their interests, or at least to induce them to remain neutral. In the winter of 1776-77, Col. Harper was sent to ascertain the object of the assembling of a large body of Indians at Oquago, on the Susquehanna. In the succeeding June, Brant, with a party of Indians, made a levy upon the settlers of the Unadilla; and many fled to a place of safety. Gen. Herkimer, at the head of 380 militia, marched to meet him; and on the 27th of June, 1777, a conference was held between the general and the chief, but without producing any definite results. All efforts to propitiate the Six Nations were then abandoned, and all conferences ceased until the close of the war, when the Indians were called upon, as vanquished enemies, to confirm the surrender of most of their lands as an atonement for their hostility.

[4] There was scarcely a hamlet in the valley that did not lose one or more of its inhabitants.

[5] For further particulars concerning these transactions, see page 316.

[6] The principal object of this incursion was to obtain the silver plate which had been buried by Sir John on his first hasty flight from Johnson Hall. The plate was recovered and carried to Canada in the knapsacks of 60 men.

[7] This engagement is known as the battle of "Klocks Field."

[8] Du Bois had nearly gained the victory, when Van Rensselaer came up and gave orders not to renew the battle until the signal should be given from headquarters. The forces of the former were under arms all night, momentarily expecting the promised signal; and they had the inexpressible mortification and chagrin to see the beaten foe slipping through the net in which they had been caught, without the possibility of preventing their escape. Had it not been for the indecision or cowardice of Gen. Van Rensselaer, the whole party might have been taken. At the time, he was openly charged of cowardice or treachery by the Oneida chief, and he entirely lost public confidence.

[1] Some idea of the extent of these ravages may be formed from a statement prepared by the supervisors of "Tryon co.," dated Dec. 20, 1780, and addressed to the legislature. They therein stated that 700 buildings had been burned within the co.; that 354 families had abandoned their habitations and removed; 613 persons had deserted to the enemy; 197 had been killed, 121 taken prisoners; and 1200 farms lay uncultivated by reason of the enemy. This statement did not include Cherry Valley, Newtown-Martin, Middlefield, Springfield, Harpersfield, and Old England District, which had been totally deserted and abandoned. The population of the co. at the beginning of the war was about 10,000. While the sufferings of the colonists were thus great, the Indian loss was much greater. Their whole country had been ravaged, their homes and crops destroyed, and a large portion of their number had died in battle or by starvation. At the close of the war the miserable remnant of the once powerful nations humbly sued for peace, and were content to accept terms that deprived them of almost their entire country.

[2] By stratagem Col. Willett succeeded in drawing the Indians into an ambuscade. They fled so hastily that all their baggage and plunder was captured. On their retreat they murdered a number of prisoners to prevent their escape.

[3] Walter N. Butler was one of the most inhuman wretches that ever disgraced humanity. Ferocious, bloodthirsty, and cruel, he seemed to revel in perfect delight at the spectacle of human suffering. He surpassed the savages in barbarity; and many a victim was saved from his clutches by the interposition of the Indian chief Brant.

[4] Special acts were passed in 1780, '81, and '83, directing the commissioners of sequestration to relieve certain distressed families. Rev. Daniel Gros, of Canajoharie, acted as almoner of the commissioners; and his acts are preserved among the public papers of the State.

[5] For several years after the war, ghosts were reported as frequently seen stalking about the old residences of the royalists. The appearances which gave rise to these reports were doubtless the tories themselves, returned in disguise to obtain valuables which had been secreted upon their previous hasty flight. The settlers, who had suffered so much, were slow in forgetting the injuries they had received; and for many years after, few, either Indians or tories, who had been engaged in the war, could show themselves in the settlement with safety.

[6] Named by Emanuel E. De Graff, a Hollander and early settler.

[7] On the 9th of March, 1780, the portion of Mohawk district N. of the river was set off and named "Caughnawaga." The first town meeting was held at the house of John B. Wimples. "Caughnawaga" was formed as a town, March 7, 1788. It embraced all that part of Montgomery co. lying N. of the Mohawk and E. of a line extending from The Noses N. to Canada. This town was divided in 1793 into Amsterdam, Mayfield, Broadalbin, and Johnstown.

[8] Signifying "Twin Sisters," and applied to the streams flowing into the Mohawk on opposite sides; in some documents spelled Chuct-to-na-ne-da.

[9] Pronounced E-vaws-kil; named from Mrs. Eva Van Alstyne, who was wounded and scalped by the Indians in 1755, while crossing this stream.

[10] Formerly called "Veedersburgh."

PALATINE

PALATINE—was formed as a district, by the name of "Stone Arabia," March 24, 1772; its name was changed March 8, 1773. It was formed as a town March 7, 1778, embracing all the territory between "Little Falls and The Noses," and extending from the Mohawk to Canada. Salisbury (Herk. co.) was taken off in 1797, Stratford (Ful. co.) in 1805, Oppenheim (Ful. co.) in 1808, Manheim (Herk. co.) in 1817, and Ephratah (Ful. co.) in 1827. It lies on the N. bank of the Mohawk, W. of the center of the co. Its surface is mostly an upland, 200 to 500 feet above the valley, broken by deep, narrow ravines, and descending irregularly toward the river. The principal streams are the Kau-a-da-rauk,[1] in the E. part of the town, and the Garoga, in the W. The soil is fertile, and well adapted to grazing.[2] Stone Arabia, (p.v.,) near the center of the town, contains about 15 houses, and Palatine Bridge, (p.v.,) on the Mohawk opposite Canajoharie, 40. Palatine Church, (Palatine p.o.,) on the W. border, is a hamlet. The first settlement was made in town in 1713, by German Palatinates, who came over in 1710. The larger part of the Stone Arabia Patent was within the limits of this town.[3] Wm. Fox settled near Palatine Church, and Peter Waggoner a little below, on the Mohawk, in 1715. The early records of the settlement are lost.[4] A stockade called Fort Paris, the ruins of which are still visible, was built at Stone Arabia, and another, called Fort Keyser, 1 mi. N. The disastrous engagement resulting in the death of Col. Brown was fought within this town, between Stone Arabia and the river.[5] The Ref. Prot. D. church at Stone Arabia is one of the oldest in the valley.[6] The stone church (Luth.) at Palatine Church was built in 1770.[7] The census reports 3 churches in town; 2 Ev. Luth., Ref. Prot. D.

ROOT[8]—was formed from Canajoharie and Charleston, Jan. 27, 1823. It lies upon the S. bank of the Mohawk, near the center of the co. The hills which border upon the river rise abruptly to a height of 630 feet,[9] and from their summits the country spreads out into an undulating upland. The high hills just below Sprakers, on opposite banks of the river, are called "The Noses." The high ridge near the E. border is known as "Stone Ridge." The principal streams are Platte Kil, and Lashers and Flat Creeks. Mitchells Cave,[10] in the vicinity of The Noses, consists of several apartments, with the roof hung with stalactites. The soil is a fine, gravelly loam. Leatherville (Root p.o.) contains 15 houses, and Currytown,[11] Sprakers Basin, (p.o.,) Flat Creek, (p.o.,) and Browns Hollow, about a dozen each. Yatesville is a hamlet on the canal. The first settlers were Jacob Devendorf, at Currytown, Rudolph Keller, David and Fred. Lewis, and Jacob Tanner.[12] The first church (Ref. Prot. D.) was formed at Currytown. Rev. Peter Van Buren became its pastor in 1806.[13] The principal incursions into this town during the war were those made in the summer and fall of 1781. The weight of the first of these, led by the tory Doxtader, July 9, 1781, fell upon the settlements in and near Currytown.[14] In Oct. of the same year Ross and Butler passed through the town, but committed no depredations, except capturing part of a funeral procession, and taking a few prisoners at Stone Ridge.

ST. JOHNSVILLE[15]—was formed from Oppenheim, (Fulton co.,) April 18, 1838. It lies upon the N. bank of the Mohawk, in the W. part of the co. Its surface consists of a broad river intervale and a broken upland gradually rising N. of it. Its streams are East Canada, Crum, Fox, Zimmermans, Caldwell, and Mother Creeks. Upon East Canada Creek, 1½ mi. from its mouth, are a succession of falls and rapids descending 75 feet in a distance of 80 rods. The soil is a fine quality of gravelly loam. St. Johnsville, (p.v.,) on the Mohawk, was incorp. in 1857. It contains a woolen factory, and is an important station on the Central R. R. Pop. 648. The first settlement at the village was made by Jacob Zimmerman, in 1776.[16] During the Revolution the house of George Klock, nearly three mi. W. of Palatine Church, was stockaded and named "Fort House."[1] The house of Jacob Zimmerman was also stockaded. These forts were both attacked, but never taken. Fort Hill, situated on an eminence E. of East Creek, was erected during the French War. It was repaired and used during the Revolution. The battle between the forces of Sir John and the advanced guard of Van Rensselaer's army, under Col. Dubois, was fought at "Klocks Field," near "Fort House," Oct. 18, 1780. The enemy forded the river, and retreated up the valley during the night following. The Indians, in small parties, continued to prowl about the settlement during the war, and shot and captured several of the inhabitants.[2] Clarksburgh is a hamlet, containing a pitchfork manufactory. A church was built by George Klock in 1756; the Rev. Mr. Rosekrantz was the first preacher, and John Henry Disland the second. The census reports 2 churches; Ref. Prot. D. and Union.

[1] Said to signify "broad."

[2] More cheese is made in this town than in any other in the co. The aggregate is more than 500,000 lbs.

[3] This purchase extended along East Canada Creek, in the rear of Hausen's and Van Slyke's patents.

[4] The German was the language taught in the first schools. —— Robinson taught an English school in 1782, and Alexander Ewing in 1783. Wm. Fox built a gristmill in 1750, which was burned in 1780.

[5] See page 410.

[6] The records of this church commence in 1739, when it had but 10 members. The present edifice was erected in 1785, and the church was reorganized in 1790. A Luth. church built at Stone Arabia in 1770 was burned in 1780.

[7] The subscriptions for this church were mostly furnished by the Nellis families, who became tories; and in consequence the church was not burned. Several shots were fired into it by the party under Sir John Johnson, one of the shot holes being still visible.

[8] Named in honor of Erastus Root, of Delaware co.

[9] As surveyed by Capt. Thomas Machin.

[10] Named from the former owner of the farm on which the cave is situated.

[11] Named from Wm. Curry, the patentee.

[12] The first schools were German. —— Glaycher taught an English school at The Noses, in 1784. Albert Vanderworker kept the first inn, at an early day.

[13] The census reports 3 churches in town; Christian, M. E., Ref. Prot. D.

[14] Upon the alarm being given, the settlers hastened to a picketed blockhouse near the dwelling of Henry Lewis, closely pursued by the enemy. Every house in the village except one was set on fire; but the flames were extinguished by the vanguard of Col. Willett's forces, under Capt. Robert Kean. Frederick, son of Jacob Devendorf, was scalped, but he recovered. Jacob, jr., another son, was taken prisoner, and was scalped on the retreat of the Indians. He also recovered, and lived to the age of 85 years. He died in 1854, one of the wealthiest farmers in the valley. Mary Miller, a little girl, was scalped and found alive, but died soon after. Several other prisoners were murdered. Most of the cattle driven away were abandoned, and found their way back to the settlement.

[15] Named from St. John's Church, built in the village at an early day.

[16] The first settlers of the town came in long prior to this, but the precise date is unknown. They were Germans, and among them were families named Hellebralt, Waters, Getman, Van Reissen, Walrath, and Klock. A German school was taught by Henry Hayes at an early day. The first English school was taught by Lot Ryan, an Irishman, in 1792. Chris. Nellis kept an inn in 1783, and a store in 1801. Jacob Zimmerman built the first gristmill, during the Revolution, and Geo. Klock the second, in 1801.

[1] Named in compliment to Christian House, the builder.

[2] In the spring of 1780 Philip Helmer deserted to the enemy. He had previously been paying his addresses to a daughter of Philip Bellinger, and upon a plan being formed to take the family of the latter prisoners, he forewarned them in time to rally a party to their assistance. An ambuscade was formed, and the Indians would have been killed or captured, had it not been for the indiscretion of one of the party, who, upon their approach, yelled out, at the top of his voice, "Lord God Almighty, friends, here they are!" The Indians fled with the loss of only one.

Dear Ms. Humphrey:

Your letter requesting information concerning old cemeteries and old church records is very difficult to answer. The reason is old cemeteries are not listed in the early city directories and although the churches are listed, we do not know the religion of your ancestors. If the cemeteries were listed most of them would not be in existence today. The same would apply to churches.

Enclosed is a 1851-1852 map of Albany showing the location of North Lansing Street where the Gaylor family lived. Also you will find is photocopies of the history of cemeteries in Albany copied from a book entitled "History of Albany County 1609-1886" by Howell and Tenney. By the way we phoned the Albany Rural Cemetery but there was no record of Philip Gaylor being buried there around 1835-1840.

He mapped wrong area

He was reinterred in Greenwood Cem Bklyn as was his son Hiram.

History From America's Most Famous Valleys

Assessment Roll

The record is difficult at best to read. In many cases, I had to guess at the names.

This assessment roll shows who was on the land in the year of 1799 and from the names you can tell which area of the town where they were located.

Apparently this was the first year the assessments were done for the purpose of taxation. At any rate, this was the earliest record available. The records were found in the Albany Archives, for the County of Albany. No assessor's maps were available for helping in the assessment process until in the 1970s. It had to be difficult for the assessors to determine if all the land was accounted for on the assessment roll.

The Town of Palatine was much larger in 1799. It had to be a very time consuming process to ride around to all the various pieces of land and determine the value.

The people were assessed on land, buildings and personal property which probably included livestock and household goods. Some names appear to be children and they were assessed on personal property. Often the numbers are not clear and there are tears on some pages. I did my best.

The title at the top of the record reads:

"Assessment Roll of the Real and Personal Estates in the Town of Palatine in the County of Montgomery made this eighteenth day of October in the year of our Lord one thousand seven hundred and ninety nine, according to the directions of the statute entitled "An Act for the Assessment and collection of Taxes." By Peter Grames Junr. Hanjost Scholl, Coenradt Lepper and Peter Clank, Jr. Assessors of said Town."

JOHN GIBSON, RWPA #W23101. He was born in Scotland in 1755. He married in Florida Township, Montgomery County, New York on September 4, 1783 Margaret [ ]. He died on September 25, 1836. He served as a private in Captain Nathaniel Strong's Company of the Fourth New York Regiment and fought in the Battle of Monmouth. He also served as a private in Captain Christopher P. Yates' Company of Colonel Undy Hay's Quartermasters Corps. In 1782 he enlisted as a private in Captain Abraham Livingston's Company of Lieutenant Colonel Marinus Willett's Regiment and performed duties at Fort Herkimer.

WILLIAM GIBSON. On March 1, 1779 he and Abraham Hodge were ordered to appear before Tryon County Court of Common Pleas Justices Isaac Marselis and David McMaster on a charge of stealing a horse from John Pickle. His bond was set at 500 (Abbott Collection Mss #338).

Do Census

ABRAHAM HODGE, RWPA #W15837. He was age 56 when deposed on April 10, 1818. He married in the home of Esquire Younglove in Cambridge Township, Washington County, My ? Massachusetts in November of 1782, Prudence ___. He first enlisted in Captain Robert McKeen's Company of the First New York Regiment on February 2, 1777. He later in the war served in the company of Captain Leonard of the Third New York Regiment and the First New York Regiment. He fought in the Battles of Monmouth and Yorktown. Gerrit G. Lansing states that he served with Hodge in Captain Leonard Bleeker's Company of the Third New York Regiment. His file also contains a deposition by Stephen Durham.

ABRAHAM HODGE II, RWPA #S43700. He first enlisted as a private in Captain Christian Gettman's Company of Rangers in April of 1776 and served therein until the last of October, 1776. Upon being discharged from Gettman's Company, he entered into Captain Robert McKeen's Company of the First New York Regiment as a substitute for Jacobus Miller and served until December 15, 1776. About January 5, 1777, he enlisted as a private in Captain Robert McKeen's Company of the First New York Regiment. William Gibson states that he served along with Hodge in Captain Robert McKeen's Company of the First New York Regiment in 1777. Gibson also states that they both enlisted in the service in Florida Township, Montgomery County, New York and that Abraham was a minor and was relieved from duty on October 15, 1777, his father having hired a substitute for him. Gibson states that he, Gibson serving as an orderly sergeant in the local militia, had several times seen Hodge use his discharge to avoid being drafted; he, Gibson,. On March 1, 1779 he and William Gibson were ordered to appear before Tryon County Court of Common Pleas Justices Isaac Marselis and David McMaster on a charge of stealing a horse from John Pickle. There bond was set at 500 (Abbott Collection Mss #338).

Mabel Warner Brown, U.E.L., of Welland, Ontario, Canada, has been most helpful to me on the Canadian activities of this interesting family, and I appreciate her sharing her materials with me over the yrs. (HJ).

MARIE WAREMBOURG (Hunter Lists #784)

This interesting family was documented at 6741 Billigheim (7 km. s. of Landau) and at 6741 Steinweiler ([illegible] km. s.e. of Billigheim). A Jean Warembourg and an Adrian Warembourg were recorded at Steinweiler in 1664 and 1678 (Community Lists at Speyer Archives). File 52, F 11, in the Stadt Archives at Speyer mention that Hanß Felten Ziegler sold his goods in Steinweiler to the honourable Daniel Ferrez and his wife Maria Warenbour for 100 Gulden, 40 Gulden at once and 60 Gulden at Christmas, 12 Sept 1681 (filed under Billigheim Mss.). Rupp (p. 8) notes that Mary Führe (Feree) of Bittingheim in the High bailiwick of Germersheim, applied 10 March 1708 for a pass to come to the "Island of Pa." She and her family also applied for a certificate of church membership 10 May 1708, which sets forth that they were of La profession de la pure Religion Réformée, fréquente nos saintes assemblées, et participe à la cene du Seigneur avec les autres fidèles. Mary Warambour aged 56, with sons aged 24, 23, 19, and 17, and a daughter aged 22, Ref., Widow, was in the 1st arrivals in England in 1709 (London Lists).

Author Henry Z Jones

Marie Warembourg/Waremburg made her initial appearance on the Hunter Rolls 4 Aug 1710 with 5 pers. over 10 yrs. of age in the household. Rupp goes on to state that Maria Warenbür, Wemar, or Fiere, at the instance of Martin Kendig had 2,000 acres of land confirmed to her at Pequae 12 Sept 1712.

Barbara Ferree of Fern Park, Florida is writing a detailed study of her family in Europe and America, and I am looking forward to the publication of her data (HJ).

JACOB WARNO (Hunter Lists #785)

Jacob Warnon aged 40, his wife, a son aged 1, a daughter aged 4, Cath., taylor, were in the 3rd arrivals in England in 1709 (London Lists).

Jacob Warno made his first appearance on the Hunter Lists 30 June 1710 with 2 pers. over 10 yrs. of age in the family. He was listed with 1 pers. over 10 yrs. on 24 Dec 1711. Sibylla Warno joined the church 30 April 1711 at the New German Colony (West Camp Luth. Chbk.). Jacob Warno was a soldier from Hunterstown in 1711 (Palatine Volunteers To Canada). Jacob Warno and his wife Sibylla with 1 child were at Neu-Heidelberg ca. 1716/17 (Simmendinger Register). Jacob Warynoo was one of the Palatines who purchased land from the Indians 9 July 1722 (History of Herkimer Co., N.Y., p. 36). A child of Jacob^1 Warno and Sibylla was:

1) Anna Elisabetha^2, bpt. 1713 - sp.: Godfried and Anna Eliz. Fydler (Schenectady Ref. Chbk.).

? HENRICH WEBER (Hunter Lists #786)

Although the Simmendinger Register calls the w/o Henrich^1 Weber Christina, the N.Y. City Luth. Chbk. names her three times (in sp. in 1716, 1718, and 1721) (Maria) Eva. As Henrich^1 Weber went up the river the same day as Simon Vogt from Bonfeld in the Kraichgau and was recorded on the Hunter Lists near Vogt, perhaps the emigrant family was the Henrich Weber who md. Maria Eva, d/o Jacob Kemmede (?) from Erstatt, 25 Nov 1698 at 6920 Steinsfurt, just a few km. from Bonfeld; this couple had ch. Hans Rudolph bpt. 1703 and Anna bpt. 1705 at Steinsfurt. There were several Henrich Webers

Need Par + [illegible] Sally Weber Gaylor

listed in 1709 at Rotterdam and London on the various Palatine rolls. However, the probable N.Y. Henrich^1 was the Johan Henrig Weber enrolled with his wife and 1 child on Capt. William Newton's ship in the 5th party of Palatines in Holland in 1709, as Simon^1 Vogt also was a passenger on this small vessel (HJ).

Henrich Weber made his initial appearance on the Hunter Rolls 30 June 1710 with 2 pers. over 10 and 1 under 10 yrs. The family showed 3 pers. over 10 on 4 Oct 1710, 3 over 10 and 1 under 10 yrs. on 29 Sept 1711, and 3 pers. over 10 on 24 Dec 1711. Hendrick Weaver was a soldier in Col. Thomas Ffarmer's Regt., 7th Company, in 1715 (Report of the State Historian, Vol. I, p. 537). Heinrich Weber and Christina with 3 ch. were auf dem Rarendantz ca. 1716/17 (Simmendinger Register).

I can find no record of the bpts. of the ch. of Henrich^1 Weber of N.J. There are several unplaced Weber/Weaver families who may have descended from Henrich^1 Weber or perhaps #787 Valentin^1 Weber, who also lived in N.J.: 1) Alexander Wever who had ch. bpt. at Hackensack and Tarrytown Ref. Churches 1726 - 1742; the will of Alexander Weber of Orange Co. was dated 10 Dec 1753 and probated 28 Sept 1754 and mentions a son Henrich (Fernow Wills #2033); 2) Johannes Wever, who md. Debora (--) and had issue bpt. 1736 - 1741 at the New Brunswick Ref. Church in N.J.; 3) Jacob Weber, who md. Margaretha (--) and had a son Johannes b. 9 April 1747 and bpt. Hakkinsack (N.Y. City Luth. Chbk.); and 4) Sander Weber, who md. 1st Elisabetha Gertraud Spies and md. 2nd Maria Storm and had issue bpt. at Tarrytown Ref. Church 1728 - 1732 (See #1 above).

VALENTIN WEBER (Hunter Lists #787)

A Valentin Weber, s/o the late Jost Weber at Reubach, md. Maria Margaretha, d/o Hanß Ständer - Gemeinsmann, 15/25 Feb 1698 at 6114 Groß-Umstadt; however, no firm connective between this family and the 1709er has been established (HJ). Valenteÿn Weber, his wife, and 1 child, were recorded near a Nicolaus Weber on Capt. Jan Bülson's ship in the 3rd party in Holland (Rotterdam Lists). Valentin Weber aged 31, his wife, and a son aged 2, Ref., taylor, were in the 3rd arrivals in England (London Lists).

Valentin Weber made his initial appearance on the Hunter Lists 30 June 1710 with 2 pers. over 10 yrs.; on the 4 Oct 1710 notation, he was registered one name from Henrich Weber and had 1 pers. over 10; an added entry that date gave him 2 over 10 yrs. Valentin Weber and Scharlottin his wife with 2 ch. were auf dem Rarendantz ca. 1716/17 (Simmendinger Register). See #786 for a list of his possible issue (HJ).

Good probability our Weaver from one of these 3.

NICLAUS WEBER (Hunter Lists #788)
JACOB WEBER (Hunter Lists #789)
OTTILIA WEBERIN (Hunter Lists #791)

The Mohawk Valley Webers were listed together in Holland on Capt. Jno. Untank's ship in the 5th party: Odilja, a Widow with 3 ch., was enrolled next to Jacob Weber, his wife, and 1 child, followed by Niklaas Weber and his wife on that ship; five names further on that ship's list were Hans Jacob Weber, his wife, and 4 ch., followed by Baltes and Philip Weber (both alone) (Rotterdam Lists).

Niclaus Weber, #788, made his initial appearance on the Hunter Rolls 4 Oct 1710 with 2 pers. over 10 yrs. of age, recorded but one name from Ottilia Weber. The household showed 1 pers. over 10 and 1 under 10 yrs. on 24 June 1711, 2 pers. over 10 yrs. on 29 Sept 1711, 1 over 10 and 1 under 10 on 25 March 1712, and 2 pers. over 10 and 1 under 10 on 24 June 1712. Niclaus Weber of Queensbury was a soldier in 1711 (Palatine Volunteers To Canada). Niccolas Wever was nat. 11 Oct 1715 (Albany Nats.). Nicolaus Weber and his wife Barbara with 2 ch. were at Neu-Quunsberg ca. 1716/17 (Simmendinger Register). Nicholas Wever was a patentee on the n. side of the Mohawk River 30 April 1725 (Burnetsfield Patent). A Nicholas Weever was a freeholder at the Falls in 1763 (Albany Co. Freeholders).

Jacob Weber, #789, made his first appearance on the Hunter Lists 1 July 1710 with 2 pers. over 10 and 1 under 10. The household had 2 over 10 and 2 under 10 yrs. 31 Dec 1711, 2 over 10 on 24 June 1711, 4 over 10 and 1 under 10 on 24 June 1712, and 2 pers. over 10 on 13 Sept 1712. Jacob Webber of Queensbury was a soldier in 1711 (Palatine Volunteers To Canada). Jacob Weever was nat. 11 Oct 1715 (Albany Nats.). Jacob Weber and his wife Elisabetha Maria were at Neu-Quunsberg ca. 1716/17 (Simmendinger Register). Jacob Wever was a patentee on the n. side of the Mohawk River 30 April 1725 (Burnetsfield Patent).

Ottilia Weber, #791, made her initial appearance on the Hunter Rolls 1 July 1710 with 2 pers. over 10 yrs. of age; the entry was recorded next to the notation for Jacob Weber on that date. The household showed 2 pers. over 10 still on 4 Oct 1710, when she was entered but one name from Niclaus Weber. The family was registered with 3 over 10 on 31 Dec 1710, 2 over 10 on 24 June 1711, and 1 pers. over 10 yrs. of age on 29 Sept 1711.

The loss of early Mohawk Valley Chbks. (churchbooks) has made connectives between the first three generations of Palatine Webers almost impossible to make, as there were three obviously-related emigrant Weber families who settled in the Mohawk. A Jacob Wever Jr. was a patentee on the s. side of the Mohawk River in the Burnetsfield Patent 30 April 1725; however, in 18th century N.Y. the term Jr. did not necessarily denote that Jr. had to be the s/o Sr., so one must be cautious in assuming that Jacob Wever Jr. was s/o Jacob^1 Wever/Weber (HJ). An Andries Wever was also a patentee on the s. side of the Mohawk 30 April 1725 (Burnetsfield Patent); Andries, along with Nicholas and Jacob Weever, was a freeholder at the Falls in 1763 (Albany Co. Freeholders). The difficulties of sorting out all the Mohawk Webers even are reflected in the Stone Arabia Ref. Chbk., when the Pastor had to name family members as Johann Georg Nicolaus Weber and Johann Nicel H. Weber.

The military records of colonial N.Y. as found in Report of the State Historian, Vol. II, note many Webers: 1) Nichlas Weber J was in Capt Petry's Company in 1757 (p. 781); 2) Georg jun:, Friederik, Jacob, Nicolaus jun: Jacob Jacobs, Peter, Georg Jacobs, Friederik, Henry, Nicolaus Heinry, Jacob Nicolaus, Jo'n Nicolaus, and Georg Weber were all in Capt. Petry's Company at Bornets Field 9 May 1767 (pp. 854 & 855); and 3) John Jacob Weavour and Andrews Weavour were in Conrad Frank's Company in 1767 (pp. 849 & 850). Penrose's Mohawk Valley in the Revolution, pp. 345 - 348, has references to the Webers, as does History of Herkimer Co., N.Y., p. 148, and MacWethy, p. 117.

WIGAND WEBER (Hunter Lists #790)

Wigand Weber's first entry on the Hunter Lists was 4 Oct 1710 with 1 pers. over 10 yrs; the cumulative entry for 24 Dec 1711 shows him with 1 pers. under 10 yrs. Wyart Webber aged 8, orphan, was bound to R. Livingston of Livingston, Mass. 15 Jan 1711 (Apprenticeship Lists). A bill from Wynant Weber to Phil. Livingston is found in the Livingston Papers, Reel #5, and dated 1745/46. Wigand (Weynant) md. 8 Nov 1726 Maria Catharina Silbernagel (Linlithgo Ref. Chbk.); Wynant Webber was listed as a Palatine Debtor in that yr. (Livingston Debt Lists). The ch. of Wigand^1 Weber were:

1) Nicolaus^2, bpt. 13 (?) Feb 1727 - sp.: Leendert Conyn and Geertruy Silvernaats (Claverack Ref. Chbk.). A man with this name md. Margaretha Burres/Borres and had issue bpt. at Rhinebeck Luth., Gallatin Ref., and Pine Plains Churches (HJ).
2) Catharina^2, b. Oct 1731 and bpt. at Taarbosch - sp.: Conrad Schmidt, Catharina - his wife, also his daughter Cath-

by Henry Z. Jones

3) Adam^2, bpt. 10 June 1733 - sp.: Adam Silvernel and Elisabeth Silvernael (Linlithgo Ref. Chbk.). He probably was the Adam Weber who md. Catharina (--) and had a son Weinandt bpt. in 1770 at Pine Plains Church (HJ).
4) Johann Peter^2, b. 25 Sept (prob. 1734 - HJ) - sp.: Peter Silbernagel and wife Elisabet (Rhinebeck Luth. Chbk.). He probably md. Christina (--) (HJ).
5) Christina^2, b. 4 Dec 1737 and bpt. Goghkamke (Ancram) - sp.: Niklaas Kuhn and Maria Cath. Schmids (Loonenburg Luth. Chbk.).
6) Henrich^2 (HJ), md. Maria Decker (HJ).
7?) Jacob^2, md. Rebecca (Becky, Lecki) Koch (HJ).

MICHAEL WEGELE (Hunter Lists #792)

Johann Michael Wagelin from Bohnfeld in Craichgau md. Anna Maria, wid/o Conrad Hartman, 26 July 1710 (West Camp Luth. Chbk.). The actual home of origin in Germany was 6927 Bonfeld (14 km. s.e. of Sinsheim; Chbks. begin 1607). The father of the emigrant undoubtedly was the Johann Michael Wägelin, formerly citizen here, who d. 11 March 1700, aged 47 yrs. Agnes, wid/o Michael Wägelin, md. Joh. Ludwig Roth, s/o the late Joh. Ernst Roth (?), 30 Nov 1700. Hanß Michael Wägele was listed on the 1687 Schatzungseinnahmen of the Kraichgau at Bonfeld (Karlsruhe Archives, GLA 125/3094). Michael Wägele with his family were listed on the emigrant list dated 1710 in the back of the Bonfeld Chbk. (for further references to his fellow-townspeople who left see my article with Annette Burgert "A New Emigrant List: Bonfeld 1710 - 1738" in Der Reggeboge, Vol. 14, No. 4, Oct 1980). impossible to make, as there were three obviously-related contemporary Weber families who settled in the Mohawk. A Jacob Weber Jr. was a patentee on the s. side of the Mohawk River in the Burnetsfield Patent of April 1725; however, in 18th century N.Y. the term Jr. did not necessarily denote that Jr. was to be the son of Sr., but [illegible] functions in assuring that Jacob Weber Jr. was [illegible] (?). An Andreas Weber was also a patentee on the n. side of the Mohawk 30 April 1725 (Burnetsfield Patent) and Jacob, Nicholas and Jacob Weber, was a freeholder at the Falls in 1763 (Albany Co. Freeholders). The difficulties of sorting out all the Mohawk Webers also are reflected in the Stone Arabia Ref. Chbk., when its pastor had to name family members as Johann Henry Nicholas Weber and Johann Nicol M. Weber.

The military records of colonial N.Y., as found in Report of the State Historian, Vol. II, note many Webers: 1) Nicolas Weber was in Capt Petry's Company in 1757 (p. 782); 2) Georg Jost, Frederick, Jacob, Nicolaus jr., Jacob Jacob, Peter, Georg Jacob, Friederich, Henry, Nicolaus Heinry, Peter Nicolaus, Jo'n Nicolaus, and Jacob Weber were all in Capt. Petry's Company at German Flats 4 May 1767 (pp. 846 & 847); and 3) Jean Jacob Weaver and Andrew Weaver were in Conrad Frank's Company in 1767 (pp. 846 & 848). [illegible] Mohawk Valley in the Revolution, pp. 345 - 348, has references to the Webers, as does History of Herkimer Co., N.Y., p. 148, and [illegible], p. 117.

WIEGAND WEBER (Hunter Lists #790)

Wiegand Weber's first entry on the Hunter Lists was 4 Oct 1710 with 1 pers. over 10 yrs; the cumulative entry for 24 Dec 1711 shows him with 1 pers. under 10 yrs. Maria Weber aged 8, orphan, was bound to R. Livingston of Livingston Manor 13 Jan 1714 (Apprenticeship Lists). A bill from Wygant Weber to Phil. Livingston is found in the Livingston Papers, Reel [illegible], and dated 1729/30. Wiegand (Wygant) md. 8 Nov 1720 Maria Catharina Silvernagel (Linlithgo Ref.). MICHAEL WEGELE (Hunter Lists #792)

Johann Michael Wegele from [illegible] md. Anna Maria, wid/o Conrad [illegible], 26 July 1710 (West Camp Luth. Chbk.). The actual home of origin in Germany was 6927 Bonfeld (15 km. Seeking confirmation of antecedents listed below. My visit to Herkimer and Stone Arabia last summer confirmed in Dutch Reformed Church records that Michael Nicholas WEBER was born Nov.1797 and bp. DRC Stone Arabia in Jan 1798. Chbk. indicates parents: Nicholas Weber and Maria Barbara KELLER (b. Mar 1,1766; daughter of Caspar Keller).

Also seeking further info on:

- (Johannes) Nicholaus Weber Jr.: bap 3 Aug 1777 German Flats RPDC, Herkimer. Born where and when?
- Johannes Nicholaus Weber: bap 5 Nov 1755 at Gallatin Reformed Church Columbia Co. NY and info on his wife Catharina.
- Nicolaus Weber: b 13 Feb 1727 and wife Margretha B(O)URRES?
- and on immigrant ancestor Wigand/Weygand/Wyant Weber, b ca.1698 Holland, married 8 Nov 1726 to Maria Catharin SILBERNAGEL.

Any info greatly appreciated. Much enjoyed my pilgrimage to Herkimer last year to find RDC Stone Arabia and stand at altar where my gggrandfather Michael Nicholas was baptized.

His son, John Wood, born at Moravia, New York, December 20, 1798, came to Illinois, and resided in Adams County, being the founder of the city of Quincy, and was elected lieutenant-governor of the State in 1856. On the death of the Governor, William H. Bissell, March 18, 1860, John Wood succeeded to the office and served out the remainder of the term to January, 1861. Palatine Naming Order

In the course of research, a definite naming order became apparent with the Palatines in the Mohawk Valley. Although there are some exceptions to this pattern in lineal descent, genealogists working with Germanic families will find this anayltical technique

Compendium of Early Mohawk Families Marlys B Penrose

Arthur
Hiram
Everett
John Webster
James

The naming order was keyed to the middle name of the individual, viz.: the first son took the name of his paternal grandfather; the second son took the name of his maternal grandfather; and the third son took the name of his own father. (Daughters were also named after their grandmothers and mother in the same sequence as the sons.) This custom made it possible, where middle names appear in the records, to identify the paternal grandfather of first born sons, and also furnished clues to the identity of other grandparents when the birth order was known of the first three sons and daughters.

The compendium represents the culmination of more than twenty-five years research on families in the Mohawk Valley. An important source for the data used in these volumes has been the Montgomery County Department of History and Archives, Fonda, New York.

Special mention should also be made of the "Vosburgh Collection" of church records. In 1912 the Board of Trustees of the New York Genealogical and Biographical Society assigned Royden Woodward Vosburgh, historian and archivist of the Society, to transcribe the records of "many of the larger Dutch Reformed Churches as well as several of other denominations" in seventeen New York counties. Under the auspices of the Society, the records of ninety-two Protestant churches were accurately transcribed and bound into one hundred and one typewritten volumes. Typescript copies can also be found in the collections of the following subscribers, "all of whom agreed to share the expense in return for copies", viz.: the Library of Congress, the New-York Historical Society, and the New York State Library.

The Compendium, used in conjunction with Henry Z Jones, Jr.'s definitive work on The Palatine Families of New York, as well as his forthcoming book on The Palatine Families of New York & New Jersey: Some Later Arrivals 1717-60, should provide a foundation for genealogical and historical research on early Mohawk Valley families.

Hudson-Mohawk Genealogical and Family Memoirs: Cuyler

Kathy here I can
'd copy family

[This information is from Vol. IV, pp. 1720-1728 of Hudson-Mohawk Genealogical and Family Memoirs, edited by Cuyler Reynolds (New York: Lewis Historical Publishing Company, 1911). It is in the Reference collection of the Schenectady County Public Library at R 929.1 R45. Some of the formatting of the original, especially in lists of descendants, may have been altered slightly for ease of reading.]

The family name of Cuyler is believed to have been derived from the German word "Keiler"— a wild boar of the forest — and would therefore signify a powerful man. "Keiler" is also spelled "Keuler," and both of these words have exactly the same sound as the Dutch "Cuyler." Had the name been adopted in what is understood as modern times, then it would correspond to the form "Kuiler" or "Kuilder," meaning a man who fishes with a "kuil," which is a bag-shaped fishnet, and the family name would accordingly signify one who was a fisherman when the name was originally applied. The Dutch word "Kuyl" signifies a pit or hole, and it is not so consistent to state that "Kuyler" meant one who digs a hole, or is a delver, or to follow the analogy by employing other synonymous terms.

The Cuyler arms, modified and by some considered more attractive than the earliest form known, both in design and coloring, and which has been in common use in America for probably a century or more, is described as follows: Shield: Per pale, embattled gules and azure, an arrow in bend, or, barbed and flighted, argent, point upwards. Crest: On a mural crown proper, a battleaxe erect, surmounted by two arrows in saltire, or, flighted argent, points downwards. Motto: (Dutch) Ik vertrouw op God, niet op pijlen; (Latin) Deo non sagittis fido; (English) I trust in God, not in arrows. When printing the motto in capital letters in Dutch, the word "pijlen" would be spelled "pylen," with the two small marks above the letter "y," a form not always accessible in printing books, consequently the equivalent "i j" is employed. Attention is here called to the fact that "God" is the Dutch word for "Gott" in the German, and the motto is in Dutch.

The impression in the wax, made when Annatje Schepmoes, widow of Hendrick Cuyler, the progenitor, sealed her will, about the year 1700, shows the single arrow in the field, pointing upwards, with the initial letter of his Christian name, "H," in the lower left corner, and the letter "C" in the upper right corner. This is the property of Mrs. De Lancey Nicoll, of New York City.

That the Cuyler family held eminent position in Holland long before the year 1600 has been demonstrated by the thorough research made among the archives in that country through the persistence of Mrs. Maud Churchill Nicoll to seek out the family's early history, and the interesting fact has been established by her that this family probably antedates any other in Holland in the use of a surname, which goes to show the advancement of the family at an early period.

In this country it was not long before the family was recognized in a distinctive manner, beyond all disputation, for the appointments of the chief officials in the colony were made by the English Crown, and the choice invariably fell to the man of eminence. Next after the position of governor, which office was filled by the English government sending an Englishman of prominence across the water to represent the king or queen, as the case might be, the selection of a mayor was the highest rank, and he was a man residing in the colony, hence the colonist could receive no greater recognition. New York and Albany were the principal cities in the colony.

The Cuyler family was the peer of all others, as the following facts will show, aside from what creditable estimates many historians have written respecting it, and it is here set forth that from the time Albany became a city, July 22, 1686, to the time of the revolution, some one of the Cuyler name and direct line was either mayor of Albany or closely related to one who was, such as a wife, brother or son. It is interesting to the general historian as an illustration of the intermarriage of leading families in founding a city.

Gen 2 – Johannes Cuyler, son of Hendrick Cuyler, the progenitor, was appointed (14th) mayor of Albany by Gov. William Burnet, and officiated from October 14, 1725, until November 7, 1726.

Gen 3 Cornelis Cuyler, son of Mayor Johannes Cuyler and Elsje Ten Broeck, was appointed (20th) mayor by Lieut.-Gov. George Clarke, and officiated from October 14, 1742, until September 28, 1746.

Colonel Abraham Cornelis Cuyler, son of Mayor Cornelis Cuyler and Catalyntje Schuyler, was appointed (26th) mayor by Lieut.-Gov. Cadwallader Colden, and officiated from September 20, 1770, until April 16, 1778.

Gen 2 Mayor Johannes Cuyler married (1684) Elsje, daughter of (4th) Mayor Dirck Wesselse Ten Broeck.

Mayor Cornelis Cuyler married (1726) Catalyntje, daughter of (10th) Mayor Johannes Schuyler.

Abraham Cuyler, second child of Hendrick Cuyler, the progenitor, married (1689) Catherine, daughter of (7th) Mayor Jan Jansen Bleecker.

Gen 2 Sara Cuyler, third child of Hendrick Cuyler, the progenitor, married (6th) Mayor Pieter Van Brugh, in 1688.

Rachel Cuyler, fifth child of Hendrick Cuyler, the progenitor, married (13th) Mayor Myndert Schuyler, in 1693.

Maria Cuyler, sixth child of Hendrick Cuyler, the progenitor, married (1st) Mayor John Cruger, of New York City, in 1703, and John, son of Maria Cuyler and Mayor John Cruger, was mayor of New York, 1756-65.

Sara Cuyler, daughter of Mayor Johannes Cuyler, married (17th) Mayor Johannes Hansen, in 1723.

Sara Cuyler's husband, Mayor Johannes Hansen, had sister Debora, who was mother of (29th) Mayor Johannes Jacobse Beeckman, having married Jacob Beeckman.

Anna Cuyler, daughter of Mayor Johannes Cuyler, married (1712) the nephew of (1st) Mayor Pieter Schuyler, Anthony Van Schaick.

Sara Cuyler, daughter of Mayor Johannes Cuyler, married (1723) Johannes, son of (5th) Mayor Hendrick Hansen.

Gen (I) Hendrick Cuyler was progenitor of the entire family of that name in this country. His father was Isobrant Cuyler, whose wife bore the Christian name of Evertien, or Evertje.

He was born at Hasselt, a city in the province of Overyssel, Holland, a few miles north of Zolle, and he was baptized there August 11, 1637.* He died in New York, N. Y., in 1690. (* From the papers of Maud Churchill Nicoll.)

Hendrick Cuyler settled in Beverwyck in 1664, when the place was changing from the Dutch rule, known as Dorpe Beverwyck, to that of the English, when it became known for the first time (September 24, 1664) as Albany. He was a tailor, and was successful in accumulating considerable property. He bought a lot on the hill, on the east side of North Pearl street, near State street, and owned a lot in 1680 on the south side of State, west of Pearl street, "near ye Fort," which was located in the center of the former broad thoroughfare at its intersection with Lodge street. After his death this lot and house passed into the possession of his son-in-law, Mayor Pieter Van Brugh.

In 1675 he made his brother Reynier, then residing in Holland, "cnoopemaecker tot Amsterdam" (button-maker residing at Amsterdam), his attorney, in order to receive certain property from Pieter Nicolaas Gouverneur. He had a house built for him at Albany in 1680, evidently the one on the lot last described. It was erected from timber cut and prepared in New York City. Jan Nagel, Jan Dyckman, Arent Hermens Bussing, Adolph Meyer and Jan Delamater were kept busy in that year hewing timber to fill a contract made January 2, 1680, with Nicolaas de Meyer, as his agent, for whom they were to furnish timber, including "beams, posts, rafters, plates, sleepers, door-posts and casings, according to the plan thereof," to be delivered in the ensuing May, part at the waterside and part in New York City at the Burgher's Path, for which they were to receive "1,300 guilders, with a half-ancker of rum, to-wit: one-third in silver money or sewant, one-third in good winter wheat, and one-third in goods, at such price as he (De Meyer) sells the same at his store for current sewant."

He eventually returned to New York to live, where he and his wife united with the Dutch church by letter, November 29, 1688, two years before his death. He married, at New Amsterdam (New York City), Annatje Schepmoes, born in that city and died there, daughter of Jan Jansen Schepmoes and Sara Pieterse. Children: Johannes, Abraham, Sara, Delia, Rachel, Maria, Eva, Hendrick. [illegible]

(II) Johannes Cuyler, first child of Hendrick Cuyler and Annatje Schepmoes, was born in Holland in 1661, and died at Albany, New York, July 20, 1740, where he was buried in the Dutch church.

He was one of the most prominent traders of the place, and acquired wealth; was admitted a freeman of New York City in 1696 where he resided for a time; attended the Dutch Reformed Church of Albany, whereof he was a deacon in 1695 and 1700, and in later years was elder. He was Commissioner of Indian Affairs for a number of years, beginning with 1706, and was also alderman. Gov. William Burnet appointed him fourteenth mayor of Albany, and he officiated from October 14, 1725, to November 7, 1726. His residence was on the east side of North Pearl, the second house south of Steuben street, with his extensive lot extending through the block to Yaugh (now James) street.

His son, Cornelis Cuyler, became the twentieth mayor of Albany by appointment of Lieut.-Gov. George Clarke, serving from October 14, 1742, to September 28, 1746, and, in turn, the son of Mayor Cornelis Cuyler, Colonel Abraham Cornelis Cuyler, became the twenty-sixth mayor of Albany by appointment of Lieut.-Gov. Cadwallader Colden, serving from September 10, 1770, to April 16, 1778. His daughter Sara married (Apr. 25, 1723) Johannes Hansen, seventeenth mayor, by appointment of President Rip Van Dam, and reappointed by Gov. James De Lancey, with terms from October 14, 1731, to October 22, 1732, and from 1754 to 1756. In this manner, it might be put, that Johannes Cuyler, his son, grandson and his daughter, occupied the municipal "White House" throughout fourteen years.

Mayor Johannes Cuyler married, Albany, November 2, 1684, Elsje Ten Broeck, born at Albany, died there June 29, 1752, and buried in the Dutch Church, July 2nd. She was the second child and eldest daughter of Mayor Dirck Wesselse Ten Broeck (born, Holland, Dec. 18, 1638; died, Clermont, Columbia county, N. Y., Sept. 18, 1717). who married (Albany, 1663) Christina Van Buren (born May 19, 1644; died Nov. 24, 1729). Johannes Curler and Elsje Ten Broeck had issue:

Gen (II) Hendrick Cuyler, eighth child of Hendrick Cuyler and Annatje Schepmoes, was a merchant residing in New York City. His will, bearing date New York, New York, July 23, 1763, was probated (liber 25, surrogate's court, county of New York) December 20, 1766.*

(* This line has been traced by Maud Churchill Nicoll.)

He married, in the Middle Dutch Church of New York City, license dated April 1, 1710, Maria Jacobs.

Gen (III) Johannes Abraham Cuyler, fourth child of Abraham Cuyler and Caatje (or Catherine) Bleecker, was born at Albany, New York, June 21, 1698, and died there October 24, 1746; buried October 27. He had a house-lot in 1729 on the east corner of Broadway and Steuben street.

He married, at Albany, October 28, 1727, Catharina Wendell, born at Albany, baptized there January 10, 1705; died at Albany, April 12, 1746; was buried in the Dutch church, April 14th, and was the daughter of Harmanus Wendell (born Albany, 1678; died there; buried in Dutch Church, December 15, 1731), who married (about 1699) Annatje Glen (died, Albany; buried Sept. 19, 1756).

Johannes Abraham Cuyler and Catharina Wendell had issue, born at Albany:

1. Elsje; baptized September 15, 1728.
2. Harmanus, baptized May 3, 1730; married, Coxsackie, New York, 1771, Elizabeth Van Bergen.
3. Johannes, baptized September 21, 1731; married, Schenectady, New York, July 5, 1763, Susanna Vedder.
4. Abraham, baptized September 3, 1732.
5. Catharina, baptized May 12, 1734.
6. Cornelis, baptized October 19, 1735; married, Albany, March 16, 1763, Anna Wendell (see forward).
7. Anna, baptized September 5, 1736.
8. Margarita, baptized April 20, 1740.
9. Jacob, baptized September 28, 1741, died June 5, 1804, aged sixty-two years, six months; married, Albany, March 5, 1764, Lydia Van Vechten.
10. Jacob, baptized January 10, 1746; died at Coxsackie, New York, October 2, 1823. (This Jacob seems wrong; but so appears on records in Pearson).

(II) Abraham Cuyler, second child of Hendrick Cuyler and Annatje Schepmoes, died at Albany, New York, and was buried there in the Dutch Church, July 14, 1747. Through shrewdness as a trader he acquired much valuable property, both at Albany and elsewhere. He married, Albany, November 17, 1689, Caatje (or Catherine) Bleecker. She died at Albany, April 8, 1734. Her father was Mayor Jan Jansen Bleecker, born in Holland, 1641; came from Meppel, province of Overyssel, Holland, 1658, to Rensselaerswyck; appointed seventh mayor of Albany by Earl of Bellomont, officiating 1700-1701; died at Albany, November 21, 1732; buried in Dutch Church there, November 25; married (Albany, January 2, 1667) Margariet (daughter of Rutger Jacobsen Van Schoenderwoert), born 1647, died 1733. Abraham Cuyler and Caatje Bleecker had issue:

1. Hendrick, born at New York, N. Y., December 22, 1690; married, Albany, New York, December 1, 1722, Margarita Van Deusen.

Born in Albany:

1. Margarita, October 26, 1692; died there, May 24, 1783; married, Albany, November 26, 1714, Mayor Dirck Ten Broeck.
2. Anna, baptized April 14, 1695; died November, 1709, unmarried.
3. Johannes Abraham, June 21, 1698; died October 24, 1746; buried October 27; married, Albany, October 28, 1727, Catharina Wendell (see forward).
4. Sara, baptized April 28, 1700; died young.
5. Maria, March 30, 1703; died February 16, 1722.
6. Sara, baptized October 6, 1706; died in Albany, buried there, August 28, 1746; married, Albany, July 6, 1729, Johannes Janse Beeckman.
7. Catharina, baptized February 18, 1710; married, Albany, August 1, 1736, Judge Jacob Coenraedt Ten Eyck, mayor of Albany.
8. Abraham, December 27, 1713; married, Albany, May 5, 1744, Jannetje Beeckman.
9. Nicolaas, June 27, 1716; married, Albany, May 11, 1745, Maria Schuyler.

9079: JACOB WEAVER - pr. born ca 1742 to 1755; m GEERTJE VAN VLIET. A guess that Jacob descends from the GF Weavers (ps. son of Nicholas in immigrant Jacob's line). Children, all bp at Schenectady NY, were BENJAMIN (bp 16 May 1779), LYDIA (bp Mar 1781), ZACHARIAS (bp 24 Dec 1786), & BLANDINA (bp Mar 1789).

Dixon Ave, Dixon Illinois 61021); m SAR 13 Apr 1766 MARGARET MEYER a sister of JOSEPH MEYER and Judge Meyer (ibid), thus dau of PETER MEYER. Traditon is that he had brothers John, Nicholas, & George, all of whom were killed in the French war (ibid). A Jacob & Margaret sponsored Nov 1777 bp of Marg., dau of Lorentz Meyer. Gronberg notes say son John went to Schenectady, had 2 children, and died a young man.

9075: JERONIMUS WEAVER - pr. born ca 1735 to 1740; m ELISABETH. Two children were baptised at Schoharie (SHH) and we think a tie is likely to the Henry Weber and Jacob Weber, both married, who were sponsors for children of William Laux at Schoharie from 1773 to 1775.

9155: CATHERINE b 31 Jan 1758 (SHH sp Jacob Zimmer & w.)

FRANK. This John looks like the son of Jacob jr. whose 1793 will mentioned children of his son John as Jacob, Maria, Margaret, and Catherine (fits with children below if Catherine was child bp 1792). Probably the John Weaver on the 1790 German Flats census (2-1-2) in the Frankfort area with Law. Frank & Moyer nearby. A guess that the extra adult male in his 1790 household was an orphaned son of brother Jacob.

Sponsors for baptism of children were George Michel Weber & Cath. (1791), Fred. Weaver & Cath. (1794), Rudolph Shoemaker & w. Marg. (1804), and Hen. Meyer & w. Eva of Herkimer (1808). Nicholas G. This Nicholas was badly wounded at the Battle of Oriskany as related in Parson's "Mohawk Valley Edicks". He was a sponsor, with Cath. Dockstader, for 1764 bp of Catherine, dau of Jacob Weaver & Catherine. Later he appears on the 1778 German Flats relief with 2 adults and 7 children (3 or 4 of whom were pr. Probably the son of Jacob Weber Jr. who was a sponsor, with Catherine Harter, for Apr 1762 bp of Nicholas, son of George Weber & Elisabeth. Then a "Joh. Nich. Joh. Ps. the Nicholas Weber jr. in 1769 GF militia and the Nicholas who had 2 adults & 4 children on 1778 GF relief. He was pr. father of Catherine P. She and her husband were early settlers of Utica NY about 1788 and had adopted Nicholas Smith, the orphaned son of Nicholas Smith & Margaret. We think there is an error in the 1785 GF Church marriage record which lists her as "Catherine P.", causing the Bellinger book (page 25) to make her "Catherine (Nic. P.)" so as to get her back under Nicholas Weaver & Gertrude (Demuth). An 1815 deed of Nicholas Jac. Weber (Oneida Co. book #27, page 400) mentions an Elisabeth Bellinger and a Hannah Bellinger which we think refer to daughters born to John Bellinger & this Catherine in 1788 and 1792. Also mentioned in the 1815 deed was a John Ostrom, ps. a tie to the Joshua Ostrom who married Catherine Bellinger (b 1786) dau of John Bellinger & this Catherine.

of one of the Indentures, a document conveying some eight parcels of land, paid the sum of Sixteen Pounds, Twelve Shillings, and 1:2 4/5 Pence.

These Indentures bear the signatures of Johannes Hoener, and Christophel Hagadorn, the surviving Trustees as Grantors, and of Gilbert and Henry Livingston as witnesses.

The Township Lot Numbers, designated on the Colden Map, are to be found on the backs of these old documents conveying them. It is indeed a pity that so many of them have vanished with the passing of the years.

There are also deeds in existence recording transfer of real estate within the bounds of the six thousand acre tract that are dated prior to the making of the Colden Map. These, however, were not made by the Trustees, nor can the land so conveyed be located with any degree of certainty. In this case there are no township lot numbers.

GROWTH AND DEVELOPMENT

Progress of settlement of the area that we know today as Germantown was not rapid, but steady. The Colden Map of 1740 indicates that the greater portion of the residents of the area were still located in, or near, the sites of the four original Palatine villages--Hayesbury, Hunterstown, Annesbury, Queensbury.

Movement of these people and their families began well prior to the Revolution however, for, according to record, the original portion of the Simon Rockefeller home, located nearly a mile east of present day Germantown Village, was erected in 1755. The old stone house that once stood near the junction of present day Highway No. 8 and Eastern Parkway must also date from approximately the same time. In th northeastern part of the Township, the house often called the "Tom Hyer Place" also dated from early times if architectural detail meant anything at all.

Houses dating from this period, and so located, would most certainly indicate that these people were steadily spreading over their six thousand acres.

This spread over the Township may be readily verified by a look at the map of the area made in 1798 by John Wigra This layout of the township gives the location of the various houses erected thereon and indicates that the entire extent of the six thousand acres had been occupied.

On this map, the two old churches, Lutheran and Reformed, were still located in the area of what once had bee Queensbury Village, but the location of the school had already been shifted to the site of what was later to become the Village of Germantown.

Some idea of the rate of population growth in the area may be gained from a look at the old census figures. In 1724-25, some sixty three families had signified their willingness to remain on the six thousand acres. By 1790, eight one families were listed as residents of the township, and this figure had increased to one hundred twenty two by 1810.

A list of the freeholders of the township, taken from the old jury list of 1811, gives an excellent idea of the manner in which the set-up of the area was changing. Farming, nature thereof not specified, still predominated with thirty four listed, fruit raising as such was still a side issue apparently, but, if the old tradition that has apples being shipped from Germantown in 1767 is to be credited, the fruit had to come from somewhere.

According to this old list, the local farms were no longer the completely self-sufficient little entities that they had been in earlier times. Two blacksmiths are listed as well as three carpenters, one mason, two shoemakers, one merchant, and one physician. Three are also listed as yeomen.

The ferry, located at Hunterstown, later East Camp, and later still, Cheviot, was operated by John Acker.

The merchant named on this old list was Henry Rockefeller who was operating a store near the present day intersection of Route 9G and County Highway No. 8, the area known in the olden times as the "Rockefeller Neighborhood". Diel Rockefeller had located there shortly after his arrival in the East Camp in 1733, and had conducted a store and tavern in a part of the house he had erected, this house being located on the west side of the road and a little distance north of the traffic light. Harry Rockefeller named in the listing of 1811 was his grandson.

An old highway description, dated about 1808-10 has a John Kortz conducting a store in the eastern portion of the township not far from the Simon Rockefeller homestead, this last named building also housed a tavern. Tradition has always maintained that some member of the Kortz family also conducted a store in a part of the old brick house that the family had erected in Queensbury Village in 1765. This building was later in possession of the Sharp family who,

ORISKANY

When news of St. Leger's approach reached Tryon County, Herkimer, who had been named Brigadier General by the State Legislature, called upon all available men between sixteen and sixty to march with him to the relief of Fort Stanwix. Some eight hundred fighting men, more than eighty percent of them Palatines, or of Palatine descent, answered the call and, on August 4th, the group began their march to aid the beleaguered fort.

The following day found Herkimer and his men nearing their objective and the General, wise in the way of the enemy, determined to call a halt until proper reconnaissance could be made and contact with the fort established if at all possible.

The more hot-headed element of his command would not hear of this, and, after being accused of Toryism and cowardess by his men, Herkimer, much against his judgment, ordered the advance.

St. Leger's scouts had warned him of Herkimer's approach and the British commander had dispatched a strong force of white and indians to lay an ambush for the Americans. The site was well-chosen, and the Americans found themselves surrounded and under heavy fire.

Herkimer fell with a shattered knee at the first volley but, sitting propped under a tree, did what he could to organize the defense. A half hour of the greatest disorder ensued before the American commander could force his men to combat the enemy fire and get in some work of their own.

The Indians of the British forces were using some of their standard tricks on the Palatines. As soon as one Indian could draw the fire of an American and thus get him to empty his gun, another painted devil would dash forward and tomahawk him before he could reload.

A torrential shower brought a temporary cessation of hostilities, and Herkimer used this lull to instruct his men to work in pairs with one gun always loaded. This change of tactics cost the Indians dearly, so dearly in fact that they began to give way.

Johnson's Greens, a Tory regiment made up in part of men from Tryon County, were sent in to bolster the situation and when the Palatines saw men that they had known in years past, clad in the hated enemy uniform, hate and fury passed all bounds.

The fighting rapidly became too close for shooting, and the combatants used whatever weapons came to hand. Gun butts, bayonets, clubbed guns, knives, and even the weapons nature had given them. Many were found after the battle locked together in the final struggle, and some were found with their throats bearing the marks of the fingers of the strangler.

The Indians had scant stomach for the sort of punishment Herkimer's men were dishing out and broke in retreat. Firing was heard from the direction of the fort, and the remainder of the British force followed. When the shades of night finally settled over the bloody field of Oriskany, Nicholas Herkimer and his battered but victorious Tryon County Militia were holding the terrain, victors in what has often been called the bloodiest battle of the Revolution in proportion to the number of men engaged.

Herkimer's wound proved fatal to him some days after the battle. The heroic leader passed away at his home after an operation to remove his shattered leg had proven unsuccessful.

Herkimer's victory at Oriskany ended St. Leger's threat to the Mohawk Valley. Some three years later, the British and Indians returned and harried both the Mohawk and Schoharie Valley, burning the grain crops and countless homes. The Palatines, however, with their characteristic persistance, rebuilt their homes and continued to hold the ground that had cost them so much.

The victory at Oriskany also gave the leaders of the new nation some much needed time to mass men and weapons at Stillwater, Schuylerville, and Bemiss Heights, where, on September 19th and October 7th of that same year, General Burgoyne and the second arm of the invading forces, went down to defeat in what has been termed one of the seven decisive battles of history, Saratoga.

Included in the line of battle on that historic occasion were men whose names indicate that they hailed from the Livingston-Germantown-Clermont area, and many of whom have descendants still living there. These were under command of Lieut. Col. Henry Livingston and Gen. Samuel Ten Broeck. Men from this locality were ordered to Fort Arnold in the Highlands in 1778.

Locations of these areas have been given as nearly as possible as they can be figured with what information we have today.

All of this would seem to indicate that the sixty-three families who had elected to remain in the Germantown area in 1724, and their descendants, had taken root and spread throughout the entire area.

Such growth and expansion could have but one result, and this was the shifting of the center of things from the original locations along the river to some point further inland. The first step in this direction apparently came with the change in the location of the school established in Old Queensbury by the Rev. John Fred Haeger not too long after 1710, to a location in what later became Germantown Village. This change took place prior to the making of the map by John Wigram in 1798.

The next major move did not come until the opening years of the second decade of the nineteenth century when, within a few years of one another, both of the old congregations, the Lutheran and Reformed, changed location of their houses of worship.

These changes took place within a very short interval, by the Lutherans beginning the move to erect a new church in 1812, and the Reformed Congregation a year later.

The site chosen by the Lutherans was almost identical with that occupied by their present building at Viewmonte. The members of the Reformed Church chose the crest of the hill about one half mile east of present Germantown Village. The old Reformed Church cemetery on the East side of County Route 8 marks the area where this church once stood. This church was taken from the site when the Reformed Church moved into the village. The church building was purchased by Thomas Miller of Linlithgo and used as a barn for many years. This building stood until the 1950's when it was dismantled by David Miller.

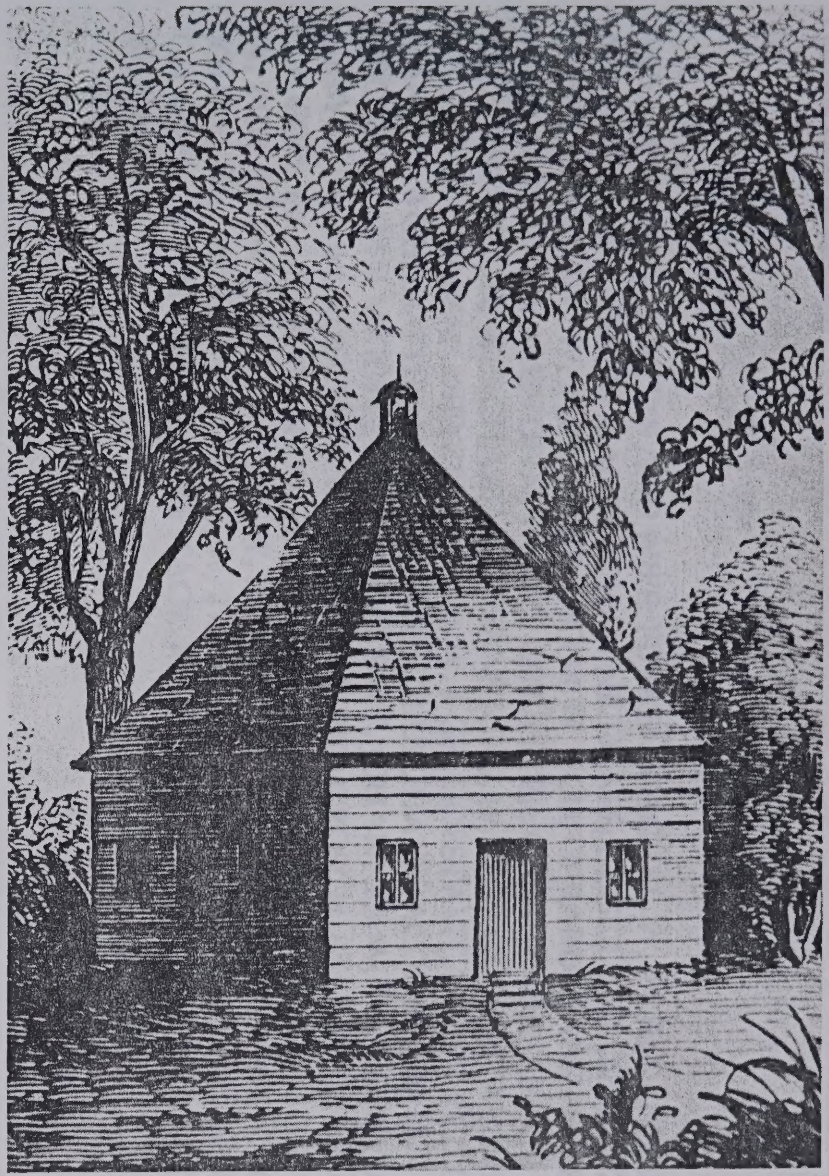
Reasons for the change appear to have been more or less similar from all accounts. Desire to be more centrally located in respect to their congregations, run-down condition of the older buildings, and possibly need for more commodious quarters.

Here again, tradition enters the picture, with one old tale crediting the Reformed Group with making this move a year or two earlier than supposed. This move presaged, all too plainly, the breaking up of the old original Palatine settlements and the coming of a new order of things which would include also the beginning of the Town's District School system. This in compliance with the Legislation of June 9, 1812.

On April 6, 1813, those present at the Town Meeting held at the home of Philip Rockefeller witnessed the opening moves in the establishment of the District Frame Up of the town. Somewhat later that same year, some have it on or after September 1st, the town was divided into Districts. These were four in number with two located entirely within the Township and two laid out jointly with adjacent areas. With this move, the District School System of Germantown came into being.



THE TYPE OF BUILDING SAID TO HAVE BEEN BUILT IN THE EAST CAMP IN OR ABOUT 1717 FOR JOINT USE OF THE LUTHERAN AND ANGLICAN CONGREGATIONS. THIS BUILDING WAS REPLACED BY THE SECOND CHURCH DRAWING OF A LUTHERAN CHURCH IN QUEENSBURY.

HUSBAND - Jacob Christopher Fox

Ref. Fox Geny #137 by Donald Fox, p. 26, 27. Jacob inherited his father's farm.

Ref. Early Families of Herkimer Co. by Barker, p 90. Bpt St Johnsville Reformed. Ch. sponsor Jacob C. and Delia W. Fox.

Jacob was Confirmed Oct 10, 1819 at Stone Arabia Reformed Church.

Jacob's death 1871 is from Pedigree Resource at Mormon site, submitted by another person. Proof?

Notes:

Mormon website lists Clark Fox, b. 15 Feb 1830, (s/o Jacob Fox b. 19 May 1776, of Stone Arabia, and wf Catharine, b. ca 1799; listed father Jacob Fox being s/o Christopher Fox and Elizabeth Hess).

1830 census, Danube Herkimer Co, NY; one Jacob Fox 40-50 yrs, had female 40-50 yrs, both b. 1780/1790, also one male 20-30 (b. ca 1800-1810, and 2 females one 15/20 (b. 1810-1815) and one 5/10 yrs, (b. 1820-25).

Author Barker, says Jacob was bpt St Johns, St Johnsville NY. Jacob Fox, no middle name #3081, was s/o #3060 Chris W. Fox.

I didn't copy to docs any other Fox pg.

WIFE - Catharine Gaylor

alterrnate spelling, Kieler, Cayler, Kaler, Galard, Koeler.

Birth 1800 and death date 1 June 1883, for Catharine Galard, (d/o Philip Galard), who married 9 Jan. 1820 at Fort Plain, Montgomery Co. NY to Jacob Christopher Fox, came from Donald P. Fox , who wrote a book, "Descendants. of Christophel Fox" in the early 1990's. Donald cited Ola Walter Bell, a noted Genealogist, who published the same info including Catharine in 1928 in St. Johnsville Enterprise and News. Donald wrote an updated genealogy of this book later, not seen by me.

Catherine's husband Jacob was b. 1794 Palatine, NY, s/o Christopher William Fox and Margaret Nellis).

#137, Jacob C. Fox, b. 1794, Palatine, NY, m. Catharine Galard, b. 1800, d. 1883, had 2 ch. Alexander and Hiram Fox who m. Hannah Fuke.

Try census Kochler

* Cath. Gaylor was married as Cath. Koehler at Reformed Dutch Church, Minden Twnsp, Ft. Plain, NY.

must Get recs of FT Plain church to see if maiden name of her mother is listed. D6

(Why wasn't Cath marr. in Palatine where her family resided? Perhaps the pastor served more thn one church).

Cath's death of 1 Jun1883 came also from from Pedigree Resource File at Mormon website, submitted by another person. this is not proof

I question Cath's 1883 death date, unless she separated or was divorced from Fox. Cath. does not appear with Jacob * in any census. Could her death date be a typo error?

WHAT DATE?? Cite source. Mrs. Catharine Fox Joined Trinity Lutheran Stone Arabia NY Church as d/o Philip and Mgt Kaler. Get more Kaler

Catharine Fox was admitted to full communion at German Reformed Church at Stone Arabia 11 Oct 1823, wife of Jacob Fox, and d/o Philip Koeler. Note that Catherine's brother James joined the same church three yrs earlier. See below. *

WIFE - Catharine Gaylor (Continued)

1820, Sept. 30, James Galer, s/o Philip , joined Stone Arabia NY Reformed Church.
(Note that this was not the same ch. as Trinity Lutheran Stone Arabia where he was bpt.).

1827, Aug. 5, bpt of Martin Fox, s/o Jacob C. Fox and wife Catharine, sponsors were Hiram Gaylor and Tina Fox. (Note that Hiram was brother of Mrs. Catherine Fox). good proof

In June 2013, I was able to track Catherine's son William because William Fox was named as brother and residing in Danube, NY, in Alexander Fox's obit. in 1900. Alex was generally known to have been s/o Jacob and Catherine.
I tracked William Fox and found that Wm Fox of Danube NY was struck by a train at ____ in 1899, seriously injured.
While injured he resided at a hotel where his four daughters took care of him. A news article listed one of the daus. was Mrs. William Golden of ___.
Further tracking (? by newspaper) determined that Wm Golden's wife was Anna.

Census tracking listed William Fox with wf Rosena who was born in Ireland. Their 4 daus. appeared on census.

1860 July 6 census Palatine, Montgomery Co. N.Y. P.O. Palatine Bridge. p. 52. Alva Fuller, Asst Marshall.
b. 1795 Jacob C. Fox, 65 yrs, R.E. $300, Pers Prop $70, Farm Laborer, Almyra 19, William 23, (b ca 1837) and wife Rosena 24, Harvy 3, Nancy 2 yrs.
(It would seem that Jacob's wife Catherine was either deceased or was separated from him). if the same Jacob C Fox (Neighbors Wagner, Snell, Newman and other Fox fams).

Wm Fox was still in Palatine in 1875 census with wf Rosena b. Ire. and sev. ch. incl. Anna b. ca 1860, all b. Montgomery Co.

Clues

1810 census Palatine, Montgomery Co. N.Y. p. 123.
Philip Gayler (sic), in Palatine, Montgomery Co. NY. was age 26-44 for birth 1766-1784, had one female same age, likely his wf, 3 males under 10, (b. ca 1801-1809, one female one 10-15, (b. ca 1795-1800). This fits the ages of the sons James, Hiram, John bpt at Stone Arabia church and dau. Catherine, said to be born 1800. Dau Eliz not yet born

In 1810, Philip was listed between Henry Lasher over 45, and George Potter, a younger man. Christopher C. Fox, same age as Gayler, was listed just above Henry Lasher, over 45. Malachi Potter, over 45 was listed below George, over 45, then Andrew Gay, over 45, also John C. Fox, same age as Gayler.

(1810 census on prev. pg, several Fox families & Wm P. & John L. Nellis).

1820 census

1830 census Palatine, Montg. Co. NY, Jacob C. Fox and a female, both 30-40 yrs, and children, one male under 5, 2 males 5-10, a faint mark in female column 5-10.

Christopher C. Fox was listed nearby as was Hiram Galen as indexed, (looks like Galler or Galer,) likely brother of Catherine, wife of Jacob C. Fox).
(Son Martin Fox was b. 1827 (ch rec), would be 3 yrs in 1830 census).

I didn't find Jacob and Cath. together in any census from 1850, til death. I didn't find Cath alone in any census.

Son Alex married 1841 Eliz Gray where?

1850 census Get Alup & Hiram FOX

1855 June 13 census, Palatine, Montgomery Co.N.Y E.D. 2,
1795 72. Jacob C. Fox, 60 yrs, wife Nancey, 51 yrs, (b. ca 1804), child Elmira, 13 yrs, all b, Montgomery Co. NY.
He resided between Vosburgh families.

(Was Nancey a 2nd wife? Did Nancy died before 1860)?

HUSBAND - Hiram Gaylor

Hiram Geler, b. 6 Dec 1805, s/o Philip Geler and Margaret, sponsors parents.
Serial no. 01895-4. The next listing is for his sister Elizabet in 1814 under same spelling.
Lutheran Trinity Ch. of Stone Arabia, Palatine, Montgomery Co. N.Y. 1735-1815, Batch no. C51092-1, p. 74.
TYPED alphabetical Abstract , FHC Reel 1204984. Sponsors not listed in this abstract.

Variant spelling Kehler, Gehler, Keler, Geler, Galard, Gaylord etc.

Death Ledger from Buffalo N.Y. City Clerk obtained in Feb. 1994 lists:
Registration 285, no. 1379, died Oct. 7, 1856, Gaylor, Hiram, 50 yrs, died at 92 Seneca St. , cause Peritonitis, Interment by Kraft and Gray, informant Dr. White. (Occupation, place of birth and parents not listed).

Hiram Gaylor's death was listed in Early Settlers of NYS by Foley, p. 514, as taken from Buffalo Newp.
Obit. Buffalo Morning Express, 10/10/1856, copy at Bflo Hist. Socy. res. 98 E. Seneca St. Bflo. Funeral Wed. from his residence, 51 yrs old at death.

Research of David Stenn, (biographer of silent screen star Clara Bow), found that Hiram and his father Philip Gaylor were bur. Albany and both exhumed and reinterred in Greenwood Cem. July 1865 at B'klyn NY, abt the time that Hiram's wf Sarah/Sally (Weaver) Gaylor was buried. Hiram was then buried with wife Sally. Hiram's two daughters, Eurilla (Gaylor) Bow and Catherine (Gaylor) Bow. They both married a different William Bow ,who were cousins to each other. Hiram & Sally's dau. Sarah was also buried in same plot and listed as Gaylord.
The above Greenwood Cem. lot was owned by Eliza, wf of Oliver Bow. They were parents of Wm H. Bow who married Eurilla, d/o Hiram and Sally Gaylor. When Eliza died, the lot was given back to Greenwood Cem. Greenwood will not permit me to erect a grave stone for Philip, Hiram and Sally Gaylor.

Perhaps the children of Hiram shared the cost of reburying their father Hiram and grfather Philip? Perhaps, the unknown cem. in Albany where Philip was originally buried was being dug up to make way for expansion of the city and people would have had to be reinterred anyway? Phillip Gaylor's wf Margaret died in Albany, Feb. 1856, abt 9 yrs before Philip and Hiram were reinterred, but I don't know where Margaret was buried.
Some of the Gaylor names in the Greenwood Cem. Bklyn are listed as Gaylord.

Desc. Homer Baker Sr. and his first cousin Irene (Davidson) Howard, both said the name was Gaylord, but in Montg & Albany Co. it was Gaylor.

Wm T. Collins deposed in his Civil War Pension applic., that he marr. Nellie Louise Gaylord.
Census recs say Gaylor as does Albany deeds.

Hiram married ca 1826/1827, prob. in Montgomery Co. N.Y.
Eldest child b. Montgomery Co. NY. March 20, 1828, see Stone Arabia Triinity Luth. ch. recs. for dau. Eurilla.
First listing of deed with wife Sally that I found was 15 Nov. 1830.

1810 and 1820 census, Palatine, Montgomery Co. N.Y.
Hiram was likely one of the male ch. listed with Philip Gaylor.
1810 census, Palatine, Montgomery Co. NY, Philip Gayler was listed on p. 123.
Henry Peeler, 26-44 yrs was listed on p. 25, close to his father Jacob, over 45, and bro. Jeremiah, 26-44 yrs.
(I have more on the ch. of Jacob and Henry Peeler et al).
(Must ck Peeler 1820, 1830 census).

1828 and 1831. Hiram and Sarah Gaylor bpt. their first 2 children at Trinity Lutheran Church in Stone Arabia, NY Sarah (Weaver) Gaylor was prob. related to widow Weber alive 1831, sponsor at bpt of their 2nd child John Weber Galor, (sic). I suspect that the widow was wf of one deceased John Weber/Weaver. This church record used the Weber name for all records, rather than the more modern Weaver spelling of the early Palatine members of this Research of David Smith, biographies of silent screen star Clara Bow, found that Hiram, and his father Philip Gaylor

Case 1.
1849, Oct 6 Albany Eve. Journal, Court of Oyer and Terminer, George Bramill and Hiram Gaylor was a witness for defendant Edward Bulger on Feb. 19 last, for taking and detainiong a horse belonging to Wm Saddlemire. Plaintiff won and horse was returned.

Case 2.
1851 Hiram Gaylor of Albany was indicted as accomplice with Pemberton, for robbing the Albany Post Office , sentenced to 8 yrs in jail. I assume he was my Hiram, but if so, he didn't serve 8 yrs in prison, since he was in B'flo in June 1855. However, Hiram disappeared from Albany City Dir. in early 1850's and his wf Sarah Gaylor appeared. instead He apparently served abt 2 or 3 yrs in prison.

Feb 10, Hiram's trial still ensuing. Evidence was the same as in trial of Bramhall.
1851, Feb. 11, US District Court still engaged in trial with Pemberton. Witnesses for defense being examined.
Feb 13, Judge Conkling presiding.
Trial terminated on Fri. Rufus B. Pemberton, who pled guilty and turned State's evidence, 2 yrs in Auburn State Prison, George G. Bramhall and Hiram Gaylor, 8 yrs each.

Annals of Albany, 1851, Feb. 14th , p. 839, George G. Bramhill and Hiram Gaylor were sentenced to 8 yrs imprisonment and Rufus B. Pemberton to two yrs, for Post Office robberies; the latter having been enveigled by the two former men, was pardoned. On the 17th, the US Marshall conveyed Gaylor, Bramhall and Pemberton to State Prison at Auburn, whither they had been consigned, for robbing Albany Post Office.

1851 , May 9, Albany Evening Journal, Albany Circuit Court, Case 23.
Sally Gaylor, wf of Hiram, plaintiff against James Best. She loaned Best $300 , which was supposed to be returned in 10 days. Best denied having the money or any oart of it. . She won the case for $300 reimbursement. Best's lawyer objected the action being brought in name of the wife, while her husband was alive. H.G. Whaeton was Sally's lawyer. N. Hill Jr. for defendant.

Since Hiram did not bring suit, one might conjecture that he may have been in prison or too embarassed to bring suit after his trial.

When Hiram's dau. Isabella (Gaylor), wf of John F. Shields died on Dec. 31, 1904, her obit mentioned her father Hiram Gaylor of Buffalo, who was for many years in the wholesale provision business at the mouth of the Erie Canal. — Does that mean Albany or Bflo? ?

Note that Albany was not mentioned and I know that Hiram was only in B' flo for abt 2 yrs before he died there.

One news acc't of Martha Isabella's death listed her parents as Hiram Gayoor and Sarah Weaver.

Shield's

Widow Sally Gaylor may poss. have moved to Yonkers for a time, since her great granddau. Helen (Bow) Segasti told me that Hiram's Gaylor's daus, grew up in Yonkers. I found no proof of that to date. If true, it would likely have been sometime between 1856 when Hiram died in Bflo and 1865, when Sally Gaylor died in B'klyn. Gaylor colony

By 1865, Sally Gaylor res. in Bklyn Ward 6, where she died that yr, and indeed dau. Nellie married 1865 in B'klyn. Dau. Cath. Gaylor married Wm A. Bow in B'flo NY 1855, at Episcopal Ch. where they had resided for abt a yr. Perhaps it was one of the Bows who lived in Yonkers for a time?

HUSBAND - Frederick Charles Hubbard Civil War

Feb 2013, online Albany Rural Cem at findagrave.com doesn't have this Hubbard or Arnold or Patton family in index.

One Thousand Yrs of Hubbard History 866-1895 by Edward Warren Day copy at NEHGS, online at anc.com, lists on p. 403 under Imported Hubbards:

Frederick Charles Hubbard, his mother and his sister Laura, now Mrs William J. Patton of Albany NY, came form from Newmarket, Suffolk Eng, to US. he was a soldier in Civil War and left a dau. Eurilla E. Hubbard, now of Paterson NJ. yes !

The dau. Eurilla is definitely my spinster cousin Eurilla, Hubbard, from the Gaylor line, who worked in the courthouse in Patterson. I have her will. She d. 1952.

(With Frederick and sister Laura together, it is a certain match. Fred still single in 1860).

(In 1860, Frederick seems to have been listed twice - also in Albany, Ward 3, p. 8.
Fred Hubbard, 20 yrs old, b. Eng, Carpenter, living with George Leech, 56 yrs b. Eng, an Inn Keeper, and his wf Mary , 44 yrs b. S. Wales).

Civil War, one Frederick Hubbard served the Union in 79th NY Infantry, Co. C. as a Pvt and Cpl.

? 1890 census lists Fred C. Hubbard, Albany NY, Civil War Vet. Name looks like Fred W., but fancy maybe middl einitial is C. , as indexed at Mormon web site. Fred served Co. 79, NY Hgld (prob. Highland) Regiment. Enlisted 13 May 1861, disch. 30 May 1864, served one yr, 0 months, 17 days. (That is what it says). 1872, Sept. 11, Albany Eve. Journal, One Fredrick C. Hubbard was found in the gutter at Hamilton and Liberty St. He said that he mistook his house and got into the wrong bed. He was fined $5 in cash.

CHILD 1 - Eurilla C. or E. Hubbard

My father Homer Baker knew his mother Nellie Louisa (Collins) Baker's cousin was Eurilla Hubbard and that she was a spinster who worked in the courthouse at Paterson N.J. She was well to do and died in 1953. Census records in Albany show Eurilla b. ca 1866, with her parents as a child. Eurilla's age at death then was abt 87 yrs. Eurilla's lawyer was said to have induced her to leave all her money to a Jewish antivivisection charity. I have a copy of her will. Eurilla's death certif. is uncertain abt her age at death, but she was listed as elderly.

I remember a lady relative that purchaesd a lovely indoor play house for Shirley, d/o Ruth Baker, abt 1932 or 1933. I think this was Eurilla Hubbard. This indicates that Eurilla was friendly with her cousin Nellie (Collins)(Baker)Fisher and her dau. Ruth Baker.

I have her will and death certif. She left all her estate to antivivisection League. Death certif written by hosp employee didn't know her true age, made estimate. She had fallen and was hospitalized, an elderly woman.

a Corporal

Samuel W. Chandler

– He married Elizabeth Wright 3
d/o Elizabeth Hayler 2

The subject of this brief sketch was the son of Samuel Chandler, a well known and respected citizen of Albany.

At the formation of the Forty-fourth Regiment New York Volunteers, known as the Ellsworth Regiment, Mr. Chandler enlisted, and at once secured a high reputation as a soldier. He participated with his regiment in several hard fought battles in Virginia. At the battle of Hanover Court House he was killed under the following circumstances. The Sergeant, while holding the flag, had been shot through the head, and instantly killed. The flag was then seized by a man named Young, also of this city. No sooner had he raised it than he was shot, the ball severing his jugular vein, when he fell. Young Chandler, who had been wounded in the leg and arm, and with his wounds bleeding crept to the staff, and with great effort raised it the third time. In a moment, he was shot in the breast, and also fell. After lingering a few days in intense agony, death came to his relief. His last words were: "I regret that I have only one life to give to my country."

It is impossible to conceive of an act of nobler daring than that of young Chandler. His two comrades lay dead at his feet. He was himself badly wounded. The balls were whistling thick and fast over his head. Knowing this, it was almost certain death to attempt to raise the flag, yet he did not hesitate a moment, but gave up his life in its defence. He died nobly, and for his heroic act deserves the applause of the nation. From the Colonel to the lowest private in the ranks, his memory will be loved and honored as long as they live.

wd Eliz + Howard S. + Willard Chandler

He leaves a widow and two children, who, while they mourn the loss of an affectionate husband and father, yet have the consolation of knowing that he died a true patriot, a brave soldier, and added another martyr to the cause of human liberty.
